THE BLACK SEA.

Probability of a Prussian Disavowal of Sympathy with Russia.

Pacific Assurances to Austria On Delivering the Note.

An Official Opinion from St. Petersburg.

Russia Not Unwilling to Submit Her Demands to a Congress.

An Energetic Protest from the Sublime Porte.

A Quieter Feeling in British Financial Circles.

THE EASTERN DIFFICULTY.

Attitude of Prussia—She Regards Russia's Demands as Natural—The Argument—A Probable Disavowal of Sympathy with Russia.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—I have authority for stating that telegraphic dispatches have been received by the Government indicating the position taken by Prussia in regard to the Russian question.

THE RUSSIAN DEMAND NATURAL.

Prussia declares that she views Russia's claims as natural, and there should be an amicable settlement of the affair, and she cannot see any reason for alarm on the part of cosignatory Powers. Russia might have appealed to the cosignatories for a revision of the Treaty of Paris, but one of them has, at present, no organized Government, and is, therefore, unable to take part in any congress that might have been proposed.

EARL GRANVILLE'S ADMISSIONS.

It seems to be admitted by Earl GRANVILLE that infractions of the treaty have actually occurred, in the case of principalities, not by Russia's action. It is immaterial whether these infractions conduce to the interests of Russia or not, they nevertheless seem to justify her in declaring that certain other portions of the same treaty are no longer binding, especially when she disclaims, in good faith, any intention to reopen the Eastern question, or commit an act hostile to the other Powers.

PRUSSIA TO HOLD ALOOF.

This is the substance of Prussia's reply, and she will hold aloof from any further action in the matter.

MR. ODO RUSSELL'S MISSION.

The Pall Mall Gazette, referring to Mr. ODO RUSSELL's special mission to Versailles, believes the Under-Secretary will return within twenty-four hours, with a disavowal on the part of Prussia of sympathy with Russia's pretensions, or will leave behind assurances that an unsatisfactory reply will be considered equivalent to complicity.

Pacific Assurances to Austria—An Unfounded Rumor of Baron Von Beust's Resignation—The Question in the Hungarian Diet—Opinion in Vienna.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—It is stated that when the Russian Minister at Vienna communicated Prince GORTSCHAKOFF's note to Baron VON BEUST, he accompanied it with assurances of the most peaceful intentions on the part of his Government.

COMMON RESISTANCE NECESSARY.

A well-informed correspondent, writing from Vienna, says if the Russian wish for a revision of the Paris treaty of 1856 had been submitted to the other signers of that treaty, a favorable result might have ensued. The course, however, that Russia has seen fit to take creates a grave situation, shaking all the settled statutes of European policy, and compelling a common course of action to resist her demands.

VON BEUST.

VIENNA, Nov. 18.—The rumor of the resignation of Baron VON BEUST, the Prime Minister, which has been circulating for a few days past, is discredited by the official journals of this city, which pronounce the story on which the rumor was based wholly untrue.

HUNGARY.

PESTH, Nov. 18.—The Opposition Party in the Hungarian Diet continue to urge a decided course on the Government in the matter of the Russian demand.

Position of Turkey—An Energetic Protest Against the Prussian Attitude.

FLORENCE, Nov. 18.—A dispatch has been received by the Italian Cabinet, from ALI PASHA, the Turkish Minister of Foreign Affairs, protesting in eloquent and energetic terms against Prussia's proposed violation of her treaty obligations. PHOTIADES BEY is in close consultation with the foreign envoys here.

Russian Public Opinion Favorable to Peace—An Early Congress would be Acceptable.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Such public opinion as there is in Russia is represented to be in favor of peace.

AN OFFICIAL OPINION.

The Journal de St. Petersbourg declares that Russia will not prove unwilling to submit her demand to a Congress, if it can be held immediately. It denies that the Russian note meant the abrogation of the entire treaty. Turkey, it says, is threatened with internal dangers, and intervention is necessary now.

Diplomatic Knowledge of Russian Intentions—British Officers Offering to Serve in the Turkish Army.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The diplomats all claim to have known that the demand of Russia would be made sooner or later.

VOLUNTEERS FOR TURKEY.

English officers are volunteering for service in the Turkish Army.

A Quieter Feeling in London—Wherein the Treaty Has Been Violated, as Russia Believes—The Austrian Note.

LONDON, Nov. 18—Noon.—The feeling today in financial circles is somewhat quieter. The Times this morning remarks that Russia has placed herself in the position of a public enemy.

THE RUSSIAN GRIEVANCE.

It is said the particular violations of the Paris treaty of 1856 which Russia has complained of are as follows: The cruise of the Prince of WALES in the Black Sea, in an English frigate; a similar trip, subsequently, by Lord BULWER LYTTON; the appearance of an Austrian squadron at Varna, a Turkish city on the Black Sea, when the Emperor of Austria was there, and lastly the voyage of the Sultan in a Turkish frigate. The Russian Envoy at Constantinople protested against this latter circumstance at the time, but ineffectually.

THE AUSTRIAN ANSWER.

VIENNA, Nov. 18.—The Freie Presse of today confirms the identity of the English and Austrian notes to the Russian Emperor.

GENERAL TELEGRAMS.

THE SPANISH CROWN.

A Committee to Proceed to Italy to Present the Crown to the King Elect—Quiet Throughout Spain—Enthusiasm in Florence.

MADRID, Nov. 18.—A committee consisting of fifteen members of the Constituent Cortes, has been appointed to proceed to Florence to present the Spanish Crown to the Duke of AOSTA. The election of AOSTA is highly popular throughout the provinces. No disorders have followed his proclamation, though the Government had reason to believe that, as the candidature was unpopular in certain quarters, there might be demonstrations of disapproval. The services of the troops have not been necessary anywhere. In all the large cities, cannon have been fired in honor of the event.

FLORENCE, Nov. 18.—The Duke of AOSTA arrived in this city yesterday, from Naples. He was met with the enthusiastic acclamations of the people. The President of the Council, the Spanish Minister to Italy and other notables subsequently called upon him and congratulated him.

JAPAN AND CHINA.

Japanese Students—Honors Paid to Mr. Seward by the Mikado—Telegraphic Communication with Europe—A Typhoon—The Tien-Tsin Massacre.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—T. SCOTT STEWART, United States Consul at Hiogo, who is on leave of absence, arrived by the steam-ship China. He is accompanied by twelve young Japanese students. The China brings over 12,000 packages of teas; 330 packages have been sold for New-York.

A letter from Hon. WILLIAM H. SEWARD, dated in the Inland Sea, Oct. 11, says he was well and his trip was pleasant. Mr. SEWARD's visit to Japan was the event of the month. He was the guest of Minister DE LONG, at Yokohama, and Consul SHEPARD at Yeddo. The first interview ever given to a private individual by the Mikado, was given to Mr. SEWARD. The only persons present were Messrs. DE LONG and SHEPARD, and the Acting Secretary of the American Legation. The Danish Envoy has succeeded in negotiating with the Government of Japan for the completion of telegraphic communication between Japan and Europe. The Japanese merchants have arranged to ship 200,000 cards of silk-worms to Europe. A typhoon at Yokohama and Yeddo had caused great damage.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 12, via SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—The return of United States Consul-General SEWARD was celebrated by a dinner, at which Admiral RODGERS and other leading Americans were present. The News Letter contains several editorials on United States Minister LOW, accusing him of gross neglect and wanton disregard of duty in the matter of the Tien-tsin massacre.

Arrest of the Tien-Tsin Conspirator who Instigated the Massacre—His Speedy Punishment Probable.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—A dispatch has just been received here from Macao, dated Nov. 1, which states that the instigator of the Tien-tsin massacre has been arrested, and will be speedily brought to justice.

THE EAST.

The Boston, Hartford and Erie Railroad Case—Arrest of a Massachusetts State Prison Official—Fire in a Woolen-Mill.

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Unable to obtain the key to the office of the Boston, Hartford and Erie Railroad, today, for the purpose of obtaining certain books, to which they were entitled by order of Court, Messrs. CONVERSE and BARTHOLOMEW, two of the receivers, forced the doors but no books were found....GEORGE PRATT, an instructor in the mechanical departments of the Charlestown State Prison, has been arrested for secretly carrying letters between convicts and outside friends....The prosecution failed to convict BARTHOLOMEW DAILEY of double voting at the recent election in East Cambridge, and he was discharged....The Hyde Park woolen mill was damaged by fire last evening to the amount of $30,000. It is fully insured.

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 18.—A painter named SNOWMAN, aged forty years, was found suffocated in his room, in the Stafford Block, this morning. He was somewhat intoxicated, and upset a lamp in his room, causing fire enough to suffocate him with smoke.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 18.—A fire in Stonington, Conn., last night, destroyed the barn and house of C. P. WILLIAMS, with five horses, ten cows, twenty tons of hay and other property. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

The First White Woman in Connecticut—Removal of the Bones of Lady Fenwick.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 18.—The authorities of the town of Saybrook today removed the monument erected there to Lady FENWICK, the first white woman in Connecticut, the removal being necessary for railroad improvements. In searching for remains the bones of the deceased were discovered, the skull being found intact, the teeth well preserved and about the skull was found remains of hair, which crumbled at the touch. Lady FENWICK was buried at Laybrook Point in 1648, 222 years ago. The remains and monument are to be placed in the Laybrook Cemetery with formal ceremonies.

THE WEST.

A Shooting Affair on an Ohio Railroad—Two Negroes, in a Playful Mood, Wound a Conductor and Fire at a Brakeman—An Alleged Swindler Absconds.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18.—This afternoon two colored men, somewhat intoxicated, got on the down passenger-train on the Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Lafayette Railroad, at Greensburg, Ind. When the conductor, JOHN C. SMITH, came around demanding tickets, one of the men, Capt. SCOTT, of this city, manifested a disposition to play with him and to delay matters by handing him a piece of paper. The patience of the conductor gave out, and he stopped the train and put both men off by force, though it appears the second party had not participated in the delay, and after the bell had rung, agreed, according to the statement of passengers, to pay his fare. This man, who was a barber from Greensburg, was so enraged that he drew a revolver and discharged it twice at the conductor, one ball taking effect in his hip. Finally they were induced to come on the train, and manifesting a disposition for further fight, the brakeman undertook to knock the barber down. That failed, and the latter discharged his pistol, this time at the brakeman, though without effect. The two men were finally arrested, and sent back to Greensburg. The conductor is seriously though not dangerously wounded.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18.—MILO H. DEMMICK, who was charged with fraudulently obtaining a policy of life insurance from the Republican Life Insurance Company, of Chicago, and who was arrested and bailed some days ago, has absconded, and forfeited his bail.

THE SOUTH.

The New-Orleans Slaughter-house Cases—A Virginia Murderer Surrenders Himself—Snow in Staunton, Va.

NEW-ORLEANS, Nov. 18.—The New-Orleans slaughter-house cases were before the Superintendent again today on the motion made therein for an injunction and supersedeas to stay proceedings in the Court below. Mr. DURANT and Judge BLACK submitted arguments against the motion, contending that the authority was in the Court below to control the situation of the interests involved, until final judgment therein. The writs of error, bringing the cases here, are intended to vindicate the ultimate right of the parties and not an incidental right. It is constantly held that only final judgments and decrees can be re-examined on writs of error, and the cases are numerous where this Court has refused to entertain any application to deal with the preliminary decrees of the lower Courts. Mr. PHILLIPS replied, reviewing the question of the effect of the appeal at length, and insisting that the aid asked is fully authorized, and that no stronger case for the exercise of the discretion of the Court could be presented. The ground of the application is, as will be remembered, that the plaintiffs are restrained from prosecuting their business as butchers within the city limits by a process of the State Courts, which is a violation of the writs of error in the case. Mr. FELLOWS, of New-Orleans, also spoke on the same side.

The trial of the Baton Rouge prisoners has been continued.

The contested election cases before Judge DIBBLE were decided today against the Democrats.

STAUNTON, Va., Nov. 18.—SMILEY who murdered BLACK on Saturday last, delivered himself up to the Sheriff of Rockingham County today. ....There was a slight fall of snow this morning, being the first of the season.

AFTER THE MISER'S MONEY.

The Claims upon Lochy Ostrom's Estate Before the Surrogate at Poughkeepsie—Fresh Claims from the Far West—A Funny Document.

From Our Own Correspondent.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Friday, Nov. 18, 1870.

The estate of LOCHY OSTROM, Poughkeepsie's miser, was agitated again before Surrogate FOWLER, today. There are now seventy persons assuming to the heirship, all declaring themselves blood relatives and next of kin, and they shadow the Surrogate's office, waiting, Micawber like, for something to turn up. They are championed by some of the best lawyers in the city, who have in their possession papers and letters without number—some finger-worn and musty, others bright, new and full of data. John P. H. Tallman, Esq., who claims $12,000 from the estate for services rendered, appeared for John A. Lewis, Peter Dorland for Jemima McKibbin, H. A. Nelson for Mrs. Fonda, D. W. Gurnsey for Thomas Lewis and others, E. Crummey for Margaret Ver Valin, Wm. J. Thorn for the Hilderbrandt heirs, and Judge Wheaton for Walter D. Wheeler, the present administrator. A new counsel came among all these this morning. The Hudson River cars brought him here from Troy. His name is MARTIN I. TOWNSEND, of the firm of TOWNSEND & BROWN. He appears for Trojan heirs, as if there were not already heirs enough from hereabouts.

Several witnesses were examined, and after the last witness had signed his evidence, a desultory conversation was indulged in by all parties relative to one JOHN OSTROM, who was alive in LOCHY's time, and who had a son who went to sea. There was apparently an endeavor on the part of Mr. E. CRUMMY to bring out him or his next of kin as heirs, but no definite result was reached. The following was put in evidence, having been copied from the First Reformed Church record, in Main-street:

"RACHEL, daughter of JACOBUS OSTROM and MARY LEWIS, born April 29, 1781; baptized Sept. 30, 1781; sponsors, THOMAS LEWIS and RACHEL LEWIS. MARIA, daughter of THOMAS LEWIS and RACHEL VAN BENSCHOTEN, born Aug. 14, 1782; baptized Nov. 19, 1782; sponsors, JACOBUS OSTROM and ANNA MARTTE OSTROM."

WISCONSIN WANTS A SLICE.

Right here came an interruption which once more created merriment. It was occasioned by HENRY M. TAYLOR, Esq., a lawyer of this city, presenting a petition from one HIRAM BARRAGER, of Fond du Lac, Wis. The petitioner states that he formerly resided in the township of Sydney, Canada West, and his wife's name is PLONY OSTROM, to whom he was married in 1858; that the said wife is the daughter of SIMON OSTROM, deceased, who formerly resided at Bay Quinte, Canada West; that said SIMON left him surviving his children, the wife of deponent, PLUMME BARRAGER, MARY ANN GRIGGS, PAMELIA PATRICK, SEMANCHA CARD and ELIZABETH HART; deponent is informed that said SIMON OSTROM, the father of deponent's wife, was a brother of deceased LOCHY OSTROM; deponent further states that one PETER MYERS, who was a relative of SIMON OSTROM, left his home thirty-five years ago, and came to Poughkeepsie for the purpose of offering LOCHY OSTROM his hand in marriage, but that he was rejected; LOCHY, however, sent word back by him to PHINNEY OSTROM's daughter, a little girl, to come to Poughkeepsie and live with her, and she would do well by her, &c.

The petition was filed.

COLORADO WANTS A SHARE.

The next move was made by LEONARD B. SACKETT, Esq. He offered the following, which I send verbatim:

DENVER COLLERADO, Feb. 17, 1870.

Mr Leonard B Sackett Esq

DEAR SIR Having Refference to you bye letter from a sitizin of your plaze as a man of promititude and ability in your proffession i would Desire you to investigate and Encuire in to the leaniage of Lochey Ostrom finding out what was Her father's name and Descent as i think she was a sister of mye fatherr and if so there is sertainly an Heir at Law of Her Estate and i shall want you to atend to the Recovery of sed estate and the buisness conected there with but iff Her Desent or Leaniage Does not Belong to me then i want nothing of itt i therefore leave myselff in your Hands for further Direction and shall be governed by you in the nessary stepps to be taken eather for or against the recovery of sed Estate, i would state that my family ware raised in Orange & Montgomery Co State of New-York. all questions you may feel inclined to ask i shall most cheerfully answer, as far as mye knolledg goes.

This last document was also filed and then the case was adjourned till Dec. 7.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather, a large audience turned out last night to hear the lecture on "Heat" by Prof. R. OGDEN DOREMUS. The audience was select and appreciative. The Professor's practical illustrations were extremely interesting and instructive. The lecture was delivered under the auspices of the Clayonian Society.

THE WAR.

Disastrous Result of the French Flank Movement on Paris.

Conflicting Statements of the Position on the Loire.

Rapid Progress of German Consolidation.

FLANKING VON MOLTKE.

Result of the Movement on Dreux—Defeat of the French and Capture of the Town by the Prussians—The Result Unknown in Tours.

VERSAILLES, Nov. 18.—The King today telegraphed to Queen AUGUSTA, at Berlin, that the Grand Duke of MECKLENBERG, yesterday, repulsed the enemy along the whole line, near Dreux. Gen. TRESKOW at the same time captured Dreux. Many prisoners were taken. The enemy were pursued in the direction of Le Mans.

THE RESULT NOT KNOWN IN TOURS.

TOURS, Nov. 18—Evening, via LONDON.—The Prussians occupy the heights of Cherisy. A severe battle has been going on before Dreux since 2 o'clock this afternoon. The result is not known.

SITUATION ON THE LOIRE.

Reported Retirement of the Prussians Denied—The Line of Gen. Von Der Tann—Conflicting Statements.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—It is now ascertained that the Prussians in Gen. D'AURELLES DE PALADINE's front have not retired to Artenay, as before reported.

ANOTHER STORY.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—A special dispatch to the Manchester Guardian says the Army of the Loire, yesterday, was at Etampes, thirty miles from Paris.

VON DER JANN'S LINE.

TOURS, Nov. 13 -Evening.—Gen. VON DER JANN occupies a line extending from the Paris and Orleans Railway to Bonneral.

THE BATTLE AT ARTENAY.

The affairs at Artenay on the 16th was of trifling importance.

STILL ANOTHER STATEPENT.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Advices have been received here from Orleans down to the evening of last Monday. The Prussians had retired to the northward beyond Artenay. The French had constructed heavy earthworks in front of the railway junction just outside of Orleans. Ten thousand men had been employed at the work. The French Army, under Gen. D'AURELLES DE PALADINE, was massed between Orleans and Artenay. The cavalry of the French was being wretchedly managed, which seriously interfered with their success.

PREPARATIONS FOR A REVERSE.

A large number of boats had been collected at Orleans, which were to be used to cross the army to the southern bank of the Loire in case of a defeat in the impending battle.

SKIRMISHING.

The requisitions made by the Prussians at Orleans amounted to £200,000 sterling. Some skirmishing had already been reported at the French outposts.

PARIS.

The Citizens Tired of the War—Attacks on the Government for Rejecting the Armistice—M. Renan Advocates the Assembling of a Legislature.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Advices from Paris by way of Belgium, represent that the citizens, though they see an army coming to their relief, are tired of the war, condemn the Government for rejecting an armistice, and demand the convocation of the National Assembly. M. RENAN, in the Journal des Debats, writes that in spite of hostilities the delegates can be got together within eight days; and the Press and the people are urging the authorities to take action to this end.

OPERATIONS IN THE NORTH.

A Sortie at La Fere—The Germans Driven Back—Sige of Longwy and Montmedy—A Sortie at Mezieres Repulsed by the Prussians.

LILLY, Nov. 18.—The garrison of La Fere made a brilliant sortie, and relieved the neighboring town of Tergnier, which was sorely pressed by the enemy. The besiegers lost several hundred killed, wounded and prisoners.

IMPRESSING THE INHABITANTS.

The invaders continue to impress the country people to do work on roads and in the ditches.

LONGWY AND MONTMEDY.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The siege of Longwy and Montmedy is imminent.

MEZIERES.

A sortie from Mézières has been repulsed by the First Prussian Infantry.

WOUNDED IN BELGIUM.

The Indépendance Belge objects to quartering in Belgium the prisoners who are recovering from their wounds.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Progress of German Consolidation—Defeat of Dr. Jacoby for Parliament—Napoleon's War Designs—An Austrian Journal on French Pride—Thomas Carlyle on the War—Earl Russell's Advice to England.

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—The treaty between the North German Confederation and the States of Baden and Hesse has been signed. The treaty with Wurtemberg has been concluded, but is not yet signed.

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—Dr. JACOBY, who was recently imprisoned at Loetzen on account of his violent opposition to the Government's war measures, was not re-elected to Parliament at the late elections. His known opposition to the project for annexing Alsace and Lorraine to Germany contributed to his defeat.

NAPOLEON'S DESIGNS.

The Press of this city is able to demonstrate, from NAPOLEON's secret correspondence, discovered at St. Cloud, that an anti-Prussian war was prepared long before the Hohenzollern incident. Two letters to that purport were found, dated in June—a month before the declaration of war.

FRENCH PRIDE.

VIENNA, Nov. 18.—The Neue Freie Presse regrets the mistaken pride of the French Government, which, having asked for an armistice, immediately objected to the reasonable demands of Prussia.

TWO COLUMNS FROM CARLYLE.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—THOMAS CARLYLE writes two and a half columns in small type to the Times, this morning, on the subject of the war between France and Prussia. He shows what France, after an experience of four centuries, is pretty sure to do again when she gets on her feet, and therefore praises the policy pursued by Prussia, which he claims is founded on solid and practical prudence. The French gun-boat Senard is repairing and coaling at Yarmouth.

EARL RUSSELL ON THE WAR.

Earl RUSSELL has written a pamphlet on the situation. He proposes a joint armed resistance of the Powers, if Prussia demands more than Alsace and a part of Lorraine; and urges England to form a strong military reserve based on the militia, and to place a strong garrison at Quebec under an able Commander.

CAPTURE OF A GERMAN STEAMER.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Bremen ship Magdalene, Capt. WENCKE, which sailed from New-York Oct. 15, for Bremen, has been captured by a French cruiser and taken into Brest. [A steamer called the Magdalene sailed from New-York Oct. 15, for Havana.]

A Diplomatic Rupture Between France and Japan—Sailing of the French Fleet.

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 23, via SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—A diplomatic rupture has occurred between the French Minister and the Japanese Government, growing out of the Japanese neutrality proclamation. The French fleet has left Yokohama. Its destination is unknown.

Mr. Vernon Harcourt Appointed Judge-Advocate-General.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Mr. VERNON HARCOURT has been appointed to succeed Sir COLMAN O. LOGHLIN as Judge-Advocate-General.

EUROPEAN MAIL NEWS.

ARRIVAL OF THE CUNARD STEAM-SHIP CALABRIA.

The steam-ship Calabria, which left Liverpool on Nov. 8, and Queenstown on Nov. 9, reached this port on yesterday night. The advices are fresher by two days than were those at hand by the Algeria. The French papers announce the death of Father CLARET, ex-almoner of the Queen of Spain, and that of Mme. PIERRE DE CASTELLANE, one of the belles of the late Imperial Court. The death of a son of M. BAROCHE, lately deceased, is also recorded.

ARMY AND DYNASTY.

The Captive Generals at Wilhelmshoehe—Napoleon and Canrobert—Past and Present.

Cassel (Nov. 3) Correspondence of the London Times.

An hour before the departure of the Empress, BAZAINE had arrived at Wilhelmshoehe, and there is no doubt of an interview having been held between the Marshal and herself. The former had arrived by a special train at 10¼ A. M., running without interruption from Pont-à-Mousson since 11 o'clock A. M. on the 30th. His suite consisted of le Colonel d'Etat-Major WILLETTE, le Comte DE MORNAY SOULT DE DALMATIE, Officier d'Ordonnance; Vicomte GUDIN, Capitaine aux Cuirassiers de la Garde Imperiale; les Lieuts. ADOLPHE and ALBERT BAZAINE, and Dr. MAFFRE. They were escorted to this place by HAUPTMANN VON BARDELEBEN, of the Landwehr, to whom I am indebted for the following notes: On the 25th ult. BAZAINE intended to make a last sortie in the direction of Gravelotte, but the troops, with the exception of the Imperial Guard, declined fighting, on the ground that, first of all, they must have something to eat. Even horse-flesh had become scarce, while salt had been wanting for six weeks. Under these circumstances capitulation was decided upon. After it had been effected, BAZAINE, with the officers above mentioned, reported himself as prisoner of war at Pont-à-Mousson, where the streets had to be guarded by soldiers to prevent the mob from throwing stones at the Marshal. The special train, which started from this place, stopped at Wissembourg, in order that some refreshments might be taken. The good appetite evinced on this occasion by the officers bore sufficient testimony to the privations they had recently suffered. "Since, in the course of our conversation while traveling along, I have learnt the difficulties and hardships by which the besieged were beset, my esteem for the Marshal has greatly increased," said my informant, "and with most remarkable energy he certainly held out to the last." He also praised highly the amiable qualities of BAZAINE in society. HAUPTMANN VON BARDELEBEN had received an autograph card from every one of the officers, in which he was politely thanked for his "delicate attention." The Marshal is of short stature and considerable embonpoint. He was conducted by the Etappen-Commandant, Lieut.-Col. VON WOEDTKE, to the Hotel du Nord, close to the station, where he yet resides. In another inn fourteen servants and sixteen horses were lodged; eight of the latter were sold at an average of 1,000 francs each. In his hurried departure from Pont-à-Mousson BAZAINE had left 5,000 francs in the drawers of his room. On his communicating it to Lieut.-Col. VON WOEDTKE, this officer telegraphed at once, and received the reply that they had been found, and would be forwarded. Yesterday morning, at 1 A. M., the Frankfort train brought another batch of prisoners. They were escorted by a detachment of the Eighty-first Regiment, Hessians, and a strong guard had been drawn up on the platform of the station. When the train had stopped, I beheld a scene which I am not likely to witness ever again. No less than twenty-one captive Generals of different rank were there on one spot, huddled together, and no less than eighty-seven superior officers, the greater part of them belonging to the staff, thronged the platform, to say nothing of about seventy orderlies. They were conducted to the waiting-room, and, their number having been found in accordance with the official list of the escorting officers, they were walked off to the Hotel du Nord, opposite the station. A hearty meal had been prepared for the officers in the spacious dining-room, while the Generals had a smaller room set apart for them. The way in which they did honor to the various dishes proved clearly that for a long time they had not enjoyed such luxuries. The wife of one General, wearing the Geneva cross upon her arm, having followed her husband into captivity, joined the company at table. As I telegraphed to you, these Generals were originally to be confined in Cassel, but subsequently a message was received according to which sixteen of them and a part of the officers were to travel on to Berlin, the rest being retained here. Among the latter was Gen. Prince MURAT, brother to ACHILLE, who was by special permission allowed to take up his residence at Wilhelmshoehe. The new-comers had not yet risen from table when another special train ran into the station, bringing the Marshals LEBŒUF and CANROBERT, Gen. FROSSARD and ten more officers. LEBŒUF is a tall, stately figure, his face bearing a pronounced military air. CANROBERT is set and stout, more of the BAZAINE type. They also repaired to the hotel, joining their comrades, and day was already dawning when they went to bed. All yesterday the space in front of the hotel was filled by a curious crowd, trying to have a glimpse at the strange visitors, and, considering the richness and variety of the officers' uniforms, the bustling of orderlies, the running to and from the hotel, this curiosity, coupled with the satisfaction of seeing their enemies harmless, may be excused. About 1 o'clock General of Infantry VON PLONSKI paid a visit to the Marshals, which was speedily returned. In the afternoon the Marshals, with the exception of BAZAINE, and several Generals drove to Wilhelmshoehe to pay their respects to the Emperor. In company with LEBŒUF, NAPOLEON returned from his usual afternoon promenade, when CANROBERT stood under the western portico of the chateau. The Emperor walked up to him, and, embracing him fervently, kissed him on both cheeks. They then retired into the palace.

PAST AND PRESENT.

The Emperor, on receiving Gen. BOYER at Wilhelmshoehe, is said to have commented on the sudden change of opinion respecting himself in Paris, where the enthusiasm for him in consequence of the declaration of war was almost oppressive. "When," he said, "I was on the point of starting for the army, I intended going from St. Cloud through Paris. The Prefect of Police, however, assured me that the enthusiasm of the population was such that they would take the horses out of the carriage in order to drag it, that they would throng the streets, and that all sorts of extraordinary proceedings were to be feared. I was, therefore, obliged to abandon my plan. And now you see the same people follow with the same enthusiasm the banner of a few street heroes. We shall see whether they make a better hand of it." The Cologne Gazette remarks that the Emperor was thought at the time to avoid Paris for fear of some peace demonstrations, which were then of occasional occurrence.

GARIBALDI.

Proclamation of the Agitator to the Army of the Vosges.

The London Echo prints the proclamation following from Gen. GARIBALDI:

MILITIA OF THE ARMY OF THE VOSGES! The cosmopolitan nucleus that the French Republic is rallying in her midst, composed of men chosen in the élite of nations, represents humanitarian future, and upon the banner of this noble group you can read the "motto" of a free people, which will soon be the word of order of the human family, "All for one, one for all." Egotism governs the world, and autocracy combats certainly in the French Republic the germ of the rights of man, which it abhors: genius of evil, it makes every effort for its preservation.

And the people? Modern republics, like ancient Carthage, swim in gold and sybaritism, while despots shake hands amid the darkness they enjoy, and profit by the misfortune of a brother people. Helvetia, believing herself weak, holds down her head, and covers, with the holy flag of WILLIAM TELL, her money chests and her banks.

GRANT, who by a single sign of his finger could have dispatched the soldiers of PRIM home to Madrid, permits peaceably an entire population belonging to the grand family of WASHINGTON to be massacred and to be destroyed, and barely allows the great Republic to utter a word of sympathy for the valiant sons of LAFAYETTE.

And thou, proud and classic ground, refuge of the exile, thou who hast first proclaimed the emancipation of races, and who today enjoyest the triumph of thy courageous initiative, wilt thou leave alone in its gigantic struggle that sister nation which, like thee, marches, and will march, in the van of human progress?

In the heroic struggle which France is sustaining, there can only be found the débris of an army of brave men which the most stupid of tyrants conducted to defeat. But the nation is there! Risen like one man, she will cause the old autocrat soon to repent of his determination to continue his butchery of men.

What a noble mission therefore is ours! Sons of liberty, élite of all people. Oh, no! I would not change my title of militiaman of the Republic for a crown.

Apostles of peace and of the fraternity of peoples, we are compelled to fight, and we shall fight with the proud consciousness of justice while consecrating the formula of the illustrious CHENIER: "Republicans are men and slaves are children."

Your courage I do not doubt, all I ask of you is coolness and discipline, indispensable in war.

IMPERIALISM.

The Interference With the Course of Justice.

Tours Correspondence of London Daily News.

The Journal Officiel of Oct. 31 publishes a further series of the Tuileries secret papers, of which one seems worthy of especial notice, as showing that NAPOLEON III., who, it was well known, dictated political judgments in political cases—a course, perhaps, excusable as a necessary part of his system—did not shrink from personally interfering with the course of justice, even in civil cases. Lord MACAULAY, when laying himself out to show that the STUARTS were the most intolerable despots that ever figured in modern history, dwelt particularly upon the fact that JAMES II. weighed upon the decisions of the Judges in causes between man and man. "That," said the brilliant historian, "was a stage of tyranny which no nation that had not fallen into the lowest state of social and political degradation could bear." France, however, was reduced to this state by LOUIS NAPOLEON, whose principal Secretary, M. CONTI, five years ago, wrote, in a matter-of-course way, to President BENOIT CHAMPY, a Judge whose position is analogous to that of the Lord Chief-Justice of the Queen's Bench, the following letter:

PALACE OF THE TUILERIES, April 30, 1865.

M. LE PRESIDENT: The Emperor has noticed with regret the family suit between Mme. DE MAGNONCOUR and her two sons, one of whom is an officer in the Imperial Guard. His Majesty is desirous that you should effect a compromise between the parties, and thus prevent the scandal of a public trial. Receive, M. le President, the assurance of my most distinguished consideration.

FRENCH ARTISTS.

Prussian Respect for Art.

From the London Times, Nov. 7.

Our readers will be glad to learn that the studio and residence of Mlle. ROSA BONHEUR, at the picturesque town of Fontainebleau, south of Paris, is to be spared and respected by the Germans by a special order of the Crown Prince of Prussia; and, also, that orders have been given by the King of Prussia, at head-quarters, to the same effect in favor of the studio and abode of the artist M. EDOUARD FRERE, at Ecouen. M. BLANCHARD, the well-known engraver of very many of the best French pictures, and whose name is well known in England by his engravings of "The Derby Day," "The Marriage of Her Royal Highness the Princess Royal with the Crown Prince of Prussia," &c., we are sorry to hear, is shut up in Paris; and, it is hoped, even if Paris should be subjected to a final assault and capture, a similar courtesy will be extended to him. M. BLANCHARD's son a Lieutenant of Artillery, was inside Metz, but whether he is killed or a prisoner is still a mystery to the artist's friends in London. The sparing of the houses of artists, so far from showing that the Germans are "utter barbarians," would seem rather to recall the noble conduct of ALEXANDER the Great, who, when he took Thebes, ordered the home of the poet PINDAR to be respected and spared, when he reduced the rest of that city to ruins.

BILLIARDS.

Mons. Garnier's Exhibition—A Pronounced Success.

The début of Mons. ALBERT GARNIER, at CHRIS. O'CONNOR's rooms last night, was the most decided billiardistic sensation this country has ever known. The exhibition, as a whole, evoked the more enthusiasm, inasmuch as it opened inauspiciously, quite a number of people leaving the house at an early hour, impressed with the idea that Mons. GARNIER was no billiard-player, and that they had been humbugged out of their admission fees. Those who remained to the close, however, entertained a different opinion of the French expert's abilities, and all departed satisfied with their outlay. GARNIER's indifferent play at the outset was the result of over-anxiety and timidity conjoined. Realizing this, the spectators began to encourage him by applause, and after a while he recovered his wonted confidence.

The initial event of the night was a three-ball game of 50 points, not down on the original programme. This contest, which no one had come prepared to witness, was a damper upon the ardor of the spectators. It was chiefly noticeable for miscues on the part of CYRILLE DION, who eventually pulled through, defeating his opponent, AMADEE GUILLETTE, by 4 points. Then followed a game of 1,000 points, four-ball caroms, between CYRILLE and GARNIER. The latter played excitedly for the first half dozen innings, and CYRILLE, fancying he would have an easy conquest, became rather careless. Thus GARNIER gained an opening, and, speedily making a run of 183, passed his antagonist. This run he followed with 72, 156 and 180, and the relative positions were: GARNIER, 717; DION, 513. The latter was now evidently nettled, and strove hard to retrieve himself; but the balls he dealt so cavalierly with at the start would not now respond to his desires. In the twenty-seventh inning GARNIER closed the game with a run of 82, winning as per score:

GARNIER—0, 3, 0, 3, 30, 0, 0, 3, 12, 183, 30, 27, 72, 3, 0, 156, 3, 12, 0, 180, 108, 33, 18, 36, 6, 0, 82. Total, 1,000. Average—37 1-27.

DION—6, 3, 48, 51, 6, 0, 0, 0, 24, 9, 18, 27, 33, 72, 42, 18, 6, 66, 87, 0, 9, 18, 54, 3, 12, 30. Total, 639. Average—24 15-26.

The average of GARNIER fails totally to indicate the meritoriousness of his execution after the first few innings. His most striking excellences were the frequency with which he brought the balls together, and the deadly accuracy of his massé shots. He attempted not less than twenty-five of the latter in the course of the game, failing but once, and at every success "calling down the house."

Afterward he executed a number of fancy shots, about one-half of them being new upon this side of the ocean. Language is inadequate for the purpose of description, but an idea of GARNIER's aptness for this class of strikes may be gained from the fact that he uses sixteen balls where CARME and RUDOLPHE were wont to use eight only. This shot, which is known as "billiards on the wing," consisted heretofore in making eight balls touch each of the four cushions, and range themselves finally within a radius of fifteen inches described at one corner of the table. GARNIER last night did this with no less than sixteen balls, one following the other with lightning-like rapidity. His demeanor throughout gained for him quite as many friends as his skill. Modest and retiring, he may not answer as a match-player, but as an exponent of the grander difficulties of billiards, his success here is almost assured already.

The Ladies' Union Aid Society's Fair at Apollo Hall is a great success. One of the principal features of the Fair is an elegant gold watch, presented by Mr. TIFFANY, through Mrs. J. B. CORNELL, and to be disposed of by vote to some pastor of the Methodist Church, each vote costing $1. Last evening there were 350 votes cast, the highest number being 136, for Rev. Mr. HARROWER, and the next highest for Mr. LONGACRE, 128. The ladies of the Society, knowing the peculiar and personal qualifications possessed by Mrs. J. B. CORNELL for conducting the voting, have given her charge of the whole affair, and, from present appearances, she will make it a grand success.

THE ATLANTIC DUEL.

Account of the Franco-Prussian Tournament off Cuba.

Preliminaries and Incidents of the Encounter.

Fifty-Two Minutes of Slaughter and the Results.

Preliminaries and Incidents of the Franco-Prussian Encounter—Result of the Conflict—"War News"—Sentences of Death—Miscellaneous Gossip.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Saturday, Nov. 12, 1870.

The Franco-Prussian war has partly been transferred to the Western World, the first engagement between French and Prussians having taken place on Wednesday afternoon, between two gun-boats, the Prussian remaining master of the battle-field. In order to give a full and comprehensible account, it will be necessary to explain the origin of the naval duel which has kept Havana in a fever of excitement since Monday last, and still forms the only topic of conversation.

PRELIMINARIES OF THE DUEL.

On Monday morning at about 8 o'clock, the look-out on the Morro signaled a Prussian man-of-war. About half an hour later, a small, insignificant-looking gun-boat, which, however, belied her looks during the recent fight, made her appearance in the harbor, the name Meteor being painted on her stern. She had just come from Nassau via Key West. Her arrival would have excited no comment had not the French gun-boat Bouvet made her entrance about an hour later, having come from Martinique, and therefore from a different direction. As the French vessel was the largest ship, the French newspaper of this city, which pretends to be a Spanish journal, made an attempt to get up a little more smoke, and announced in its evening edition that the Frenchman had been pursuing the Prussian all the way from Nassau, the French commander being cited as having authorized the statement. When it is known that the French gun-boat can go at the rate of ten miles an hour and the Prussian only six to seven, the fallacy of this statement becomes apparent. On Tuesday morning the French mail steamer Nouveau Monde, for Vera Cruz, was preparing to leave for her destination, when the Prussian was seen to leave the harbor and steam out to sea. The Nouveau Monde followed, but seeing the Prussian outside and fearing capture, returned to port about three hours later, the Prussian also returning. The report was then started that the Prussian had not intended to wait for the mail steamer but for the French gun-boat, and the Diario gave echo to these reports, which were also hawked about from one man-of-war to the other and to the respective Consulates. The result was a challenge by the Prussian to the Frenchman to fight on the following day, the French gun-boat leaving the harbor at 1 P. M. on Tuesday, cruising off the Morro, as twenty-four hours had to elapse before the Prussian could leave port. The challenge became generally known, and the excitement among all classes reached fever-heat, the Spanish Admiral ordering the gun-boats Cortes and Centinela to be got ready for sea, in order to witness the fight, to see that neutral jurisdiction was not violated and to render assistance in case of need.

EN ROUTE FOR THE FIELD.

On Wednesday afternoon a large concourse of prominent persons was assembled at the Machina to witness the affair, having been invited by the Captain-General and Admiral, both of these gentlemen with their staffs, several representatives of the Havana Press, and the correspondents of the TIMES, Herald and Associated Press, being also present. At 1 sharp the Meteor raised her anchor, passing by the Morro at 1¼, the Cortes following close in her wake. Every available spot on the coast and the walls of all the forts was crowded with persons anxious to witness the fight, the number being calculated at over thirty thousand. The watch-tower on the Morro was black with spectators. On passing the Morro the Frenchman was seen about ten miles off, the masts being barely discernible. The Prussian headed directly for her, steering north-east by east, the Cortes standing off in a more easterly direction. The Prussian was going at the rate of five to six miles an hour, the voice of her commander, KNORR, giving the order to prepare everything for action being heard quite distinctly. The Bouvet was then seen to turn round and make for the Meteor, and at 2¼ the man at the masthead announced that the Bouvet, which sailed almost twice as fast, was heading directly for the Meteor. The Meteor was then about six miles from the Morro, and about one and one-fourth from the Bouvet, and at 2½ the Frenchman set all his flags, the Prussian following suit, as a sign that both were ready for the combat. Every heart beat, and every eye on the Cortes was strained to watch the movements of the two vessels, the Bouvet gliding along fast and gracefully, evidently intending to keep continually to windward of the Meteor, the latter moving much more slowly, but always presenting her prow to the Bouvet. At close quarters it was suppose that the Bouvet would have the greatest advantage, she being much higher out of the water—a larger ship, mounting three heavy guns and two smaller brass ones, and her crew consisting of eighty men. Her antagonist had but sixty men, and only three guns.

THE FIGHT.

The ball was opened by the Bouvet at 2:33, by firing five shots in rapid succession at the Prussian, before the latter answered, the vessels crossing each others' bows at 2:40, the Frenchman continuing to fire much faster than the Prussian, almost in the proportion of two shots to one. Neither ship had been hit yet, when the Frenchman ran rapidly alongside of the Prussian, with the intention of boarding. The vessels grazed each others' sides, and a perfect rain of hand-grenades and rifle-balls fell on the deck of the Prussian. Then the Frenchman's rigging and yards became entangled with those of the Prussian. The commander ordered the ropes and grappling-irons to be cut, and a few moments later the main and mizzen masts of the Prussian were seen to fall over the side, the masts going over at 2:53. Everybody supposed that the Prussian was done for, but the plucky crew began to fire fast, although embarrassed by the fallen masts and yards, and unable to use their large gun. The Frenchman had veered to pour another broadside, when a shot was fired from the Prussian and at the same moment a column of steam, fire and smoke was seen to issue from the hold of the Frenchman, the shot having cut the steam-pipe in two and set fire to the coal-bunkers. The fire was soon extinguished, but the vessel, having no longer any steam-power, drifted rapidly to leeward and at 3:05 the Frenchman, otherwise uninjured, set all sail and made his way rapidly toward neutral waters, crossing the line at 3:25, when Admiral MALCAMPO ordered a gun to be fired to windward in order to notify the Prussian that the Bouvet was now i neutral waters and under the protection of Spain, the Prussian having continued to fire on the retreating Frenchman. If the wind had not been so favorable to the losing Bouvet, she would undoubtedly have been captured, as the Prussian managed to free herself from her wreck and disentangle the screw from the rigging which had caught in it, about the time the Frenchman reached neutral waters. The Spanish gun-boat Centinela went toward the Frenchman in order to see if she required any assistance, but although the Centinela went at the rate of ten miles an hour, she only came up with the Bouvet at the mouth of the harbor. The Cortes went toward the Prussian and made the same offer.

FELICITOUS RESULTS.

Contradictory reports have been in circulation as to the number of killed and wounded, and the Frenchman is accused of not giving the exact number of casualties. But as all these reports are generally started by scandal-mongers, the statement of the commander must be considered truthful. The Frenchman had three men wounded, was hit three times by ball, and had her machinery disabled; the Prussian had two men killed and one wounded, by hand-grenades and musket balls, and had two of her masts carried away, the hull being uninjured. On Thursday the two killed on the Meteor were buried in the Havana cemetery, all prominent Germans and the officers and crew of the Meteor attending. The procession was very imposing, but, notwithstanding the solemnity of the act, the contemptible tongue heroes and busybodies of Havana were already at their work trying to get up another row between the two ships, and it is more than likely that another hostile meeting will take place. The commanders of both ships are brave men, and their crews behaved admirably, but the folly of the combat between two insignificant men-of-war, when compared to the main struggle at home, becomes only too apparent. The Germans will give a grand dinner to the officers of the Meteor, and are raising a subscription for the benefit of the families of the killed and wounded men.

SENTENCES OF DEATH.

Shortly after the outbreak of the revolution here a Court-martial was convened to try those considered as leaders of the rebellion, either as fighting, talking, or contributing members. The Court-martial closed its session on Monday. The following persons, all of them absent from Havana, being sentenced to death and their properties ordered to be confiscated for the benefit of the State, namely:

Cárlos Manuel Céspedes, Francisco Vicente Aguilera, Cristóbal Mendoza, Eligio Izaguirre, Eduardo Agramonte, Pedro Maria Agüero y Gonzalez, Salvador Cisneros Betancour, Francisco Sanchez Betancour, Pio Rosado, Fernando Fornáris, Miguel Betancour Guerra, Jesus Rodriguez, José Izaguirre, Miguel Gerónimo Gutiérrez, Arcadio Garcia, Tranquilino Valdés, Antonio Lorda, Eduardo Machado, Antonio Zambrana, Ignacio Agramonte, Rafael Morales, Lucas del Castillo, Diego Machado, Ramon Perez Trujillo, Manuel Quesada, Thomas Jordan, Francisco Ruz, José Valiente, José Maria Mora, Antonio Fernandez Bramosio, José Maria Bassora, Francisco Izquierdo, Plutarco Gonzalez, Ramon Fernandez Criado, Francisco Javier Cisneros, Joaquin Delgado, Ramon Aguirre, Francisco Fésser, Ignacio Alfaro, Miguel Aldama, Cárlos del Castillo, José Manuel Mestre, Hilario Cisneros, Leonardo Del Monte, José Ma. Céspedes, Francisco Valdés Mendoza, Néstor Ponce de Leon, Federico Galvez, Francisco Javier Balmaseda, Manuel Casanova, Antonio Mora, Luis Felipe Mantilla, Manuel Márques, José Peña, y Joaquin Aniel.

The properties of MORALES LEMUS, HONORATO DEL CASTELLO, LUIS AYESTERAN and PEDRO FIGUEREDO were also ordered to be confiscated, the gentlemen themselves having died or been killed since the war. Three others also implicated and tried by Court-martial, Messrs MARIANO ALVAREZ, JOSE TRUJILLO and ANTONIO ALCALA were absolved from all punishment and their properties returned.

"WAR NEWS."

The news from the interior is unimportant, and military movements are few, on account of the bad state of the roads. A brigade of Cubans stormed and captured the settlement of San Pedro, about three leagues from Trinidad, killing several volunteers....From Puerto Principe we learn that the Cubans march undisturbed from the Central Department to the very doors of Santiago de Cuba. The Spaniards expect a change in affairs as soon as Gen. ZEA takes hold, but the same has been said of every commander who went there since the beginning of the war, and all have achieved the same result....The Cinco Villas are still overrun with small bands, who only await the dry season to set the canefields afire. The planters, aided by the Government, are devising means to save themselves and their property.

CITIZENS ARRESTED.

The Pabellon, of Cienfuegos, announces that Gen. PORTILLA is displaying extraordinary activity, having arrested a large number of Cubans, of all classes of society, accused or suspected of sympathizing with the Cuban cause. As PORTILLA cannot catch the insurgents in the field, he takes the surer method of making and catching them at home; but an ordinary police officer could do just as much.

MISCELLANEOUS GOSSIP.

Subscriptions are being opened for the benefit of the sufferers in Barcelona; even Matanzas is making up a subscription, notwithstanding the great misery there....The inundation in the Vuelta Abajo, on the first and second of this month, has destroyed a great deal of the new tobacco, and the farmers will have to sow again. ....MONTANEZ, the famous Spanish counter guerrilla, is here....LAZARO PING, one of the four men who robbed and plundered in Matanzas during the hurricane, has been arrested. Two have been arrested and executed....An official statement, just published, gives the amount of import and export duties collected in the island for the year 1868-69, ending Sept. 1, at $11,843,863; and for the fiscal year 1869-70, just ended, at $17,526,178, an increase of over forty per cent.

QUASIMODO.

Connecticut Farmers as Patent Agents—Some Heavy Swindling Transactions.

From the New-Haven Courier, Nov. 16.

A few weeks ago we gave an account of the arrest of a man named PETER LOWE, charged with forgery, and detailed what information we then had of his connection with certain notes given for town rights to sell a patent bar for a mowing-machine, which notes were alleged to have been obtained in a fraudulent manner. We have since become possessed of fuller and more correct information of the doings of LOWE, and of one IRA BROWN, who is believed to be a colleague of LOWE. The history of these notes is as follows: IRA BROWN, who claims to belong in Providence, R. I., visited the towns in New-Haven County, in the early part of the Fall, and made such representations to a leading farmer in each town, that he consented either to become the town agent for the sale of the patent bar, or else agreed to purchase the town right for $200. Whatever the character of the conference was, it resulted in BROWN's giving the farmer a deed of the patent right for his town. This deed was a printed one, the consideration, which was $200, being plainly printed in it, there being no blanks except for names and dates. At the bottom of the deed was a printed condition, stating that at the end of the year, if the grantee had not sold $200 worth of the mowing-machine bars, the grantor, BROWN, would pay him $400 for the town right, if the profits on the bars sold were divided equally between them. BROWN, in each case, received in payment a promissory note for $200, payable in one year, with interest, at the First National Bank of New-Haven. This note was in the usual form, printed on a slip of paper, as notes are ordinarily printed, the $200 being plainly printed and the only blanks left being those for dates and names. These notes the farmers signed, so that they are all genuine. Some claim that they did not know what they were signing. One man says he thought it was an order, and another man says BROWN kept the blotting-paper over the note when he signed. How men could sign such paper and not know what they were signing, is a mystery to an ordinary business man. The probabilities are that most of the farmers did know. BROWN also left with each party a card, upon which was printed an agreement in which he promised upon the receipt of $20 at Providence, to send twelve of the bars, which were to be sold for $15 each. These constitute the papers that passed between the parties. In October, LOWE appeared in New-Haven, and desired to negotiate twenty-eight of these notes. He was sent to Mr. H. R. KNOTWELL, a broker, and offered to sell him the notes for seventy-five cents on a dollar. Mr. KNOTWELL offered him forty cents, which he refused. He afterward accepted Mr. KNOTWELL's offer, who, after satisfying himself that the notes were genuine, paid LOWE $2,240. Afterward Mr. H. C. PLATT negotiated with Mr. KNOTWELL for two of the notes, one of which was given by Mr. OTIS, of Milford, who, upon seeing his note, declared it a forgery, and LOWE was arrested, but was discharged upon its appearing that the signature was genuine, as we have before stated. LOWE, upon negotiating the twenty-eight notes, said that he would soon return with $6,000 worth, and at the time of his arrest he had $3,000 worth of these notes. Since the note business has been made public, most of the farmers have settled with Mr. KNOTWELL by paying $110 each, which Mr. KNOTWELL thinks will, in view of his expenses and the fact that he will not realize on some of the notes, only make him good. BROWN prosecuted the business on an extensive scale in New-York, as it is reported that the Cherry Valley Bank took $100,000 worth of the paper at thirty cents. It is said that the mowing-machine bar is a valuable invention, and that the purchasers of the town rights could easily make a few hundred dollars out of their sale, provided they could get the bars; but it is now said that no bars are sent in response to orders for them. This is the kink which has ruined the speculations of the farmers, most of whom seem to feel a little "sheepish" at the result of their patent-right venture.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

JOHN WESLEY AND THE EVANGELICAL REACTION OF THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY. By JULIA WEDGWOOD. London: MACMILLAN & CO. 1870.

Notwithstanding MACAULAY's criticism that JOHN WESLEY was the Richelieu of Church organization, or Mr. BUCKLE's laudation comparing him to MARTIN LUTHER, or the more quiet pleasantries of SYDNEY SMITH, the imposing figure of the greatest of all modern reformers, stands forth by its own brightness as the grand central light, illuminating the evangelical revival of the eighteenth century. With him were grouped other members of his family, all of them remarkable; his stern, yet loving mother, whose influence, perhaps, gave Methodism to the world; his more gentle brother CHARLES; the more worldly WHITEFIELD, with his impassioned eloquence; and the elegant yet saintly Lady HUNTINGDON. To us in America, where Methodism is more active and more untrammeled than in England, Miss WEDGWOOD's book is singularly interesting, inasmuch as she devotes many pages to JOHN WESLEY's visit with OGLETHORPE to Savannah, minutely describing its influences on him, and to that portion of his ecclesiastical history, the American ordinations, which, more than anything else, gave to Methodism its distinct and perfected organization.

The canvass used by the authoress is of the largest dimensions, and not only are the chief figures carefully and honestly portrayed, but all their historical and social surroundings are studiously depicted. Differing from most of WESLEY's biographers, who were fervent believers in his tenets, and perhaps little disposed to give us a searching analysis of the ascetic mysticisms so peculiar to the founder of this religion, Miss WEDGWOOD treats the subject as it only can be treated by the light of more modern research. Perhaps to a conscientious author no more abstruse problem could be presented than that most curious phase of WESLEY's life, where the haze of doubt and uncertainty enshrouds him, where the longings for some manifestations of God's power, miraculous or otherwise, are demanded by him; and with exceeding delicacy and perfect truthfulness has Miss WEDGWOOD delineated it. In a chapter entitled "Wesley the Confessor," that curious stage of mental epidemics, the convulsions, writhings, tortures endured by those hearing WESLEY, are properly ascribed to nervous irritation, unconscious acting, and that strange love of producing a sensation so remarkable in uneducated persons. The authoress, like all modern thinkers, has little belief in the duration of revivals—is inclined perhaps to consider them more hurtful than otherwise.

A most interesting part of the book is that which treats of the direct influences of the two styles of preaching as manifested by JOHN WESLEY and GEORGE WHITEFIELD, and perhaps it would be well if our modern and decidedly sensational clergymen would think over it. While WHITEFIELD drew to his chapel men like Lords BOLINGBROKE and CHESTERFIELD, JOHN WESLEY yearned for a widely different class of hearers. When WHITEFIELD preached, the play-houses were deserted and GARRICK was in despair. His florid style caused his fair hearers to have their rouged cheeks streaked with tears, even to the washing off of their patches, though such emotions were as passing as Summer showers. When JOHN WESLEY wrestled with the Lord, it was with terse nervous power; the impression he left was as if his hearers had been burnt in their innermost hearts with a brand heated red-hot. That WESLEY was conscious of his power, and somewhat disliked WHITEFIELD's distinctive style, was evident from a letter quoted by Miss WEDGWOOD as follows: "Do men gather from that amorous way of praying to Christ, or that luscious way of preaching His righteousness, any real goodness?"

There is one single portion of Miss WEDGWOOD's task, which we sincerely wish she had executed more fully. We refer to the effect of JOHN's, and notably of CHARLES' fervid writings upon the literature of the day. She declares that in the middle of the eighteenth century this paradox was evident—that virtue had for its side art, and vice fashion; and a more copious exposition of the contest of these two factions, would have made the many-sidedness of the book very nearly perfect.

CRUMBS SWEPT UP. By T. DE WITT TALMAGE. Philadelphia: EVANS, STODDART & CO., 1870.

An American Dickens was lost to fiction when Mr. DE WITT TALMAGE entered the church. If any one doubts the fact, let him peruse the volume of sketches above noted. Its contents cover an infinite variety of subjects, from the social life of our great cities to TURNER's pictures, from watering-place vanities to Paris under the shock of defeat; but they are all characterized by the same racy and vigorous style, the same unfailing power of picturesque delineation, added to a continuous ebullition of genial humor of a mind that instinctively takes in the drollery of every-day contrasts, and pierces the disguises of conventional sham and humbug. We don't think any reader can lay down the book before us without having a kinder feeling to his fellow-men, and a clearer perception of how many are the sunny spots in life than when he took it up. The numerous admirers of the popular Brooklyn preacher will be glad to have the opportunity here afforded of listening to Mr. TALMAGE in his easy gossiping vein, and will be more strongly impressed than ever with the varied culture and sympathies of the mind that can range to such good purpose over so wide a field.

MOTTOES AND APHORISMS FROM SHAKESPEARE. Philadelphia: J. B. LIPPINCOTT & CO. 1870.

This is a very well-prepared and useful little book. The quotations are all brief, and there is an index "comprising nearly nine thousand references to the infinitely varied words and ideas of the Mottoes." It is one of the best collections of the kind ever published.

New Novels.

VALERIE AYLMER. By CHRISTIAN REID. D. APPLETON & CO.

A story of a Louisiana belle who is somewhat inconstant, very self-willed, but withal exceedingly charming. The development of the finer and deeper nature of a spoiled darling of fashion is traced with a good deal of skill, and, aided as it is, by incidents at once varied and interesting, there is little difficulty experienced in bestowing upon the book unflagging attention. The characters grouped around the heroine are recognizable men and women, which is no slight praise in these days of stereotyped portraiture. The dialogue is in the main appropriate, and kept strictly within the limits of the requirements of the narrative. Altogether the book forms a very creditable addition to the stock of native fiction.

IN DUTY BOUND. By the author of "Mark Warren," &c. Illustrated. HARPER & BROTHERS.

To any one who is fond of the excitement of keeping the thread of three different stories in his mind at the same time, we recommend the perusal of this volume. A proper selection of chapters may enable him to avoid this exercise by taking each of the narratives separately. It will thus be seen that the book has the rare advantage of serving as three distinct novels, or as one, according to the discretion of the reader. This evident merit must be conceded to it. The chapters are short, pithy and full of action. The characters are sharply defined, without any attempt at elaboration, and the dialogue is severely subordinated to the progress of the kind of plots.

THE WARDEN, and BARCHESTER TOWERS. By ANTHONY TROLLOPE. HARPER & BROTHERS.

A reprint in one volume of two of the most fascinating works of a highly prolific novelist. The second of the two is, in the opinion of many admirers of Mr. TROLLOPE, his masterpiece. The Bishop and Mrs. Purdie, Mr. Slope, Mr. Arabin, "the Signora," and the rest are nearly as well known as some of Mr. DICKENS' familiar creations, and are, in their way, nearly as perfect types of human character. The popularity of such a book is perennial.

THE VIVIAN ROMANCE. By MORTIMER COLLINS. HARPER & BROTHERS.

Valentine Vivian is not exactly a Don Juan, but he is as near an approach to it as the present generation can well tolerate in fiction. His career is eventful enough, and is very cleverly written, and that is the most that can well be said about it.

EPISODES IN AN OBSCURE LIFE. By a Curate. J. B. LIPPINCOTT & CO.

These sketches have already appeared in a popular religious magazine. Their excellence has been felt and acknowledged by numerous readers, and they are in every way worthy of reproduction in their present permanent form.

WHICH IS THE HEROINE? HARPER & BROTHERS.

A story with a superabundance of talk and very little incident, a peculiarity that may be explained by the fact that the characters are mostly females. There is, nevertheless, a good deal of genuine pathos to be found in its pages, and the author consistently strives to present a high ideal of character and motive, which gives a healthy tone and purpose to the entire book.

DECEMBER MAGAZINES.

—The Atlantic for December is unusually varied and interesting. It opens with a paper entitled "Confessions of a Patent Medicine Man," from the ever-welcome pen of RALPH KEELER. As a reviewer remarks in this same number, Mr. KEELER's production gives us a foretaste of the stuff out of which the genuine American novel of the future is to be developed. JOHN G. WHITTIER contributes a poem entitled "The Prayer Seeker," full of simple pathos and solemn feeling. Another installment follows of Mrs. STOWE's "Oldtown Fireside Stories," as also of BAYARD TAYLOR's novel, "Joseph and His Friend." Miss LARCOM's little poem, "A Strip of Blue," is suggestive of the unadorned simplicity of the old English lyrics. The sparkling and brilliant sketches of "Traveling Companions," by Mr. JAMES, are continued. "Rudolph," a monograph, is a paper on a very remarkable boy of ten years old, of whose precocity of intellect and capacity of memory so many remarkable proofs are given that the editors find it necessary to prefix a note giving the assurance of the author—BARNET PHILLIPS—that it is substantially a statement of facts. This juvenile prodigy exists in a southern city, and we have reason to believe that many others besides Mr. PHILLIPS can vouch for the accuracy of the sketch. A little prose eclogue called "The Miracle Play of 1870 in Bethlehem, New-Hampshire," by "H. H.," is deserving of attention. The most remarkable of the remaining articles are "John Bull at Feed," by Mr. STILLMAN; "A Plea for Silence," by H. T. TUCKERMAN, and "Afoot on Colorado Desert," by STEPHEN POWERS.

—Harper's is as usual popular, sparkling, and entertaining. A local subject, "The Brooklyn Navy-yard," has the place of honor. The writer has been at great pains to bring together all the points of interest connected with this, the oldest of our naval establishments. The illustrations are judiciously selected, and accurately as well as artistically executed. "Pio Nono and his Councillors" is a seasonable record of a dynasty, which, in its temporal aspect, is now virtually defunct. "Life in Brittany" is continued, and will be a revelation to most American readers of a wonderful mine of the picturesque, in scenery, manners and costume, too much neglected by our scampering native tourists. The continuation of a popular history of "Frederick the Great" will serve very opportunely to give a key to the growth of the wonderful system that has made Prussia the foremost Power in Europe. AUERBACH's novel, "The Rock of the Legion of Honor," is continued, as also "Anteros," by the author of "Guy Livingstone." "Bombay and the Parsees" is a paper giving interesting glimpses of a subject on which far too little is known in this country—the wondrous and venerable civilization of Hindostan. The author is evidently thoroughly conversant by actual observation with his subject, and gives in a short compass information which will quicken the reader's appetite for more. Now that a revision of the Treaty of Paris of 1856 is imminent, the paper on "Blockade Running" will possess exceptional interest as bearing on international maritime usages, which a European Congress would doubtless take into fresh consideration, and which an Anglo-Russian war would probably revolutionize. The other papers are fully up to the average of merit.

—The Catholic World is solid, scholarly and distinguished by its customary fairness in controversy and criticism. The review of JAMES FREEMAN CLARKE's Steps of Belief, with which the number opens, is a very suggestive critique on the basis of ecclesiastical authority and tradition of the theses of rational Christianity. Mr. O'CALLAGHAN's Irish Brigades in the Service of France calls forth an appreciative and highly interesting notice. A paper on "Catholic Literature and the Catholic Public" is in the main admirable in tone and spirit, but there is a good deal of the narrowest vein of Catholicism in such sentences as these: "Every Protestant—or we may say uncatholic—publication contains a drop of poison....We cannot afford to take it without taking also a corrective. Little by little it will extinguish our fervor if it does not undermine our faith." The number closes with two papers relating to the invasion of Rome, discussing the wrongs of the Holy Father in a manner natural enough from the standpoint of the writers.

—Our Young Folks presents its unfailing excellence and variety. The chief papers are "We Girls"—the leading serial story, an interesting sketch entitled "Freed Children in Virginia," another instalment of "A Boy's Visit to Pompeii," and a good story called "The Wonderful Secret, and Who Told It."

—Chatterbox, for 1871. BRENTANO, No. 33 Union-square.—This excellent volume forms one of the best presents that could possibly be given to a girl or boy. It is full of striking engravings, and the tone of the publication is of the purest and highest kind. There is something in it for young and old, but for the juveniles especially it is a mine of rich treasures. A better annual is not published, and its price places it within the reach of all classes.

The Texas Cattle Trade—Heavy Increase in the Shipments Over the Kansas Pacific Railroad—The Consumption of Western Packing-Houses.

From the Kansas City Bulletin, Nov. 13.

Few people outside of the little world of the Texan cattle trade have even the slightest conceptions as to the remarkable increase in this all-important item of trade. The trade in cattle formerly passing down Red River and via steamboat to Cincinnati and New-Orleans, is now being done via Kansas City, by means of the Kansas Pacific and the Missouri River, Fort Scott and Gulf Railroads. To give some faint idea of the amount of trade done by these roads in cattle we will give the receipts of cattle via the Kansas Pacific for the month of October, which amounted to 35,107 head of cattle, using in their transportation 1,606 cars. The total stock shipments over this one road from Jan. 1 to Oct. 31, of the present year, were 106,243, requiring 5,422 cars in their transportation. During the present year, it is estimated that 125,000 head of cattle will have passed over that road alone. The shipments of cattle over the Kansas Pacific in 1869 only amounted to 41,778 head. This year we have an increase of 70,000 head, which is a large item when it is taken into consideration that this is merely the increase of nine months' trade. It may not be out of place to remark that the earnings of this road for the past month, amounted to $343,837 48, making an increase over the earnings of the same month in 1869, of $100,541 71. A large amount of the cattle trade is done by business houses of Kansas City. The establishment of beef-packing houses upon a large scale at this place, has given quite an impetus to the cattle trade. One firm alone, that of PLANKINTON & ARMOUR, are slaughtering over 800 head of cattle per day, while the packing-house of FERGUSON, SLAVENS & Co. are slaughtering nearly the same number of cattle. On Saturday last PLANKINTON and ARMOUR killed and cut up 520 cattle, and during the past week 2,400 head were slaughtered. This we claim is a great item of trade, and, we venture to say, is not equaled by any packing house in the country, with four "siders." Chicago, St. Louis, or any other large city cannot compete with us in this item of trade alone. It is estimated that not less than 90,000 cattle have been slaughtered here during the past season. Can we wonder at the immense cattle trade done by our two great railroads, when three Western packing-houses each consume nearly 30,000 head. Old cattle traders assert that this is but a beginning of this immense trade, that next year will see it doubled.

CURRENT NOTES.

The miniature steamer City of Ragusa has arrived at Worcester, Mass.

The father of the young girl who was abducted from Cohoes some time since, has become almost insane from grief at the disgrace.

A Chicago philanthropist has invented a method of wearing pantaloons without the use of buttons.

A youth respectably connected at Chicago, and not yet seventeen years of age, recently died from the effects of excessive drinking.

Prof. EDWARD W. ROOT was one of the first members of the Faculty of Hamilton College who died during a period of twenty-one years.

By a judicious utilization of convict labor, the Monroe County Penitentiary is soon likely to become a source of profit, instead of a burden, to the tax-payers.

The Ocean Mill at Newburyport, Mass., is now running on full time. It had been idle for fifteen months. Heretofore it has employed 325 hands, and paid out $10,000 per month in wages.

One of the largest wheat growers of Alameda County, Cal., having had some experience in dealing with commission merchants, chartered a vessel this year himself, and has sent 1,200 tons of wheat direct to the Liverpool market.

A man named LAMSON, the defendant in an action for divorce now being tried at Chicago, succeeded in bringing out in the cross-examination of his wife, that she had at one time "soaked his head in a tin pan containing scalding water."

The Collector of Customs at New-Orleans was obliged, according to report, to issue an order a short time since, forbidding clerks from bringing spirituous liquors into the Custom-house, and from going out to drink during office hours. The yellow fever seems to have badly demoralized Mr. CASEY's clerical force.

The "suspended animation sensation" has penetrated to Utica. A few days since a young man died in that city of delirium, and the body was about being buried when a doctor thought he discovered signs of life. The work of resuscitation was then commenced, but given up in a short time as fruitless.

A young man named HOLCOMB was recently arrested in Georgia for falsifying the census returns of Liberty County. As he was to be paid so much per hundred, he thought he should make a good stroke of business by setting down the population at just double what it really is.

MIKE MCCOOLE, the prize-fighter, has caused the following advertisement to be published in the St. Louis newspapers: "MIKE MCCOOLE, the champion of America, cordially invites his friends and the public generally to visit him at his centrally located saloon, where it will be his aim to provide the best of everything for their entertainment."

GEORGE S. COUTANT, of Rosendale, in this State, who had been robbed of $1,400 about fourteen years ago, while asleep, was lately notified by an anonymous letter, that he would find the amount in a package at the Kingston Express office. He went there on the following day and received it. It was directed in such a way that it would be impossible to trace out the thief through it.

In commenting on the call for an Immigration Convention at Indianapolis on the 23d inst., the Hamilton (Canada) Times remarks: "We (Canadians) have the most do-nothing Government in the world. The reason is that it is composed of old and effete politicians. A change is most imperiously needed. The exigencies and necessities of the times demand it. New and more vigorous men should be placed at the head of affairs."

The consolidation of interests between the managers of the Southern Transatlantic Railroad Company and the Lower California Company, is looked upon by the San Diego Union as exceedingly important. "The combination thus formed," says that journal, "is powerful enough to build the railroad without Government aid, if the managers are so disposed. The Lower California Company numbers among its directors the money kings of New-York, men who are accustomed to carry through their undertakings."

The St. Clair Flats Canal improvement, it is expected, will be completed before the close of navigation. "As yet," says the Detroit Tribune, "but few vessels have been permitted to run through the channel—only those which were certain to do no injury, as first-class steamers, gun-boats, &c., and they have always run through slowly. When it is opened for general navigation no landing along the sides will be allowed, but all vessels must run entirely through, thus reducing to a minimum the damage or injury to the banks. Lights are yet to be erected to mark the location."

A land case, which has been tried in several of the Missouri Courts, during a period of twenty-one years, was lately decided before the Supreme Court at St. Louis, in such a way that it is not likely to be ever brought up again. The plaintiff, a man named JOHN MAGUIRE, bought the land in dispute for $315, in 1846, sued in ejectment the same year and was defeated. His last effort to have the United States Supreme Court pass upon the title was defeated on the ground that it had no jurisdiction or power to pass on a question of local State law and practice. The costs are enormous.

THE LATE M. PARADOL.

New Light on His Melancholy Death—Two Previous Attempts at Suicide.

From the Washington Chronicle, Nov. 14.

As is well known, the unfortunate PARADOL succeeded in destroying his life on Thursday morning, between the hours of 1 and 4 o'clock, July 20, of the present year. That he had unsuccessfully attempted the act in at least two different instances before the final accomplishment thereof the following facts, gathered from reliable sources, attest:

On the night of the 18th day of July (Monday) M. PARADOL retired at 8 o'clock. The night was extremely warm, and before parting with his attaché he gave instructions not to be disturbed until 5 A. M. the next day. The order to be called at such an unseasonable hour gave rise to some comment, but as he had acquired the habit of an early riser, the matter, after some little conjecture, was passed over. At the hour designated, 5 A. M., his valet entered his chamber, the door having been left unlocked, and found the Minister sleeping, breathing very heavily and apparently laboring under the effect of a strong narcotic. The valet called him, but failed thereby to arouse him from his lethargic slumber, and only after repeated calls and shakings did he restore him to consciousness. When fully aroused the Minister had such a wild and vacant look that the attendant, having never heretofore seen him in such a condition, ran from the room frightened, and called assistance. The housekeeper was called into requisition, and found under his pillow a four-ounce vial of chloroform, about one-half an ounce remaining in the bottle. Upon gaining his feet, PARADOL exclaimed, "Alas, unsuccessful!" and forthwith broke into an irritable and excited strain, and ordered the servants from the room. The matter was communicated to the members of the Legation, and from that hour was a constant watch kept over him, fearing that the attempt thus unsuccessful in its result would be renewed.

The day following, (Tuesday,) he remained in his room almost during the entire day. In the evening, in company with one of the members of the Legation, he took a walk and discussed the prospects of the war about then inaugurated between France and Prussia. On Wednesday morning he visited Secretary FISH at the State Department, and while there seemed to be laboring under a severe mental excitement. Afterward he and Marquis DE CHAMBRUN walked through the city, during which the purchase of the pistol was made at the hardware store of JOSEPH SAVAGE, on Pennsylvania-avenue. About 8 o'clock PARADOL returned to his residence and partook of tea, seeming quite sprightly. A few minutes before he retired to his room, giving instructions to be called at an early hour in the morning. That was the morning which found him a corpse. A little after 1 o'clock his valet, hearing the report of a pistol, entered his room and found him lifeless. The particulars of his death by the pistol are already known, but that a subsequent failure to destroy his life on that night by laudanum has never before been given to the world. When his valet entered the room he found in the bureau an empty vial of laudanum which would contain four ounces. This PARADOL undoubtedly took, and the potion proved too much, causing nausea, which compelled him to emit it from his stomach, the evidence of which was too plainly visible at his bedside. The supposition is that, failing to succeed in his destruction, by the means of chloroform and laudanum, he deliberately made the third attempt, and used the bullet to end his career.

PARADOL was an Orleanist and a great friend of M. THIERS. Always a Republican at heart, he accepted with great reluctance the position as representative of the French Government to the United States. When he left Paris peace reigned, although with every foreboding of an early war. Scarcely had he arrived in our country when the declaration of war was made, and M. THIERS, his warmest friend, mobbed. From that hour he became a changed man. The idea seemed to impress him strongly that he had been sent to this country by NAPOLEON simply to be betrayed. He was suspicious of the Legation at Washington, and apparently thought that his every action was watched on account of his strong republican principles, which conflicted in a great measure with the dynasty then ruling France. This one feeling became almost a mania, and sooner than appear, as he probably thought, the ridicule of men, he sought the only means left to shirk the great responsibility attached to his office.

SOME COWHIDING.

A Senator's Son Attacks a Veteran Editor in Trenton, N. J., and Gets a Sound Thrashing—The Young Reprobate to be Prosecuted—Excitement in Trenton.

No New-Jersey town has for months past had a sensation more absorbing than that which took the City of Trenton by surprise yesterday morning. At about 11 o'clock, ROBERT F. STOCKTON, (son of United States Senator STOCKTON,) a young scapegrace whose ruffianly exploits these columns have from time to time recorded, attempted to cowhide Col. J. R. FREESE, the proprietor of the Daily Sentinel, and received a sound whipping at the hands of the Colonel. STOCKTON walked into Col. FREESE's banking-house, in State-street, soon after its opening for the day's business, and loudly called for the proprietor. Col. FREESE politely answered him, when STOCKTON exhibited a copy of the Daily Sentinel, containing an account of a brutal assault by STOCKTON upon a young shop-keeper. The article exhibited spoke of STOCKTON as a dangerous young ruffian who ought to be indicted. The article contained nothing that has not been published over and over again in the New-York papers, in which the details of STOCKTON's last fight were also given, and was not written by FREESE, but by one of the subordinates in the editorial office of the Sentinel. Col. FREESE refused to make the apology that was demanded by the young man, and the latter commenced immediately to use more forcible arguments. Drawing a stiff cowhide from under his coat, he attacked FREESE, laying it on in energetic style over head and ears. Col. FREESE put himself on the defensive, caught STOCKTON by the collar, and dealt him several blows with his heavy cane, breaking the stick over his assailant's head. He then took the cowhide from STOCKTON and belabored him with that until the latter broke away and ran, crying with pain, from the office. As the vanquished assailant ran down the street, a crowd of boys, who had by some means ascertained what was going on, followed him with yells of derision.

The excitement caused by the affair is intense, and the young man whose attempt to make himself notorious met with such disastrous results, finds very little sympathy. Col. FREESE is well known throughout the State, having been years ago the editor of the State Gazette. For several years past he has carried on a large banking business in Trenton, and it has been only recently that he has resumed his connection with newspapers by purchasing an interest in the Daily Sentinel, of which he is now publisher. His assailant belongs to a class of young men presuming upon their father's wealth and respectability, in outraging the moral sense of the community. It is stated that his case will be laid before the Mercer County Grand Jury at its next meeting.

It appears from the statements of the station agent at Morrisville, Penn., on the opposite side of the river from Trenton, that after STOCKTON ran bareheaded down the street, he came to the Morrisville Station, pawned his watch for $25, and took the through train for Washington.

Col. FREESE states that on Wednesday afternoon, STOCKTON attempted to strike him while he was alone in his office, but was frightened away when he found that the Colonel was prepared for him. Officer SKILLMAN was called upon to arrest the assailant, but refused to do so.

Dangerous Experiments—Fire in a Brooklyn Hotel—Two Men and a Boy Severely Burned.

About noon yesterday an accident occurred in room No. 36 of the Brooklyn House, situated in Brooklyn, near Hamilton Ferry, which for a time placed that building in jeopardy. It appears that the occupant of the room mentioned was one JOHN TETRO, an amateur chemist, who has for some time back spent much time in making experiments in his chosen science. Yesterday he was assisted in his work by Mr. S. H. BRADFORD, of New-York, and a small boy named WILLIAM KELLY, and the particular object of their attention was a pot of crude petroleum, which they placed in a ring over a gas jet, with the intention of distilling it. The ring in question proved to be too large for the vessel, which was, of course, permitted to drop through it, in doing which some of the oil was spilled upon the flame. The result was an explosion, the burning of three experimenters in the most shocking manner, and the communication of the fire to all parts of the room. The victims rushed down stairs and informed the persons at the office of what had transpired, and several of these latter, armed with blankets and buckets of water, repaired at once to the scene of the disaster. On entering the room it was found to be one mass of flame, but by a skillful use of the appliances mentioned the fire was subdued before it could communicate with any other parts of the house. The consternation which this little affair created among some of the nervous female inmates of the house can scarcely be described. One in particular, confined on the second floor, made the whole neighborhood ring with her cries to be carried out to the street, and it was not until she had seen her husband, the doctor, and the landlord that she could be persuaded to rest in her bed in peace. BRADFORD and the boy were taken to their respective homes and TRETO was taken in charge by the proprietor, Mr. CHAS. D. HALL. The total damage is estimated at $200.

The Census Enumerators Want More Pay.

The assistant marshals appointed to take the census in this City propose to meet on Monday evening next, at Runk's Hotel, No 274 Grand-street, for the purpose of adopting further measures towards securing an advance in their pay by Congress. They think that they are very poorly compensated for their services, and that they should receive three cents, instead of two, per name, their present pay. They do not receive any more now than was paid ten years ago for the same work.

A Desperate Youth—He Attempts Seven Murders in Ten Months.

THOMAS POTTER, a youth only sixteen years old, but whose name is well known in the records of the Police Courts in connection with several daring burglaries, was arraigned at the Jefferson Market Court, yesterday, before Judge FOWLER, when several distinct charges of attempted murder were alleged against him. These charges embrace a number of assaults on unoffending citizens and Police officers in the execution of their duty, and while they develop an extraordinary degree of depravity, recklessness and crime, show, also, a considerable amount of ability and tact on the part of the prisoner. On the evening of the 9th July last, POTTER entered the liquor-saloon of HENRY JENTA, No. 406 Tenth-avenue, and demanded some cigars. JENTA had some doubt as to the certainty of his receiving payment for his property, and asked that the price be paid in advance. With an oath, POTTER produced a revolver and fired at Mr. JENTA, the ball taking effect in his thigh. The latter fell, and as his bar-tender, HENRY KOESTER, ran to his assistance, he fired at him also, but fortunately missed his aim, and then escaped. A man, named EDWARD CONNER, who participated with him in this affray, was arrested and convicted. A warrant was then issued for his apprehension, and a few days subsequently Roundsman HUBBARD attempted to arrest him on Eighth-avenue, when he fired a revolver at him, one ball entering the officer's coat. HUBBARD, assisted by Officer CLAYTON, pursued him, and, after firing at them twice, the prisoner succeeded in eluding arrest. On the 27th of September, POTTER was engaged in a serious row in Tenth-avenue, when Officer KELLY, of the Twentieth Precinct, arrested him, and in attempting to take him into custody received two stabs of a bowie-knife in the arm and chest, when his prisoner escaped. POTTER then appears to have remained in obscurity until the 22d of October, when he met JOHN MCAULIFFE, of No. 435 West Twenty-ninth-street, in Tenth-avenue, and, without any provocation, fired the contents of a revolver at him. One of the balls struck MCAULIFFE on the boot, but did no further harm. A few hours later, Officer ATCHINSON, of the Twentieth Precinct, attempted to arrest him on the complaint of MCAULIFFE, when he discharged a pistol at his head and then fled.

On the night of the election he shot JOHN GALVIN in a quarrel, and would have killed him but for the interference of the bystanders. Fortune on all occasions appeared to have favored his escape, and it was only on Thursday evening his arrest was secured. On that evening Detectives BRICE and MCDONNELL were passing through Tenth-avenue, near Twenty-ninth-street, when they saw the prisoner approaching them. They immediately determined on his arrest, but POTTER divined their purpose, and drawing a revolver ran off threatening to shoot any one who should approach him. He ran about five blocks, when, imagining the officers were about to fire at him, he threw down a revolver and bowie-knife, and surrendered. He was arraigned at the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday afternoon, before Judge FOWLER, and held for trial without bail.

The Gold Market.

There was considerable excitement in the Gold Exchange yesterday, but not so great as on Thursday, for the operators appeared to be awaiting definite advices from the other side respecting the result of the present diplomatic controversy. The dispatches received yesterday were almost as contradictory as on the day before, and placing faith in reports of higher prices of bonds in London two prominent brokers sold—one $2,500,000 and the other $1,000,000 during the day. At a late hour, in consequence of the decline in price, they were enabled to buy in their gold. Operators were in a state of uncertainty all day, and came to a definite conclusion only at a late hour in the afternoon, when gold advanced to almost the highest point of the day.

A New Swindle—How Dealers in Counterfeit Money Ply Their Trade.

A few weeks since several gentlemanly-looking men, who stated they dealt in the stationary business, engaged offices in No. 668 Broadway, and under the name of William Cooper & Co., C. Bertiné & Co., John Daly & Co., and other fictitious names, issued advertisements in the local papers informing the public that large quantities of counterfeit money could be obtained at a merely nominal rate. To this advertisement numerous communications were received, but in no instance was an answer returned, it being the policy of the Company to afford no opportunity for a prosecution by transmitting an equivalent in "queer." The nature of the fraud was well known to the authorities, but in the absence of positive information they were unable to make any movement for their apprehension. Yesterday, however, DICKSON HALL, a resident of Rutherford Park, N. J., having seen the advertisements, proceeded in person to their office in Broadway and offered to purchase $50 worth of counterfeit money. One of the firm, whose name was subsequently ascertained to be JAMES WILSON, made a contract with him in reference to the quantity of "queer" he was to receive, and the money was then paid over to JOSEPH CECIL, his partner. He waited in the office for a considerable time in expectation of obtaining the counterfeit money, and his patience becoming exhausted he demanded that they complete the bargain or else return him his money. In reply he was informed of the danger of such a contract, the necessity of preserving secrecy, &c., and, finally, having failed to come to an understanding with them he repaired to the Fifteenth Precinct Police Station, where he gave information of the occurrence. Detectives SHEEDY and MURPHY instantly proceeded to the office on Broadway, and arrested Cecil and Wilson, the principals, together with Frederick Day, Charles E. Magill, George Mitchell, Samuel Florence, Charles Buff and Rudolph Maell, their assistants. A small quantity of counterfeit currency was discovered in their possession, besides a large number of letters, evidently from victims of their imposition. They were arraigned at Jefferson Market Police Court, before Judge FOWLER, in the afternoon, but were remanded to the Station-house until this morning, when they will be brought up for examination.

Art Receptions.

We presume our artists will commence their weekly or monthly receptions so soon as they have any pictures to show. Among the earliest in the field is Mr. JAMES FAIRMAN, who gives his first Saturday reception today at his studio, No. 212 Fifth-avenue.

Interesting Meeting of Teachers.

Yesterday afternoon the teachers of the Children's Aid Society's schools held a meeting at the Thirteenth Ward Industrial School, No. 327 Rivington-street. Besides a full attendance of the principal teachers there were present C. L. BRACE, Esq., Secretary, J. W. SKINNER, Esq., Superintendent of Schools, Messrs. MACY, DUPUY and HOLSTE, of the Society, and others. Mr. SKINNER was called upon to preside, and after prayer, led by Mr. DUPUY, introduced to the meeting Miss ANDREWS, Principal of the Avenue B. school, who was present with one of her classes to give an exhibition of the "object" system of teaching. Miss ANDREWS' subject was "The Lobster," which she treated in a lucid and interesting manner, eliciting from her pupils by a process of clever questioning, the principal facts regarding its organism and habits of life. The teacher had a veritable living specimen of the crustacean on the table before her, which, during the lesson, protested against her unceremonious handling by indulging in frantic gyrations, which kept the children at a safe distance from its claws. Considerable interest was added to the meeting by Prof. LEIGH, who briefly illustrated his system of pronouncing orthography." On the motion of Mr. BRACE, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Miss ANDREWS for her instructive lesson, after which an hour or so was spent in pleasant social intercourse.

Probable Indictment of a Professional Bondsman.

FRANCIS MELBORN was held to await the action of the Grand Jury by Commissioner SHIELDS, yesterday, on a charge of subornation of perjury. The evidence taken during his examination showed that he induced CHARLES TRIPP, by offers of money, to make false statements about his property for the purpose of having him accepted as a bondsman for the release of R. B. CALDWELL, the drawback conspirator. It is said that MELBORN belongs to a gang of professional bondsmen, who make their head-quarters at No. 6 Centre-street.

A Man Killed by a Pie-Wagon—His Wife Sues for $5,000.

In the Superior Court, Trial Term, Part II., yesterday, before Judge JONES and a jury, the case of MARY S. NORRIS, administratrix, vs. JOHN F. KOHLER, was tried. This is an action by plaintiff to recover $5,000 for the death of her husband. On the 24th of August, 1867, the husband was standing by the side of his cart, in Monroe-street, when the horse and pie-wagon of the defendant, which had run away, came in collision with him and killed him instantaneously. This was charged to the negligence of the defendant in permitting his horse to stand on the public street uncared for. The defense was that the deceased was guilty of contributive negligence in not avoiding the runaway horse, while, as defendant claims, he might have done so.

Up to a late hour the jury had failed to agree, and the Court ordered a sealed verdict.

Imprisonment of Innocent Cigar-Makers.

An examination was held before Commissioner DAVENPORT, yesterday, in the case of PHILIP HAMELBERGER, proprietor of a cigar factory in Columbia-street; MANDLES BURGHER, EDWARD HOURAN and AGNES SHIHALT, employes at the place, jointly charged with selling cigars in unstamped boxes. The evidence completely exonerated all of the accused, with the exception of BURGHER, the foreman of the factory, who was shown to have sold some cigars which were not stamped. It is said that the prisoners have threatened to commence a suit for false imprisonment against one BEATTY, who, they say, is an over-zealous member of Col. WHITLEY's Government detective force, and made the complaint on which they were arrested, and had them locked up without any testimony to substantiate the charge.

Drunken Policemen—Two More Unfortunates.

Commissioner BOSWORTH had a calendar of only twenty-three cases yesterday, but there were several of these in which very grave offenses were not only alleged but proven, of which the most serious were drunkenness on duty, which seems to be a very common failing of late of the Police, and especially among the new appointments.

JOHN MCENROE, patrolman, of the Twentieth Precinct, was found by two citizens on post on West Thirty-ninth-street, so very drunk as to be dangerous, and they hastened to the Station-house to give information of his condition. A roundsman was at once sent out to bring him in, which being done MCENROE became very disorderly in the house, flatly refusing to obey the order of Sergt. VAN HAGEN to go to bed, and insisting upon making an entry on the blotter, which he had no right to do under any circumstances. He was finally subdued by a threat to lock him up. His case was referred to the Board, and, as there was another charge against him, of being off post for fifty-eight minutes, he will probably be dismissed.

Patrolman JAMES T. SMITH, also of the Twentieth, was likewise charged with this offense, it being stated that, not being found on post, he was finally discovered in a lager-beer saloon dead drunk. He pleaded "coho since his birth" in bar of the charge, saying he was taken with a severe spasm and was forced to go into the saloon and sit down, where he unfortunately fell asleep. His exceedingly romantic story was met by Judge BOSWORTH with the remark when referring the case to the Board, that SMITH would not have another chance to fall asleep in a lager-beer saloon while a policeman. At a meeting of the Board, held in the afternoon, both these men were dismissed. The Board also retired Patrolmen EDWARD LOUGHLIN, Nineteenth Precinct, and THOMAS AITKIN, Eighteenth Precinct, upon pensions of $350 per annum each.

Paying Off the Voters—Tammany Officials Besieged.

Yesterday morning, at 11 o'clock, gangs of laborers to the number of from five to six hundred assembled in the new Court-house and took possession of the lobby outside the County Treasurer's office. These were portions of the "free and independent voters of the Twelfth Ward," employed on the public works for some days prior to the election. They had called for payment for important services rendered to the City authorities, and to their disgust and indignation were told they could not be paid just now. They were not to be put off so easily; and they assumed a threatening attitude, resolved every man of them to touch the stamps or know the reason why. One man swore he "wasn't going to be done, and would "blow the gaff if he didn't get his $65 and no more humbuggin'," a sentiment warmly applauded. Another with an injured air asked did any one know how often he voted, and did any fellow expect he would allow himself to be "chiseled." Another complained that though the "work" was "all in his eye," still an' all he lost his time so many days, to say nothing of all the votes he recorded for the Tammany ticket. Very soon the front entrance to the Court-house was blocked up by the excited throng, and a policeman vainly flourished his baton, politely requesting them to "move in or out and lave the passage clear;" he was peremptorily told to take himself off to that region where warm berths are provided for defunct Tammany officials. A number of Sheriff's notices to "all persons having claims," caught the eye of a laborer whose accomplishments embraced one of the three R's, and when he read out the printed heading there was an instant rush, every man feeling that he had a claim, and determined to enforce it. When the meaning of the documents was discovered, the crowd gave vent to their disappointment in a renewed volley of oaths, and one man deliberately stepped down and squirted a mouthful of tobacco juice on the portrait of "the ballot, not bullet," candidate which adorned the outer wall. Upstairs, matters assumed a very uncomfortable aspect for the besieged official. The lobby outside the Treasurer's office was almost impassable, and every one forcing his way through the angry crowd was edified to hear the unanimous determination expressed to make Tammany sorry for keeping them out of their wages. A policeman, baton in hand, kept watch and ward over the entrance to the Treasurer's office. Just when every one was expecting something startling to happen, some five or six new arrivals elbowed their way through the crowds upstairs and outside, and commenced reasoning with them, showing that it was unfair to expect that the new gangs could be paid the same day as the old gangs, and it "couldn't be done, no how, the thing was so complicated and mixed up." After a time the arguments used calmed down the excitement, and the crowds gradually melted away, but dozens remained at the outer door, gazing with irresistible fascination at the Sheriff's invitation to "all persons having claims."

Operations of a Counterfeiter and Letter-Thief.

A warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of H. J. GILBERT, a young man who held the position of postmaster, telegraph-operator and baggage-clerk at Spuyten Duyvil, at the upper end of New-York Island. He is charged with passing counterfeit Treasury notes, and with stealing money-letters from the mails. For some time past it has been observed that numerous money-letters addressed to places along the line of the Hudson River Railway failed to reach their destination, and that bad bills were being circulated very freely among the railroad passengers. Col. WHITLEY, of the secret service force, finally made an investigation on receiving information about the matter. He traced the loss of the letters to GILBERT by means of a decoy letter, and he also found that the latter was the dealer in the spurious money, one of his detectives having obtained some from the accused. GILBERT was apprehended yesterday afternoon, and will be arraigned today at the United States Commissioner's Office. It is said that several thousand dollars has been taken by him from the mails.

Confessed Forgers, Thieves and Swindlers—Prisoners Before the Court of General Sessions.

At the Court of General Sessions, yesterday, Judge BEDFORD presiding, the following sentences were imposed: FRANCIS B. KERSTING, guilty of obtaining $6 from ELIZABETH WENENDORF, on an order purporting to be signed by ARNOLD FOUREIN, was sent to the Penitentiary for one month; THOMAS RAYMOND was sent to State Prison for two years, for stealing from SAMUEL H. FAIR; THOMAS NEELY and PATRICK DEAN, guilty of a violent assault on Policeman MICHAELS, was each sentenced to one year's imprisonment, and to pay a fine of $250.

JAS. M. ROBINSON, alias Jefferson, charged with falsely obtaining $86 worth of silk from J. H. REED & Co., of No. 410 Broadway, by representing himself as a wealthy merchant named W. H. ARMSTRONG, of Russeliville, Ky., was sent to State Prison for three years.

FRANCIS MULLER, who confessed to a charge of larceny, was discharged on suspended sentence at the request of the complainant. The following prisoners were remanded:

CHARLES WARNIER, petit larceny; ISAAC WILLIAMS, larceny of sleeve buttons from MICHAEL C. MURPHY, of No. 67 Varick-street; PAUL SMITH, forgery, and PATRICK TIERNEY, burglary. The Court then adjourned until Monday.

Two Half-Famished Sailors Charged With Attempted Arson at Sea.

ISAIAH S. GRINDLE, master of the American ship Old Colony, complained at the United States Commissioner's office, yesterday, against RAYMOND RAU and FRANCIS FRANK, Italian seamen, charging them with conspiracy to create a mutiny and to fire the vessel during a voyage from Cadiz, Spain, to this port in October last. They were brought in irons to this City. They presented a very woful and half-famished appearance, and showed evidence of bad treatment on their faces, which were marked by cuts and bruises. It was thought that they were more "sinned against than sinning." They were sent to Ludlow-street Jail to await an examination.

Suit to Recover $20,000, Alleged to Have Been Embezzled.

In the Superior Court, Trial Term, Part I., yesterday, before Judge MCCUNN and a jury, the case of HARRISON R. JOHNSON vs. AUGUSTUS L. THOMAS was tried. This is an action to recover $20,000 alleged to have been embezzled by defendant from plaintiff while the former was book-keeper and cashier for the latter. It is charged by plaintiff that defendant while in his employ embezzled from time to time large sums of money by means of false entries, false additions of the daily cash, and in some instances by entries of bank deposits in the margin of the check-book exceeding the actual deposits in bank. The proof for plaintiff consisted mainly of the books kept by the defendant, which showed false additions and other errors, amounting to about $14,000 or $15,000. The defendant was put upon the stand, and testified that these errors were all mere book-keeping errors in the ordinary course of business; that all the entries that were wrong were mere mistakes, and that he never appropriated any of the moneys belonging to plaintiff. The plaintiff relied entirely on the entries in the books to prove the embezzlements.

The jury failed to agree after a long absence, and a sealed verdict was ordered.

ANTHON & LEE for plaintiff; S. H. RANDALL for defendant.

Voorhees, Formerly a Merchant and Broker, Sent to State Prison.

The trial of HENRY S. VOORHEES, commenced on Friday, was resumed at the Court of General Sessions, yesterday, before Judge BEDFORD. The accused was indicted on a charge of having obtained $15,000 worth of Mobile and Montgomery Railroad bonds from SOUTTER & Co. on a forged and falsely-certified check on the Market Bank. Messrs. JOHN STOUT, lawyer; J. C. LATOURETTE, merchant, and JOSEPH M. LIPPINCOTT, fruit dealer, were called as witnesses for the defense, for the purpose of proving good character for the prisoner. It appeared from this testimony that VOORHEES was formerly a dry-goods merchant in New-Jersey, besides being a real estate broker at No. 218 Fulton-street, New-York. VOORHEES said that he got the bonds from one VAN OLINDA, and that he knew nothing whatever about the forgery. Police Captain PETTY and Officer GILBERT were called to give evidence for the prosecution. The case was then left to the jury without being summed up on either side. A verdict of guilty was given, and VOORHEES was sent to the State Prison for five years.

The Surrogate's Court.

The Court-room occupied by Hon. R. C. HUTCHINGS, Surrogate, in the new Court-house, is at present undergoing repair. The ceilings are being frescoed, and such other improvements are in progress as will, when completed, render it more attractive. During next week and until further notice, the Surrogate's Court will be held in the Court-room, Part I., of the Common Pleas, situate on the upper part in the same building. The private office of Surrogate HUTCHINGS has recently been newly frescoed, and the work being completed under his personal supervision, it has been well done and presents a very tasteful appearance.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

No. 227.—Robert S. Stevens vs. Victoria Smith, and Nos. 28 and 29.—Errors to the Supreme Court of Kansas.—These cases are heard together, as they involve the same questions. By the sixth article of the treaty between the Government and the Kansas Indians, of 3d June, 1825, certain reservations were made to each of certain-named half-breeds, among whom were the parents of the defendants in these cases. The parties went into possession, and their heirs subsequently conveyed by deed portions of their reservations to Stevens, the plaintiff in error. Suits were afterward brought by the grantors to recover the land so conveyed, on the ground that they were, by the provisions of the treaty and the laws of the United States, incapable of alienating the lands. These suits were decided in favor of the Indians, the Court refusing to allow the documents purporting to be deeds to Stevens, to be introduced as evidence, holding that the grantors named therein could convey no title. To that decision this writ of error is taken, and the plaintiff in error contends that upon the survey and location of the sections reserved, and the delivery of possession to the grantees named in the treaty, they were by the terms of the treaty, respectively clothed with a fee simple title in the reservations, and that no further act was necessary on the part of the Government to forfeit their title. But if this is not found to be so, then it is maintained that by the act of May, 1860, the fee was passed to the reservees, and thereafter they had the right to make a deed to the property, and to convey the fee. That act recites that the land reserved had been surveyed and allotted to each of the half-breeds named, and in accordance with the provisions of the article named. It then enacts "that all the title, interest and estate of the United States is hereby vested in the said reservees, who are now living on the land reserved, but that nothing herein contained shall be construed to give any force or efficacy or binding effect to any contract in writing or otherwise, for the sale or disposition of any lands named in this act heretofore made by any of the said reservees or their heirs." It is contended that the word heretofore used in the act by implication authorizes a sale or tranfer after it, and as the conveyances in dispute in these cases were made after the passage of the act, the title conveyed is valid. The defendants in error insist that the provision of the same act, which made it necessary for the Secretary of the Interior to convey for the reservees, in case they should wish to dispose of their lands, make it clear that Congress did not intend to invest the fee for purposes of alienation in the Indians; and it is submitted that the rule of law that "all contracts which are contrary to the provisions of any statute are void," should be applied. The act was intended to protect the Indians against their own improvidence, and they are entitled to its benefit in that particular.

J. H. Bradley, J. W. Denver and Jas. Hughes for plaintiff in error; Judge Black for defendant.

No. 238.—George W. Barnard, Plaintiff in Error, vs. E. N. Kellogg et al.—Error to the Circuit for the District of Connecticut.—In 1864 Mr. Barnard was a commission merchant in Boston, and had received from a shipper in Buenos Ayres a quantity of wool, on which he had paid advances. Part of the consignment was placed in the hands of brokers in that city, with instructions not to sell unless the purchaser came to Boston and examined the wool for himself. Subsequently (in August, 1864) a sale was made to Kellogg, on account of his firm, (E. N. Kellogg & Co., of New-York,) he having in person examined four bales, and declining to have more opened for his inspection. In May, 1865, Kellogg & Co. notified Mr. Barnard that the wool was falsely packed, which was the fact, but theretofore unknown to Mr. Barnard. On the trial it was shown that, by the custom of wool-dealers in New-York and Boston, there is a warranty by the seller, implied from the fact of sale, that the wool is not falsely packed. Upon these facts two questions arise: First, is such a custom a legal and valid one? and second, if it is legal and valid, is the seller bound by it when he expressly stipulates that the purchaser shall examine the wool to his own satisfaction before purchase?

The Circuit Court sustained the custom, and decided in favor of the purchaser, and the question here is, whether that decision was error, the plaintiff in error maintaining that it is contrary to the rule of caveat emptor, and so entirely at variance with that rule as to be illegal. The defendants in error contend that the law of custom, in trade regulations, is well established, and that the Courts have long sustained them in it.

Charles E. Perkins for plaintiff in error; Welch & Shipman for defendants.

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM—Nov. 18.

Before Presiding Justice Ingraham and Judges Cardozo and Barnard.

RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF COMMON CARRIERS.

Charles Goodwin et al. vs. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.—This action was brought against the defendants, as common carriers, to recover damages resulting to the plaintiffs through the alleged negligence of the defendants, whereby a lot of sheet-iron, consigned to the plaintiffs, became wet and rusted before it was delivered, and while on the Pier No. 13, East River, in September, 1865. The case was first tried before Judge Miller, and a verdict rendered for the plaintiffs. This verdict was set aside at Special Term. It was again tried in January, 1869, before Judge Cardozo, and a verdict was then rendered for the plaintiffs. The Railroad Company appealed to this Court from the latter verdict. The points relied upon by the Company to set aside the verdict, are mainly objections taken to the Judge's charge in regard to the Company's continued liability as carriers after the goods had been landed upon the pier. They say the remarks made by the Judge to the jury upon that point were calculated to mislead the jury. They also claim that the Judge erred in refusing to charge that "under the evidence the defendants were under no obligation put the iron in a warehouse, and that the covering of the iron by the stevedore, as proved, was all the duty which, under the circumstances, the Company owed to the plaintiffs."

On the other hand the plaintiffs, while admitting that they had a reasonable time, in view of all the circumstances, after notice of the arrival of the iron, to take it away, yet they were unable to do so previous to the storm, owing to the act of the Company in placing the iron upon the extreme end of the pier, which pier was so blocked up that the iron could not be got at; that plaintiffs used all reasonable means to get the iron away after notice, by sending daily, and several times a day, their carman, who was unable to get at the iron owing to the crowd of goods on the pier. It was the duty of the Company to have placed the iron in such a position that plaintiffs, by ordinary means, could get at it. They also say that the covering alleged to have been on the iron was not sufficient to protect it.

The decision of the Court was reserved.

For plaintiffs and respondents, Mr. M. L. Townsend; for the defendants and appellants, Mr. Waldo Hutchins.

SUPERIOR COURT—SPECIAL TERM—Nov. 18.

Before Judge Spencer.

SUIT TO RECOVER WITNESS' FINE—DEMURRER.

Horne vs. Devlin.—This action was brought for the recovery of a fine of $50 for non-attendance as a witness in obedience to a subpœna. The defendant demurred to the complaint on the ground that it did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action, in that it did not allege the materiality of the testimony which it was intended to offer by the defendant: that it did not allege the plaintiff was aggrieved by the defendant's absence; that the witness refused to attend without giving a reasonable excuse; or, that he (plaintiff) had sustained any injury thereby. Judge SPENCER took the papers and reserved his decision.

N. Watson, for plaintiff; N. Trull, for defendant.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART I.—Nov. 18.

Before Judge McCunn and a Jury.

CORPORATION PROMISSORY NOTES.

Bayer vs. The Hercules Mutual Life Insurance Company.—The plaintiff sued the defendants to recover the amount of a promissory note made by defendants. The defense was that notwithstanding the note was signed by the President and Secretary of the Company, it was made before the full organization of the Company, and that its proceeds did not go for the use and benefit of the Company.

The Judge directed a verdict for the plaintiff for $1,574 10.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART II.—Nov. 18.

Before Judge Jones and a Jury.

A WOMAN GETS THE BEST OF A MAN IN A REAL ESTATE TRANSACTION.

Henry Stübben vs. Louisa Roos.—The defendant was the owner of house and lot No. 81 Essex-street, in this City, and representing to the plaintiff that it brought her in a rental of ten per cent. on the purchase price, induced the plaintiff to conclude a contract for the purchase of the premises for the sum of $17,000. Plaintiff alleges that he paid a deposit of $200, and incurred an additional expense of $75 in searching the title, and that he would have cleared a profit of $750 on the purchase if it had been completed, all of which he seeks to recover from the defendant, on the ground that she misrepresented the income of the premises. The evidence is quite voluminous, solely on the value and reasonable income of the property. The case is still on.

David T. McMahon for plaintiff; Charles Wehle for defendant.

COMMON PLEAS—TRIAL TERM—PART I.—Nov. 18.

Before Judge Robinson and a Jury.

IMPORTANT COMMERCIAL SUIT—ALLEGED FRAUDULENT TRANSFER OF COTTON TO THE AMOUNT OF $100,000.

Henry J. Gardner vs. William Rowe et al.—The plaintiff in this case represents the firm of Gardner, Bacon & Co., large cotton merchants of this City, and the defendants the New-York Warehouse and Security Company. The suit is brought to recover the value of 311 bales of cotton alleged to have been fraudulently obtained from the plaintiffs by the firm of Brindell & Co., cotton brokers, at the time of the transaction, in this City, and by the latter—they having, as alleged, no legal title thereto—transferred to the defendants to cover former advances amounting to $28,000. Plaintiff claims, as stated in the opening of his counsel, Mr. Larocque, that this cotton was a cash sale; that the weighing and turning out of the cotton occupied three days; that the weigher's certificate was sent to Brindell & Co., on Saturday forenoon, and the messenger was informed that a check would be ready at 1 o'clock; that at 1 o'clock Brindell and Co., were not found at their office, and settlement had to be postponed until Monday; that on Monday the failure of Brindell & Co. was announced to plaintiff, who demanded the return of the cotton, claiming that this being a cash sale, according to the universal custom of the trade, no title to the cotton could pass until payment had been made. The cotton had in the meantime been stored with the defendant, and some negotiations followed for its return to the possession of the plaintiff, in which it was disclosed that Brindell & Co. had been in the habit of storing all their cotton with the defendants and getting advances thereon; that so far as could be discovered the firm of Brindell & Co. had no capital, but were trading merely upon margins; that at the time they purchased this cotton they were in debt to defendants for advances to the amount of $28,000; that in order to cover up the true nature of this transaction, there was an understanding between defendants and Brindell & Co. that the former would make an advance of $40,000 on this lot of cotton, out of which sum Brindell & Co. would pay back the existing debt of $28,000. The transaction was therefore consummated by the defendants giving Brindell & Co. their check for $40,000, Brindell & Co. depositing it in bank, and giving the defendants a return check for $28,000. For this advance of $40,000, defendants claimed the right to hold the cotton. The only banking business which Brindell & Co. transacted on Monday was to deposit the defendants' check, draw against it in their favor for $28,000, draw a second check in favor of the cashier of another bank for $1,800 to make their account good, and leave the balance to meet their account in their own bank, which had been overdrawn $10,000. Plaintiff now seeks to recover the value of the cotton on the ground that no title passed from plaintiff, and that the possession of the property was obtained by fraud, to which defendants were parties.

The cause, owing to the absence of a juror, was postponed until next term.

McFarland and Larocque appear on behalf of plaintiff; Joseph H. Choate and Ex-Attorney-General William M. Evarts for defendants.

WHEN IS A BUILDING TOTALLY DESTROYED?

Horner, Stone & Co., vs. The Beekman Fire Insurance Company.—This action is brought to recover $5,000 insurance on a lease of premises No. 450 Broadway. The lease to plaintiff contained a provision that in case the premises were totally destroyed by fire, so as to make it necessary to be rebuilt, and payment of rent shall have been made up to the time of such destruction by fire, then the lease was to be canceled. These conditions, plaintiffs claim, were fulfilled, and they accordingly made demand on the defendant for the $5,000 insurance, which was refused, on the ground that the amount of damage did not have the effect of canceling the lease, and the Company was only responsible, according to the terms of the policy, when "the damage was such as to effect a canceling of the lease." The plaintiff's testimony tended to show that a person could stand in the cellar of the building and see clear to the sky, and that the walls, having been subjected to fire before, were in such a condition as to make it necessary to rebuild the premises.

The further trial of the cause has been adjourned to next term.

Brown, Hall and Vanderpool for plaintiffs; Fullerton and Knox for defendant.

Board adjourned in consequence of the death of Mr. E. A. WEEKS.

FRIDAY, Nov. 18—P. M.

There is increased excitement in the Gold market today, and an eager pressure to sell the Railway Stocks at the Stock Exchange; all incidental to the War feeling in Europe and the very feverish Cable quotations from London and the Continent. Singular to say that our Public Funds here fluctuate but slightly, and the amounts offered and amounts bid for equally inconsiderable. This was not so on the Franco-Prussian outbreak in July. Then immense transactions occurred every day in this market, as in London and Frankfort in 5-20s, corresponding with the heavy speculation then going on in our Gold Room. This speculation is renewed, on the present War fever, to the same enormous extent, while 5-20s are comparatively quiet both for cash delivery and on time. It is curious to notice that Gold runs up or down on the Cable telegrams more with reference to 5-20s, as quoted from London, than to the English funds, which should be the real barometer to the political feeling of the moment. The sales of all descriptions of our Public Funds at the Exchange Board today amount to less than half a million, while the business in the Gold Room, of which there is no regular record kept, probably reached six or eight millions. The explanation of this wide difference is, that there is no paying margin on the importation of 5-20s, and no heavy lots ordered sold for foreign account by cable, as in July.

The purchases of Gold were chiefly made by two or three German-American houses, on advices of great agitation in Frankfort and Berlin, as well as London, and the alarm felt in all these markets that a War between Russia and England would at once involve Prussia, as the ally of Russia, and Austria (with a heavy account to settle with the Berlin Cabinet for the disaster of Sadowa) and Italy and Turkey also, as allies of England and parties to the Treaty of Paris. Our information through banking sources is that the pressure to sell all European securities marketable in London, on orders from Frankfort, Berlin and other Continental markets, is so constant and considerable today as to keep that market at fever heat on the War question. The private quotations through the day were generally lower than the Press dispatches. On this news Gold has been bought by the million, as a speculation, and not for export or to cover 5-20s. Of course, if the Russian question is peaceably adjusted, the operation will result in loss, while if war breaks out, the calculation is the Gold may soon be wanted abroad. The difference in this calculation from last July is that we are now in the midst of the Cotton season and of an active export market for Breadstuffs and Provisions, furnishing all the Exchange that may be wanted to settle Trade balances within the Specie shipping point. But on the other hand, while Gold may not be immediately wanted for export, the buyers argue that a European War involving England must necessarily be one of immense proportions and the most alarming and disturbing consequences to the commerce of the world, and that the value of Gold, therefore, whether held here for eventualities or immediately shipped abroad, must become more valuable.

The sales of Gold ranged 112⅞@112¾@113⅛@113@113½ ₱ cent., the quotation standing 113⅛ ₱ cent. at 3 o'clock P. M. at the close of Bank hours. The sales of 5-20s of 1867 were at 109@109½ ₱ cent., and of 10-40s at 106⅛@106⅜ ₱ cent., the same as yesterday.

In the New-York and Western Railroad speculation a large business was pressed at lower figures than yesterday by ⅛@1 ₱ cent. at the morning Board of the Exchange, and in the Long Room in the Afternoon—no Second Board being held, in deference to the funeral of Mr. WEEKS, a member of the Exchange. The bearish feeling against the market, as noticed for some days past, had all the advantage of the European excitement, and also of some discouragement on the part of the Bull speculators, although the latter was by no means general, nor was it, to all seeming, participated by the large holders of Stocks. The Southern State Bonds were rather weaker, the Railway Mortgages barely steady, and the Miscellaneous Shares, with the exception of Western Telegraph, indifferently supported. At 4 o'clock the general market had a better look, and there was a partial recovery in prices.

Exchange on London was held at stiff rates—109⅝@109¾ for 60 days, and 110@110¼ sight or short sight. The principal Bankers are indifferent about drawing pending the War suspense abroad, while on the other hand there is no marked anxiety to remit. Money rules steady at 5@6 ₱ cent. on call, and 6@8 ₱ cent. for discounts.

At the close of business in the Long Room and Gold Room, the following quotations were made, as compared with Thursday night:

The Wine & Fruit Reporter, a weekly journal devoted to the specialties of Grape growing and the Wine market, published at No. 45 Beaver-street, is now in its third year, and is conducted with singular care and ability in the interests to which it is devoted. It has a liberal support from advertisers, but its circulation, considering the rapid extension of vineyards in this country and the profitable growth of the grape, is not as general as it deserves to be. The subscription price is $5, and a French edition is published every fortnight for twenty francs.

The week's imports of Foreign Dry Goods have been to the specie value of $2,085,118; amount marketed, $1,741,896.

At the Produce Exchange, the dealings in Flour and Grain were again large, and values were higher throughout. The export purchases of Flour and Wheat were quite extensive, particularly so of new crop Spring and Amber Winter Wheat; and free shipments were made at buoyant rates in the ocean freight line. A fairly active speculative inquiry was noted for Flour, Wheat and Oats. Provisions were quiet; hog products were weak in price. Groceries showed but little animation outside of Java and Rio Coffee, in which a fair trade was reported. Dry Goods and General Merchandise were in light request as a rule. The Cotton interest exhibited less strength toward the close, on restricted sales for prompt delivery, and a very full business in future contracts. The week's receipts at the shipping ports have been 120,111 bales, against 133,000 bales last week, and 80,000 bales the corresponding week of last year. The week's exports from the port have been 86,319 bales, against 56,500 bales last week, and 46,800 same week last year. The stock at the ports this evening is given at 340,000 bales, and the supply here at about 52,500 bales.

Monthly Report No. 2, of the National Bureau of Statistics, (current series,) now in press, exhibits the statistics of our foreign trade for the month of August, 1870, and the eight months ended the same, compared with the corresponding periods in 1869. Mr. EDWARD YOUNG, Chief of the Bureau, obligingly furnishes the following summary of its contents:

Periods.	Imports.	Domestic exports, (specie values.)	Foreign exports, (specie values.)
Month ended Aug. 31, 1870	$44,307,658	$30,113,660	$2,051,486
Month ended Aug. 31, 1869	39,179,058	26,207,168	1,634,583
Eight months ended Aug. 31, 1870	332,142,942	301,280,366	21,112,012
Eight months ended Aug. 31, 1869	326,142,796	226,270,949	19,459,579

It will be seen from this table, that for the eight months ended Aug. 31, 1870, the imports exceeded the exports by only $9,750,564, while for the same period of 1869 the excess of imports over exports was $80,412,268.

Of the total imports for the eight months ended Aug. 31, 1870, $314,538,342 consisted of merchandise, and $17,604,600 of gold and silver; $13,283,817 was free, and $301,254,525 dutiable.

Of the total domestic exports for the same period, $250,301,126 was merchandise, (gold value,) and $50,979,240 gold and silver coin and bullion. Of the foreign exports, $11,399,695 was merchandise, and $9,712,327 gold and silver.

The proportions of the foregoing carried in American and foreign vessels, respectively, during the eight months ended Aug. 31, 1870, as compared with the same period of 1869, were as follows:

	Imports.	Dom. Exp's (mixed val.)	Foreign Exports.
American vessels	$112,747,998	$123,143,479	$10,749,333
Foreign vessels	219,394,944	216,608,608	10,362,679
Total	$332,142,942	$339,752,087	$21,112,012
Eight Months Ended Aug. 31, 1869.
	Imports.	Dom. Exp's (mixed val.)	Foreign Exports.
American vessels	$101,512,726	$83,311,295	$12,439,877
Foreign vessels	224,629,070	198,911,484	7,019,702
Total	$326,142,796	$282,222,779	$19,459,579

The value of foreign commodities remaining in warehouse Aug. 31, 1870, was $56,936,729, against $60,591,849, Aug. 31, 1869.

The following are the values of some of the principal articles imported and exported during the eight months ended Aug. 31, 1870:

IMPORTS.

Animals, living, $5,104,943; coffee, $18,381,528; cotton and manufactures of, $18,015,619; flax and manufactures of, $11,712,422; hides and skins, other than furs, $9,570,633; iron and steel and manufactures of, $22,547,526; leather and leather goods, $7,142,165; manufactures of silk, $17,652,727; brown sugar, $45,434,322; molasses, $10,879,661; tea, $12,343,027; tin and manufactures of, $7,262,799; wines, spirits and cordials, $5,108,659; wood and manufactures of, $6,136,179; wool, (sheep's,) goat's and camel's hair, $3,864,771; manufactures of wool, &c., $26,745,374.

DOMESTIC EXPORTS.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

HARVEY FISK. A. S. HATCH.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH, BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES, No. 5 NASSAU-ST., NEW-YORK, Nov. 16, 1870.

THE FUNDING OF UNITED STATES FIVE-TWENTIES into a first-class security, paying the same rate of interest, (six per cent., gold,) and which cannot be called in under twenty-five years without the consent of the holder, may now be effected at a clear profit of about twenty per cent. by exchanging them for the FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS OF THE CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY—market price today 91—that is $910 for bonds of $1,000.

The Central Pacific Bonds have the advantage of a ready market on both sides of the Atlantic, of regular quotations at the Stock Exchange, and are based on a finished and equipped road, already placed on a stable and profitable basis.

Having originally negotiated these bonds, and being thoroughly acquainted with their soundness and value, we have introduced them as a specialty in our regular business, in connection with our dealings in Government Securities, and recommend them without hesitation to our friends and customers desiring to make investments or to fund their Five-twenties upon advantageous terms without reduction of interest.

FISK & HATCH.

NOTICE TO BANKERS, BROKERS, MERCHANTS AND OTHERS.

The new SHETLAND FRIEZE OVERCOATS, so fashionable this season, can now be had at

COOPER'S

FOR FIFTY DOLLARS.

TWENTY YEAR GOLD BONDS OF THE PORT ROYAL RAILROAD COMPANY.

These bonds are secured by deed of trust to the Union Trust Company of New-York, covering the entire property and franchise of the Company. They bear seven per cent. interest, payable semi-annually in New-York, free of Government tax, and are convertible into the capital stock of the Company, at the option of the holder.

The road traverses the best district of South Carolina; unites the harbor of Port Royal—the finest harbor south of New-York—with Augusta, Ga., and there connects with all the roads which centre at that point.

It forms, with the Savannah and Charleston Road, a line as short as any other from Augusta to Savannah or Charleston, and is the Atlantic or seaboard link in THROUGH lines of road extending west beyond the Mississippi. These facts assure it a business second to that of no railroad in the South, and render its Mortgage Bonds secure beyond any question.

The road will be entirely finished, ready for business, by May 1, 1871.

We confidently recommend these bonds to our friends and customers, as a perfectly sound and profitable investment.

Pamphlets and maps, giving fuller information, sent on application.

We also have a variety of Registered Bonds, issued by towns and counties in Illinois, the interest upon which is collected and paid by the State, for sale on favorable terms.

HENRY H. BOODY & CO., No. 12 Wall-street.

HOWES & MACY, BANKERS.

30 Wall Street, N. Y.

FOUR PER CENT. INTEREST ALLOWED ON DEPOSITS.

The business of this house is the same as an Incorporated Bank.

Persons keeping accounts may deposit and draw as they please, the same as with the City Banks, and will be allowed interest on their daily balances at 4 per cent.

Collections made on any part of the United States or Canada.

Orders for the purchase or sale of the various issues of Government and other Stocks, Bonds, and Gold, promptly executed for the usual commission.

FRUITS—Business in private channels shows less animation, though prices exhibit no important change. Sales have been reported of 4,500 boxes Layer Raisins at $2 75@$2 80, chiefly at $2 75 ₱ box, and job lots of other articles on the basis of our quotations. At auction, sales were made of 3,035 boxes Figs at 14⅛c.@15c; 1,100 cases Figs at 13⅛c.@21⅛c.; and 36,000 drums Figs at 11c.@13⅛c. We quote: Layer Rasins at $2 75@$2 80 ₱ box; Currants at 11⅛c.@12c. ₱ lb.; Almonds, 18c.@19c.; Figs, 11c.@21⅛c.; Turkish Prunes, new, 13⅛c.@14c.; Brazil Nuts, 8⅛c.@9c.; Leghorn Citron, 43c.@43⅛c., ₱ lb. Sardines, in quarter boxes, at 21c. in currency, and 18⅛c., gold.

GRAIN—An unusually brisk business has been reported in Wheat, since our last, at a further sharp rise in prices. The main demand has been for export, though a good speculative inquiry has been noted, with a moderate call for milling; new crop No. 1 Spring has been very freely purchased, partly to arrive and in store, at $1 41@$1 43 for No. 1, chiefly at $1 42 on 'Change, and $1 43 in the afternoon, closing with buyers at $1 43, and holders claiming $1 45 and upward, afloat, ₱ bushel. New crop No. 1 Spring has also been actively dealt in at from $1 38@$1 42½, mainly on 'Change, at $1 40@$1 41, to arrive and afloat; and in the afternoon, $1 42@$1 42½ for prime, afloat. Some New-crop No. 3 and Mixed Spring has been placed at $1 35@$1 38. Old Spring has been moderately sought after, but has been held with more confidence. Red and Amber Western (Winter) Wheat has been in lively request, within a range of from $1 38@$1 47, as extremes, mainly at $1 41@$1 45 for fair Ordinary to Prime Amber, in store, and $1 45@$1 46 for fair to good do., afloat, with small lots of choice reported as high as $1 48@$1 50 ₱ bushel. White Wheat has been more salable and quoted stronger. The general market closed with decided buoyancy, on much lighter offerings, and a free call at the quoted rates, especially for prime new Spring and Amber Winter. The day's receipts of Wheat were limited. Sales have been reported since our last of 403,000 bushels, in store, afloat and to arrive, including White Western at $1 42@$1 67, chiefly at $1 45@$1 55; Red and Western last at $1 38@$1 47, chiefly Amber at $1 41@$1 45; No. 1 Spring at $1 41@$1 43; No. 2 do., at $1 38@$1 42½; new No. 3 and mixed at $1 35@$1 38; old No. 2 do., at $1 15@$1 23, chiefly at $1 18@$1 20; White Genesee, $1 55@$1 75; Red and Amber State, $1 38@$1 48; new Red and Amber Southern at $1 35@$1 50; White Southern nominally at $1 50@$1 75, ₱ bushel. Corn has been in good demand at a further rise in prices, though closing rather less buoyantly. The business has been mainly in old mixed Western at 86c.@87c., in store, and 87c.@89c., afloat; and in new mixed Western at from 82c.@87c., chiefly at 83c.@85c. ₱ bushel. Sales have been reported since our last of 89,000 bushels at 86c.@89c. for old mixed Western, closing at 88c.@88½c. for the good loads, afloat; 82c.@87c. for new mixed Western; 82c.@95c. for Yellow Jersey, Western and State; 83c.@95c. for White do., ₱ bushel. Rye has been quiet, since our last, within a range of from 92½c.@$1 02½ for ordinary to prime old and new Western, and $1 15@$1 20 for State, ₱ bushel; sales 5,800 bushels. Barley has been in very moderate demand at irregular rates, with sales reported of 21,000 bushels, including Canada West, part at $1 10; Canada East, $1; Western, 90c.@$1, and State at 80c.@90c., ₱ bushel. Barley-malt has been slow of sale since our last, including Canada at $1 10@$1 20 for poor to choice, and State at 90c.@$1, ₱ bushel. Oats have been in decidedly more active demand at firmer and buoyant prices. The inquiry has been mainly for new mixed Western, at 60c.@61c., afloat; sales have been reported, since our last, of 154,000 bushels, at 56c.@63c. as the extremes for inferior to choice Mixed and White Pennsylvania, New-Jersey and Ohio, chiefly at 60@61c. afloat for Mixed Western, and 61c.@63c. for White do. ₱ bushel. The export clearances since our last have been 21,640 bushels Wheat for Falmouth; 200 bbls. Flour, and 12,682 bushels Wheat for Oporto; 645 bbls. Flour and 2,485 bushels Corn for Santa Cruz. The Albany Argus says: The quantity of Flour, Wheat Corn and Barley left at tide-water during the second week in November in the years 1869 and 1870 was as follows:

	Flour, Bbls.	Wheat, Bushels.	Corn, Bushels.	Barley, Bushels.
1869	37,600	1,222,500	328,600	387,100
1870	17,800	1,272,900	78,400	235,400
	Dec. 19,800	Inc. 50,400	Dec. 250,200	Dec. 151,700

The aggregate quantity of the same articles left at tide-water from the commencement of navigation to the 14th inst., inclusive, during the years 1869 and 1870 was as follows:

	Flour, Bbls.	Wheat, Bushels.	Corn, Bushels.	Barley, Bushels.
1869	432,400	15,567,550	6,581,800	1,631,000
1870	374,400	15,191,200	4,662,700	2,642,200
	Dec. 58,000	Dec. 376,300	Dec. 1,919,100	In. 1,011,200

The Barley received in 1870 is all new crop but 82,000 bushels. By reducing the Wheat to Flour the quantity of the latter left at tide-water this year compared with the corresponding period last year, shows a decrease equal to 133,260 bbls. Flour. The following comparative table shows the quantity of some of the principal articles of produce left at tide-water from the commencement of navigation to and including the 14th of November in the years indicated:

	1868.	1869.	1870.

LIME—Rockland has been salable and steady at $1 15 for Common and $1 75 for Lump, ₱ bbl.

LUMBER—There has not been much activity in any kind of stock, but holders have been generally confident as to values, and prices have varied little. We quote: Southern Pine, $33@$39; White Pine Box Boards, $25@$30; White Pine Merchantable Box Boards, $28@$33; Clear Pine, $59@$61; Poplar and White Wood Boards and Plank, $50@$55; Cherry Boards and Plank, $75@$80; Oak and Ash, $53@$60; Maple and Birch, $35@$40; Black Walnut, $100@$125; Eastern Spruce, $17 50@$21; No. 1 Pine Shingles, $4 50.

METALS—Ingot Copper has been less active, but has been quoted steady; sales 275,000 lbs. at 22⅛c.@22¼c. ₱ lb. Pig-iron has been lightly dealt in on the basis of about previous quotations for American and rather firmer prices for Scotch, which has been offered very sparingly. Sales 50 tons Glengarnock at $34 ₱ ton. Bar and Rail Iron has been quiet at unchanged figures. Of Russian Sheet 50 bdls. were placed on private terms. Lead, Spelter and Zinc have been dull at old rates. Pig-tin has been depressed and declining; sales, 100 slabs Straits, to arrive, on private terms. Tin Plates have been in moderate demand at steady prices; sales include 1,500 boxes Charcoal Plates, on the basis of $8 37½, gold, for I. C.; and 250 boxes Charcoal Terne, on private terms. We quote Ingot Copper at 22⅛c.@22½c. ₱ lb.; No. 1 American Pig-iron at $31; No. 2 American Pig-iron, $29@$30; American Forge, $27@$29; Scotch Pig, $33@$36; English and American Bar-iron, refined, $72 50@$75 ₱ ton; English Rails, $57@$59, gold; Pig-lead, $6 12½@$6 62½, in gold, ₱ 100 lbs.; Foreign Spelter, $6@$6 12½, in gold, ₱ 100 lbs.; Domestic Spelter, $7 75@$11 50 ₱ 100 lbs., in currency; Straits Tin, 30⅛c.@31c., in gold, ₱ lb.; Banca Tin, 35c.@35½c., in gold, ₱ lb.; English, 30⅛c.@31c., in gold, ₱ lb.; I. C. Coke Plates, $7@$7 87½c.; I. C. Charcoal Plates, $8@$8 37½; Terne, $6 62½@$8, in gold, ₱ box; Zinc, 9¼c.@10c. ₱ lb.; Cut Nails, $4 37½@$4 50 ₱ keg.

MOLASSES—The demand has been light for all kinds within our previous range. Small lots of Barbados were sold at 40c.; and of New-Orleans within the range. We quote New Crop Porto Rico nominally at from 33c.@62c.; New Crop Cuba at 22c.@42c.; New-Orleans at 78c.@90c. ₱ gallon, and in detail thus:

	Old Crop.	New Crop.
Cuba, Centrifugal and Mixed	20c.@21c.	20c.@23c.
Cuba, Clayed	20c.@22c.	22c.@30c.
Cuba, Muscovado, refining grades	—@—	25c.@35c.
Cuba, Muscovado, grocery grades	—@—	35c.@40c.
Porto Rico	—@—	32c.@62c.
English Islands	—@—	30c.@50c.
New-Orleans	—@—	60c.@88c.

NAVAL STORES—Resin has been in limited request and quoted weaker, on the basis of $1 90 for Strained ₱ 280 lbs. Tar has been decidedly more active and quoted higher; sales 2,000 bbls. Wilmington at $2 50 ₱ bbl. Crude Turpentine neglected. Spirits Turpentine has been selling slowly at 45½c.@47c. for merchantable, ₱ gallon. We quote: Spirits Turpentine, 45½c.@47c. ₱ gallon; Crude nominal. Resin, $1 90@$6 75 ₱ 280 lbs., the latter for extra choice White. Tar, $2 25@$2 50. Pitch, $2 25 ₱ bbl.

OIL CAKE—Has been held rather more firmly on lighter offerings, but has been quiet. We quote: City, from East India, sold at $39 50, gold; Western at $40@$40 50, currency, ₱ ton.

OILS—Most kinds have been quiet since our last on the basis of our quotations. Crude Whale at 62c.@68c. for Southern and Northern; Bleached Whale, 70c.@78c.; Crude Sperm at $1 22@$1 25; Unbleached Sperm at $1 37½@$1 42½; Bleached Sperm at $1 42½@$1 47½; Lard-oil at $1 15@$1 32½; Red Oil at 65c.@70c.; Linseed-oil at 85c.@87c., in casks and bbls.; Olive-oil at $1 32½, in casks; Menhaden at 43½c.@45c.; Spermaceti at 28c.; Crude Seal at 71c.@73½c.; Extra Refined Seal at 80c.@82½c.; Cotton-seed Oil, Crude, 45c.@47½c.; Southern Yellow, 55c.@60c.; Refined Yellow, 65c.@68c.; White Winter, 75c.@82½c. ₱ gallon.

PETROLEUM—There had been less animation in the general market, with less firmness noted in prices, particularly of Refined, the offerings of which have been more liberal, while the export inquiry has been on a restricted scale, and very little disposition has been evinced to purchase on speculative account, in view of the exciting war reports and rumors from Europe, and the extreme uncertainty of values in the immediate future. The increasing call for vessels for the Breadstuff trade strengthens the market for Petroleum room, and works against outward movements....Crude, in bulk, has been quoted 12⅛c. bid, and 12½c. asked, with sales reported of equal to 800 bbls., in bulk, for early deliveries, on the basis of 12⅛c. ₱ gallon. Shipping Crude has been dull in the local market at 16c.@16⅛c., and in some request at Philadelphia at 15⅛c.@15½c. ₱ gallon. The receipts of Crude at Philadelphia today were 500 bbls., and for the week, 4,910 bbls. At the Creek, the reported dealings have been very moderate on the basis of $3@$3 05, on the Upper, and $3 15@$3 20 on the Lower Road, early deliveries. Some 8,000 bbls. have been sold for forward delivery on private terms; Refined has been a shade cheaper, and offered more freely, yet has been without activity; sales have been reported of 2,500 bbls. Standard White, November contracts, at 23⅛c., which rate was bid for Oil from first hands, with 23¼c. asked. At Philadelphia sales were reported of 3,000 bbls. Standard White for November delivery at 23⅛c., ₱ gallon. The receipts there were 3,590 bbls. for the day, and 24,648 bbls. for the week. And the export clearances thence, 117,045 gallons for Gibraltar and orders. Refined Oil, in cases, continues in moderate demand, within a range of 27¼c.@28c., as extremes, ₱ gallon; sales have been reported since our last of 3,500 cases for early delivery. Naphtha has been inquired for to a limited extent at 9c.@9¼c., chiefly at 9c., in shipping order; and 14¼c.@15c. chiefly at 14¼c., in cases, with sales reported of 1,950 cases at the lower rate, and 4¼c.@4½c., in bulk, ₱ gallon.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been in light demand and quoted lower and irregular in price. The inquiry has been altogether for job lots. Sales have been reported for early delivery, since our last, of 530 bbls. at $22 75@$24 75, chiefly at $23 75@$24, for old Western Mess; $23 50@$23 75 for new Mess; $24@$24 50 for City Mess; $20@$21 50 for Prime and Extra Prime; and $26 50@$26 75 for Clear, ₱ bbl. For forward delivery the market continues inactive, and prices are more or less nominal. Dressed Hogs have been in moderate request at rather easier rates. We quote the range at from 9⅛c.@10⅛c. as the extremes. Cut-meats continue very dull at declining prices; sales have been reported of only small lots at 16c.@18c. for Pickled Hams, and 9c.@9⅛c. for Pickled Shoulders, ₱ lb. City-cured Bacon continues inactive and depressed at 13c.@13⅛c. here, and 12⅛c. to arrive, for Long Clear, ₱ lb.; sales 145 boxes. Lard has been in slack request for early delivery at drooping rates; sales have been reported since our last of 265 tcs. and bbls. at 13⅛c.@15⅛c. for poor No. 1 to very choice Steam and Kettle-rendered; 14c.@14⅛c. for new Western Steam, 13⅛c.@14c. for City, ₱ lb. For forward delivery there has been a very moderate inquiry at a shade lower prices; sales, 500 tcs. new Western Steam, sellers' options, at 13⅛c. for December. Beef continues in fair request at previous figures; sales have been reported of 150 bbls., in lots; $10@$15 for Plain Mess, $15@$17 75 for Extra Mess, ₱ bbl. Tierce Beef continues in moderate demand at $25@$26 for Prime Mess, $28@$31 50 for India Mess, ₱ tierce; sales, 35 tcs. Beef Hams have been in fair demand at $29 50@$31 ₱ bbl. Butter has been rather quiet at drooping rates. We quote: State, inferior to fancy, 20c.@45c., and Western, inferior to fancy, 15c.@33c.; the day's receipts were 1,701 pks. Cheese has been inactive at former rates. We quote at from 5c.@15⅛c., as the extremes, for very common to fancy Factory; the day's receipts have been 4,803 boxes. We quote Butter and Cheese in detail thus:

FREIGHTS—The demand for Flour and Wheat room has been more active, and rates have shown a hardening tendency, on a reduced supply of both berth room and vessels for charter. Cotton room has been in fair request, and rates have been quoted firm. Very little steam room was available for the remainder of the month. Petroleum room was not much sought after, owing partly to the extreme rates claimed by ship-owners. For Liverpool there were taken 2,100 bales Cotton at ⅜d.@5-16d. by sail, and ½d.@9-16d. by steam, ₱ lb., 21,000 bushels Wheat, by sail, at 8¾d.@9d. ₱ bushel, and 60 hhds. Tobacco at 30s. For London, 7,500 bbls. Flour at 3s.@3s. 3d. ₱ bbl.; 40,000 bushels Wheat at 9d.@9¼d. ₱ bushel; also, an American ship, 1,000 tons capacity, on private terms. For Bristol, 7,800 bushels Wheat at 9d. ₱ bushel. For Glasgow, 1,000 bbls. Flour at 2s. 6d. ₱ bbl., and 7,800 bushels Wheat at 8¾d. ₱ bushel. For Cork and orders, a Norwegian bark, with 3,100 quarters Wheat, at 8s., or, if direct, 3s. off ₱ quarter, and if to the Continent, 10 ₱ cent. added; also, a Swedish bark, with 2,300 quarters Wheat, at 8s., or, if direct, at 7s. 6d. ₱ quarter; also, a British bark, with about 3,400 quarters Wheat, from Philadelphia, on private terms, with two or three other Grain vessels from that port, under negotiation. For Antwerp, a British bark, of 710 tons capacity, on the basis of 5s. ₱ bbl. for Petroleum; also, 4,000 bbls. Flour at 3s. 1½d. ₱ bbl.; 250 tierces Lard at 32s. 6d. ₱ ton, and 200 hhds. Tobacco at 40s. ₱ hhd. For Bremen, a British bark, with 4,800 bbls. Petroleum, from Philadelphia, at 5s. 6d. ₱ bbl. For Pernambuco and Bahia, a Danish brig, with 2,000 bbls. Flour on private terms.

NEW-YORK CATTLE MARKET.

NEW-YORK, Friday, Nov. 18, 1870.

There was a very dull state of trade in all descriptions of Live Stock this forenoon. At Communipaw Yards the horned Cattle ranged from common to fair, and sold from 10c.@15c. ₱ lb., weights 5¾ cwt. and 7¼ cwt. The aggregate numbers were Texan Steers. Sheep were extremely common and light, and sold from 4¼c.@6c. ₱ lb.; they arrived chiefly from Ohio, with a few from Illinois and New-Jersey. Hogs still keep up; heavy Ohio Hogs sell at 9¾c. ₱ lb.; medium Hogs at 10c. ₱ lb., and the highest Hogs on the market sell at 10½c. ₱ lb., City dressed. Arrivals chiefly from Ohio, smaller numbers from Illinois and Missouri. The continued glut in Washington Market of inferior meats is the cause of the dullness in Live Stock trade. The palace stock car is doing much to correct this, as the 16 Steers unloaded from it on Sunday last sold, during the week, from 1c.@2c. ₱ lb. better than any other Beef on sale. Dr. MORRIS, of the New-York Board of Health, has inspected these Steers, and decided that their flesh was quite sound and wholesome. Western dealers should bear this in mind; also that they only lost from Chicago to New-York City 22 lbs. ₱ head in shrinkage.

SALES TODAY.

CONEY & MCPHERSON sold for HEDGES & TAYLOR, 37 Steers, light cattle, Illinois, at 12c. ₱ lb., weight 6¾ cwt.; also, for SHERMAN & ALLERTON, 64 Steers, Texans, fair for Texans, at 10½c. ₱ lb., weight 6¼ cwt.; again, for TEATES & BRAINARD, 98 Steers, Ohios, common cattle, from 12c.@14c. ₱ lb., weight 7 cwt.; and for selves, 16 Steers, Texans, fair for Texans, at 10½c. ₱ lb., weight 6¼ cwt. B. WESTHEIMER sold for self, 76 Steers, Ohios and Virginias, mixed, from common to fair, from 13c.@15c. ₱ lb., weight 7¼ cwt. B. W. GILLETT sold for T. CLEMENS, 37 Steers, common cattle, at 13c. ₱ lb., weight 6¼ cwt.

COMMUNIPAW SHEEP MARKET.

KASE & HOUVER sold 229 Ohio Sheep, weight 14,400 lbs., at $4 15½ ₱ cwt.; 98 Jersey Sheep, average weight 75 lbs. ₱ head, at 4½c. ₱ lb. J. N. PIDCOCK sold 421 Sheep, weight 35,120 lbs., at 5c. ₱ lb.; 440 Illinois Sheep, very thin, weight 33,110 lbs., at 4¼c. ₱ lb.; 20 good Ohio Sheep, weight 1,530 lbs., at 6c. ₱ lb.; 390 Sheep, Ohios, weight 31,100 lbs., at 5⅛c. ₱ lb.; these last were small, fine-wooled, so-called grade Merinos.

To Advertisers.

Advertisers in the TIMES are requested to bring in their notices at as early an hour in the day as possible. If received after 8½ o'clock, it will be impossible to classify them under their proper heads.

☞ For the accommodation of up-town residents, advertisements for insertion in the TIMES will be received at No. 54 West 22d-st., junction of Broadway and 6th-av., and at No. 40 East 18th-st., between Broadway and 4th-av.; also at No. 6 Astor-place, at same rates as are charged at office of publication.

☞ Messrs. DREXEL, HARJES & Co., Bankers, No. 3 Rue Scribe, Paris, are the accredited agents for the NEW-YORK TIMES in that city.

Notice.

We cannot notice anonymous communications. In all cases we require the writer's name and address, not for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot return rejected communications, nor preserve manuscripts, unless specially requested so to do.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE EASTERN DIFFICULTY.

A correspondent in Vienna says that if Russian had expressed a wish for the revision of the treaty a favorable result might have ensued; but that the course taken has created a grave situation, affecting all the settled statutes of Eurpean policy, and compelling a common course of action to resist her demands. When the Russian Ambassador presented Prince GORTSCHOKOFF's note in Vienna he accompanied it with assurances of the pacific intentions of Russia.

A London telegram says diplomats all claim to have known that the Russian demand would be made sooner or later. The Journal de St. Petersbourg says Russia will not prove unwilling to submit her demand to a Congress. The feeling in London financial circles yesterday was quieter, but the London Times denounced Russia as a public enemy. The violations of the treaty of which Russia complains are understood to have occurred when the Prince of WALES entered the Black Sea in an English frigate; when Lord BULWER LYTTON made a similar excursion; on the appearance of an Austrian squadron which conveyed the Emperor on a visit to Varna, a Turkish city; and lastly, when the Sultan made a voyage in a Turkish frigate, on which occasion Russia protested ineffectually. The Vienna Freie Presse of yesterday confirms the statement that the Austrian and British notes were identical. The opposition in the Hungarian Diet continue to urge decisive measures in the Russian question.

THE WAR.

A Versailles dispatch says King WILLIAM has telegraphed to the Queen that the Grand Duke of MECKLENBURG, on the 17th, defeated the French near Dreux, and that Gen. TRESKOW at the same time captured the town, taking many prisoners, and pursuing the enemy in the direction of Le Mans. A London dispatch says it is ascertained that the Prussians in front of the Army of the Loire had not retired to Artenay. They now are said to hold all the strongholds along the line of the Jura Mountains. A "special" to the Manchester Guardian, however, says that the Army of the Loire was at Etampes, within thirty miles of Paris, on the 17th. Langroy and Montmédy are to be besieged. A sortie from Mézières was repulsed by the First Prussian Infantry. A London dispatch says the Bremen steam-ship Magdalene (?) Capt. WENCKE, which sailed faom New-York Oct. 31, has been captured by a French cruiser and taken into Brest. Earl RUSSELL has written a pamphlet in which he proposes a joint armed resistence to Prussia by the other Powers, should she demand more than Alsace and a portion of Lorraine. He also proposes a strong British reserve based on the militia. Mr. CARLYLE has also written on the war, in the form of two close columns of the London Times of yesterday, in which he defends the course of Prussia.

GENERAL EUROPEAN NEWS.

A Madrid telegram announces that a committee of fifteen members of the Constituent Cortes is to proceed to Italy to present the crown of Spain to the newly-elected King. The proclamation of the Duke of Aosta as King was not followed by any of the anticipated disturbances, and the military precautions were found to be unnecessary, says the same dispatch. The Duke arrived in Florence on Thursday, and was made the object of enthusiastic acclamations by the people. Many prominent personages called upon him and congratulated him. Mr. VERNON HARCOURT has been appointed Judge-Advocate-General, to succeed Sir COLMAN O'LOGHLIN.

JAPAN AND CHINA.

The visit of Mr. SEWARD to Japan is described as the event of the month. The first interview ever accorded to a private individual by the Mikado was granted to Mr. SEWARD. The Danish Envoy has completed negotiations with the Japanese Government for telegraphic communication between Japan and Europe. A typhoon at Yokohama and Jeddo, recently, caused great damage. The arrival of United States Consul-General SEWARD at Shanghai was the occasion for a dinner, at which the leading Americans there were present. The News Letter accuses Mr. LOW, the United States Minister, of "gross neglect and wanton disregard of duty" in the matter of the recent massacre at Tientsin. A telegram from Macao, dated Nov. 1, announces the arrest of the instigator of the massacre, who will be speedily brought to justice.

GENERAL.

The forthcoming report of the Postmaster-General will show that the total number of letters exchanged with foreign countries during the year was 18,359,378, (an increase of 2,869,378 or 18 44-100 per cent. over 1869,) of which 9,754,152, were sent, and 8,605,226 were received. The total postages of letter mails exchanged were $1,964,564, or $50,618 less than the previous year, owing to the decreased rates to Great Britain and other countries, from Jan. 1, 1870. The cost of the ocean mail service, including special subsidies, was $1,107,376. Twelve postal conventions were made during the year, in all of which reduced rates of postage were agreed upon.

A General Court-martial has been appointed to meet at Detroit on the 21st inst., for the trial of Capt. FERGUS WALKER.

The regular monthly report from the Bureau of Statistics, now in press, presents, among other interesting features, a table showing the immigration into the United States each year for the past fifty-one years.

Capt. COOPER, of the United States steamer Colorado, flag-ship of the Asiatic Squadron, writes to the Navy Department, giving an account of his voyage out, in which he says the Colorado, under sail, passed every vessel in their course, including an English clipper ship.

The Hyde Park, Mass., woolen-mill was damaged by fire, on Thursday night, to the amount of $30,000. It is fully insured.

A slight fall of snow fell in Staunton, Va., yesterday morning.

The steam-ship Montana sailed, yesterday, from San Francisco for Panama, with 200 passengers and $460,000 in treasure, of which $300,000 in coin is for Callao, $141,000 for England, and $13,000 for Punta Arenas.

Tract Societies.

The embarrassments of the New-England branch of the Tract Society, which have compelled this once very powerful, influential, and flourishing organization to enter on a policy of rigid economy, seem to suggest, also, the policy of going still further, and winding it up. The disease from which the Tract Society is suffering is one from which all publications bearing the character of "organs," or of advocates of special interests or particular ideas, suffer more or less. Not one of them pays its expenses, or leads anything but a sickly or feeble existence—a burden and source of anxiety even to its warmest admirers. The reason, too, is obvious. The tremendous growth of cheap periodical literature within the last quarter of a century has placed within the reach of everybody the greatest variety of mental food, and at the lowest possible rates, in the shape of publications which treat all sorts of topics, and treat them well. If a man wants printed religious instruction in our day, he gets it in his weekly religious paper, which gives him two or three sermons from preachers of repute, either au naturel or worked up into essays and articles on all sorts of subjects, devotional included; criticism of religious books, denominational and other religious intelligence, and mixed in with it enough secular news and discussion of profane topics to keep him acquainted with all that is going on in the world outside. In addition to this, he has within his reach, if his purse allows it, an abundance of light and entertaining literature, which, if not religious, is at least moral and improving.

Now when the tract societies began their operations, none of this existed. They took hold of a field which was absolutely unoccupied. There was no literature for the million, or at least none which either directly or indirectly undertook their moral or spiritual elevation, and anything that was printed had, in the days of the old hand-presses, a weight and authority which it is difficult for us of this generation to understand. The saying, "I know it must be true, because I saw it in the paper," which now raises a laugh, when it originated described a real state of the popular mind. A tract, therefore, at that time really had an importance in the eyes of every man into whose lap it was thrown, which it has long ago lost, and it supplied a want which is now supplied in a hundred other ways. The same remark applies to those publications of the tract societies which are more pretentious than tracts, and claim the character of treatises. Thousands of private firms are every day producing things of the same kind from better authors than any the Tract Society has at command, and circulating them by means of machinery such as the Tract Society cannot hope to set up. Moreover, in our day, everything which can be had for nothing is undervalued. Money is now so generally diffused, and people have become so thoroughly accustomed to getting nothing good without paying highly for it, that they look with a certain, and not by any means groundless, suspicion on whatever comes to them gratis.

Another way in which the tract societies have fallen behind the age, is in their taking no note, or insufficient note, in their publications of the increased and increasing maturity of the public mind, and the growth of the popular judgment in literary matters. Readers are a great deal older, and more realistic in their tastes than they used to be, and yet the tracts are, in a large number of cases, apparently prepared for a childish population. The "Spiritual Railroad" is a production which, whatever its effects might once have been, now, we venture to say, in nine cases out of ten, excites profane merriment. The popular notions on religious subjects, too, have grown much more spiritual than they used to be. In talking to people of life, and death, and judgment, account has to be taken of these changes.

Moreover, in view of what has been revealed about the Methodist Book Concern, once the pride of the country, it seems very doubtful whether the business of publishing can be safely, profitably, or even respectably carried on by any religious body. Publishing is not a business that can be reduced to a routine. It is full of details, every one of which requires the exercise of a sound, practiced and interested judgment—commercially interested, we mean. It does not do, as the world now is—and as the history of the Methodist Book Concern shows—to buy paper, and leather, and cloth, and select manuscripts, simply with a view to the good of mankind. The good of mankind is clearly best promoted by publishers who also have an eye to profit, and make no secret of it, or, in other words, by private enterprise. Considering what the sins peculiar to this commercial age are, and considering that the agents even of the noblest associations are human, it seems as if it were desirable that the commercial operations—that is, the employment of labor for all purposes but those of direct instruction—should be as limited as possible. Scandals are apt to come of all such operations, no matter what pains are taken to avoid them; and, even if scandals do not come, suspicions about them are sure to be aroused, which, even if they do not show themselves, do the cause of religion more damage than tons of publications can compensate for.

In so far as the spiritual growth of the public can be promoted through the printing press, no one can look at the field and not acknowledge that nearly everything that can be done effectively is being done by private enterprise. Everybody in the country who is capable of reading, either takes a periodical or buys books which serve all the purposes tract societies' publications were ever intended or expected to serve, or else is being urgently pursued, and solicited to do so, by persons whose zeal far outstrips anything a society can hope for from its agents.

What is in Store for the National Democracy.

A desire to bury dead issues has suddenly manifested itself in the Democratic mind. Gov. HOFFMAN expressed it in his Albany speech; and the leading journal of the party in Michigan attributes whatever successes have been gained in that State to the repudiation of repudiators, and the adoption of a moderate policy upon current topics. The Governor would have the country forget the sins of his party. The Detroit journalist declares that had the old leaders been allowed to retain command, nothing but defeat would have followed; if a different result has anywhere been secured, it has been because Democratic candidates "ran pledged against reaction, and in acceptance of the situation."

All this is very pretty. It would have been prettier, in Gov. HOFFMAN's case, had he, too, been able to proclaim the renunciation of his old political masters. There is an obvious incompatibility between his exhortation to "let the dead past bury its dead," and his appearance as the successful candidate of an organization which represents the worst ideas, as well as the worst vices, of the Democracy. If Gov. HOFFMAN would really reform his party, he must begin by interring the Ring. There can be no improvement in this State until the Governor's masters are under the sod.

Still, these avowals and entreaties of Gov. HOFFMAN must be regarded as homage paid by the representative of the most debased type of Democracy to the public opinion which the Republican Party created and keeps alive. The new policy of the Michigan Democracy tells the same story. Its gains are proportionate to its adoption of Republican principles and plans. By discarding repudiation, and bringing itself to pay the debt honestly, by protesting against reactionary measures, by accepting things as they are, and pledging itself to maintain them, by favoring the continued reduction of taxes without reference to abstract theories, its managers adopted, substantially, cardinal features of the Republican platform. Their sagacity was duly rewarded. They elected candidates who, if nominated on regular Democratic ground, would have had no chance. The lesson, suggestive as it is, is not taught by Michigan alone. It is the lesson of all the recent elections, with the exception of New-York, where plunder holds the place of principle, and of Maryland and Delaware, where the relics of slave-barbarism continue to be devoutly worshiped. Everywhere Democratic gains may be measured by the departure from the standard of PENDLETON and SEYMOUR and BLAIR, and by an approximation to the standard of GRANT's Administration and a Republican Congress. Advantages so acquired are a tribute to the principles and policy of the Republican Party.

When the process thus begun has advanced a few degrees further, the issue will become one between men; and the Democratic Party, overladen as it is with rotten timber, will be very little nearer the consummation of its final purpose. For the governing personnel of Democracy must resolve itself into Tammany. That is the vital centre of the whole organization. Michigan moderates, and prudent men from Illinois sink into insignificance before TWEED, SWEENY, HALL and FISK. These are the magnates of the party. They are determined to control the next National Convention as completely as they controlled the motley crowd that nominated HOFFMAN at Rochester; and they rely for success upon agencies akin in character to those which secured them success in this City. Our plundered and helpless tax-payers furnish sinews for a wider war than that between Tammany and the Young Democracy. The corruption fund, which has already produced wonders, is relied upon to carry the National Convention. TWEED & Co. have sworn that HOFFMAN shall be the next Democratic candidate for the Presidency, and they will keep their oath. They will buy his nomination, if it can be obtained in no other way. The Democracy of the country will then have the pleasure of supporting a Tammany ticket, and the country will be brought face to face with the personal issues with which we in New-York have become painfully familiar. When matters assume this shape, we know what will be the result.

Arbitration Instead of War.

Mr. MUNDELLA, in his recent lecture to working men, after treating of the "courts of arbitation" between employers and employed, adverted to another kind of courts, intended to facilitate arbitration on a yet grander scale—namely, "courts of arbitration" between nations. The idea has been in the minds of publicists for many years. One eminent reformer of our legal code has urged it strongly upon the Committee on Legal Reform of the British Parliament, and has presented the urgent reasons for such a court before the Social Science meetings both of England and the United States.

It is believed that there is now sufficient enlightened humanity and earnest Christianity among nations to enable them to realize the folly and barbarism of settling all national disagreements and disputes by force; that it is, in fact, the middle-age trial by duel or personal encounter in place of judicial examination and decision. All thoughtful people see clearly that the principles of the founder of Christianity, though they have slowly embodied themselves in most of the relations of individuals and the customs of society, have scarcely even touched the relations and obligations of nations to one another. The individual Englishman, for instance, if he supposes himself wronged or cheated by his neighbor, does not like his Celtic or Saxon ancestor, at once set fire to his neighbor's cottage and murder his kinsmen. He restrains his malice or his sense of wrong, and refers the whole matter to calm and unprejudiced men, who decide upon his grievance on principles based on common sense and common justice as between man and man. This is an enormous progress from the heathenish custom of deciding every difference with the strong hand: or the semi-civilized rule of determining disputes by single combat. But, on the other hand, the collective Englishman—the British nation—and the Russian nation, having a difference or disagreement, decide it just as the Saxons decided theirs with the Danes, or as the Russian barbarians of the ninth century settled theirs with the Germans or the Tartars. Under ten centuries of Christianity, there has scarcely been an advance in the mode of deciding the difficulties between discordant peoples. The old "ordeal of battle," or the decision by "iron and fire," is as much the rule between the leading Christian Powers of the world as it was between the Romans and the Britons, or the Greeks and the Persians. It is true that nations once being engaged in war, their conduct toward one another, and the natural cruelty of a hostile struggle, have been mitigated and modified by the spirit of Christianity, embodied in international law. But to prevent war, or offer a means of candidly and peacefully settling differences between hostile nations, international law offers nothing. Mr. MUNDELLA suggested that in the future, the great reform in this direction is especially to be expected from the working classes. They have the most to dread from war. They are the greatest sufferers from it. Having tried arbitration so successfully in their own bitter wars with the capitalists, they may see how rational and feasible it would be in the more terrible wars between nations.

It is true that no international court of arbitration can easily possess an army and navy to enforce its decisions. But neither had the English courts of arbitration between working men and employers any force behind them. Puplic opinion and mutual interest and agreement are enormous forces in this age of the world. Let our readers imagine that, before the recent French and German war, there had been a solemn and public agreement between France and Germany, that in case of any variance or dispute between the two Governments, the questions at issue should be referred for final arbitrament to an "international court of arbitration," formed of the Great Powers of Europe, with certain limited and defined functions and the power of ultimate decision—is it not probable that this terrible war could have been avoided or deferred? It is true that either party in the dispute could have refused to abide by the decisions of such a court. But the very proposition would have given time to cool heated passions; the sober second thought would have arisen; the working classes would have uttered their voice for peace; the ambitious leaders would have been forced to hesitate, and the power of the best public opinion of Europe would have been brought to bear on the embittered feelings on both sides. Christianity and public morality are still powers, and enormous ones, even between nations, if they can only be expressed by organized means.

One of the greatest causes of all wars is pride, and the fear of humiliating the national dignity. But a decision of an impartial court might be accepted by a nation, even in the heat of their passion, without wounding their pride or dignity. They might feel themselves wronged, but it would not be by an arrogant rival, but by the mistaken opinion of the civilized world. In the present threatening controversy between Great Britain and her allies and Russia, how certainly would the reference of the points in dispute to an international court prevent a destructive and useless war, and save thousands of homes from poverty and suffering, and preserve hosts of valuable lives. What is aroused in England, is not so much anxiety about the Black Sea or the safety of Turkey, as irritation against the overbearing tone of the Russian demands. When pride is touched, concessions are put out of sight. If the question were referred to a court and decided against England, and the Black Sea became a Russian lake, there would be almost complete indifference in Great Britian; because her pride would be saved. Were it decided against Russia, it is certainly among the possibilities, that the public opinion of the world thus expressed would withhold her from her effort to break the Treaties.

The Election Law.

Gov. HOFFMAN labors under a slight delusion if he imagines that Federal authority will not hereafter enforce the Election law. The late proceedings in this City, he declares, constituted the first exercise of Federal power in this direction, and he prophecies that they will be the last. We predict in return that he will find himself mistaken.

The utility of the new law has been satisfactorily established. Some defects in its administration deprived us partially of its benefits, but on the whole the honest citizens have reason to be satisfied with its operation. It gave us a fairer election than we have had for years. If it did not absolutely prevent frauds, we may thank timid agents of the law, rather than blame the law itself. It gave us, above all things, Judges who promptly tried offenders, and punished them, when convicted, with a readiness which inspired terror in the ranks of the law-breakers. And we have not yet seen the last of it even in connection with the contest which has afforded Gov. HOFFMAN so many grounds of exultation. The investigation in progress under the direction of the United States Marshal, will yet bring to light cases of fraud whose perpetrators have begun to fancy themselves safe; and while Judge WOODRUFF is on the Bench, we may be quite sure that there will be no hesitation or weakness in inflicting upon them the penalties they deserve.

But the law is not perfect, and the country will look to Congress for such an amendment of its details as will render it in all respects efficient. What are its defects and by what provisions it may be strengthened, are questions that deserve the immediate and earnest attention of the Government. Only careful inquiry can discover the weak points as tested by experience, and only careful thought can so fortify the law in regard to them as to insure the attainment of the objects contemplated in its enactment. Its most obvious defect seems to outsiders to be the omission of any adequate provision with reference to counting the votes. It covers with more or less completeness the registration before the election and the reception of votes at the polls; but the subsequent counting is left to the tender mercies of local officials. In our late election, fraud crept in at this stage, and no Federal authority was able to prevent its perpetration, or to secure the punishment of its perpetrators. The result in some districts was, that WOODFORD and LEDWITH were cheated out of votes to which they were entitled, and that the majorities for HOFFMAN and HALL were correspondingly increased. There is need for so amending the law that we shall have guarantees of its enforcement from the beginning to the end of an election.

The value of the law and the interest felt in its operation are not confined to New-York. The riot at Camden proves that the franchise is not safe from the assaults of a New-Jersey mob, when the polls are left in the hands of local Democratic officials. Federal authority alone can secure a peaceful and honest election in parts of a State which are addicted to disturbance. In Virginia, too, during the recent election, outrages were committed by Democrats which practically disfranchised numbers of citizens. The proceedings in several of the counties, and in the City of Richmond, remind us of the tricks and frauds which have served Tammany so well, and indicate the need that exists for the national enforcement of a national statute. The variety of circumstances to be covered by the law furnishes an argument for conducting on a broad basis the investigation as to its working, and for making such changes in it as shall punish violence and baffle fraud, whether in Virginia or New-York.

Self-Murder.

That suicide is the most illogical of crimes scarcely needs demonstration. Usually it is the last refuge of cowardice, taken in the semblance of courage and blindly accepting the greater evil to avoid the less. Perhaps it is not often so palpably absurd as in the case of that unhappy and unwarlike gentleman who, having a duel on his hands, killed himself in the evening for fear his adversary might kill him in the morning. Still, in most instances the act of self-destruction, when not traceable to positive insanity, is unreasonable as well as wicked. In very many instances the weak impatience of despair only by a little anticipates the very good it craves and flies to death for want of. Not to speak of that rash and improvident beggar who is constantly blowing his brains out, in the newspapers, the day before his forgotten uncle leaves him a fortune, the sad precipitancy of PREVOST-PARADOL is a mournful warning against all premature discounting of the future.

Being thus inconsequent and illogical, suicide seems to be the last offense which ought to commend itself to the taste of a clear-headed and practical people. Yet it is increasing in the United States at a rate which threatens to put them at the head of suicidal statistics. Of course, we omit from this comparison such countries as Japan, where self-murder is an established element of political etiquette, and China, whose overflowing population makes it seem almost a social and humanitarian necessity. But among civilized nations, certainly, we must soon take the lead in this respect. Even France, where suicide was wont to rank among the ordinary and commonplace incidents, like dining, or dueling, or making love to a neighbor's wife, where Cupid throve on arsenic and all true romance ended picturesquely in a pan of charcoal,—even France must soon yield us precedence. No one who reads the newspapers can have failed to observe the increase of suicides all over the country, and the trifling nature of the pretexts on which many of them were committed. Among the very young, particularly, self-murder is spreading with frightful and distressing rapidity. A lad is reprimanded, and straightway hangs himself in his father's barn. A young girl is reproved by her mother, and directly flings herself under the wheels of a passing train.

Where shall we find the explanation of this painful phenomenon? Must we attribute it to unhealthy mental and moral training, to morbid physical development, or to the effect of that indefinable attraction which is vaguely called the spirit of the age, and which is, if we may judge from the precocious tendency to vice, everywhere evinced by the rising generation, a most unclean and evil spirit? There is often a curious sort of variety which often impels to sentimental self-murder for the sake of the posthumous fame or pity or admiration it may excite. In the explanatory letters of suicides this motive is often oddly perceptible. But what shall we say of a felo-de-se prompted by curiosity, as in the case of the poor lad of seventeen, who lately poisoned himself in this City in order "to see what was beyond," or of that seventy-year old New-Hampshire farmer, who, a day or two ago, concluded to hang himself because "he had seen the machine, but didn't understand it?" What psychological condition will satisfactorily account for such freaks as these? Of course, it is easy to say temporary insanity, and most people will dismiss the matter with that ready verdict, but is there not something more than this? Is there not visible in this increasing tendency to suicide, a radical defect of education or a radical taint of blood, which it behooves our wise men to inquire into and remedy?

We shall doubtless have taken the most direct step toward checking so fatal a malady, on addressing ourselves as a people, more systematically and thoroughly than, it is to be feared, we now do, to the moral training of our youth, and to the cultivation of that lofty standard of private and public integrity which really makes the social happiness and inspires the moral tone of a nation.

MINOR TOPICS.

The first attempt on the part of the French to bring forward an army to the relief of Paris has ended in disaster and defeat. The troops which three days ago occupied Dreux, at a distance of about thirty miles west of Paris, were intended to attack that portion of the German Army posted between Versailles and St. Cloud. Before the attempt could be made—an attempt which would doubtless have been seconded by a series of sorties on the part of the garrison—the Germans under the Grand Duke of MECKLENBURG drove the French out of Dreux and effectually baffled the whole enterprise. The importance of this victory is sufficiently obvious. It leaves the investing army secure for some time to come in their tranquil task of starving out Paris; it turns back the rising tide of confidence resulting from the successes on the Loire, and it makes the result of the battle impending to the north of Orleans of the gravest possible moment to France, since a disaster there would leave but one of the newly-organized armies—that of the north—not demoralized by defeat.

We cannot concur in the recommendation of a contemporary, that the Republicans in the Assembly shall "concentrate their votes for Speaker on HENRY S. RANDALL, of Cortland County." Mr. RANDALL is correctly described as a Democrat of the old school; but why the Republicans, being equal in numerical strength to their opponents, should select as their candidate a Democrat of any school, old or new, we are unable to understand. If the choice were limited to Democratic candidates, it would be the duty of Republicans to support the best of them. But this necessity does not exist. The Republicans are really more likely than the Democrats to be able to elect a Speaker of their own choice. They are united, while the Democrats suffer from the discontent and jealousy of several of their number. Unless Tammany succeeds in once more putting its nominee into the chair by the force of money, the defection of quite enough to turn the scale is at least probable. With this prospect before them, it is the duty of the Republicans to hold together, and to present a good Republican for the Speakership.

After a long interval of "golden" silence, CARLYLE has come out with two columns and a half of "silvern" speech in the London Times. The sage of Chelsea is too little of a believer in government by the people to have any great faith in the French Republic, and is too firmly persuaded of the beauty of government for the people to have anything but unlimited faith in the policy of Prussia. It is to be hoped that the latest utterance of the great "Sartor" will be found to contain some distinct intimation of his views on who is the veritable King or "able man," as he defines it, of the German invasion. The external world persist in regarding BISMARCK and VON MOLTKE as the representatives of the German policy and power. We are curious to see whether the legitimate successor of the great FREDERICK is accepted by CARLYLE as the real hero of the struggle, and whether the Princes, who as Field Marshals, take precedence of the man in spectacles, in whose hands they are merely pieces in the great strategical game, come up to the philosopher's ideal of leaders by natural as well as by divine right.

The honest Republicans of this City are manifesting their determination to purge their various organizations of men who use their Republicanism as a cloak to conceal service rendered to Tammany. The associations in the Sixth, Tenth and Twenty-first Assembly Districts have already expelled members who in the recent election aided the enemy in defeating the regular Republican nominations; and in other districts committees are at work investigating charges preferred against members in relation to the same subject. In almost every district the most intense indignation prevails against those known as Tammany Republicans, and their expulsion is demanded, not less as a punishment for treachery in the past than as a means of preventing treachery in the future. While the process lasts, some bitterness of feeling will continue; but it is better to endure that now than to allow the Republican organization to be converted to base uses by tools of the Ring. Let there be peace as soon as possible; but there will be no peace worth having until principle has been fully vindicated.

This morning's dispatches on the Eastern question are chiefly remarkable for the summary they give of the statements contained in the Journal de St. Petersburg. This paper is the organ of Prince GORTSCHAKOFF, and has a sort of semi-official authority as an exponent of national policy. On the face of them these utterances have a tone decidedly pacific. But there is a sinister hint of preparation for the worst in the stipulation for an immediate meeting of any Congress that may be agreed on, and there is a clear intention of another interference in the affairs of Turkey, implied in the reference to the internal condition of that disjointed State. It is difficult to see how a European Congress is to be got together, unless Russia withdraws so much of her late manifesto as expresses an intention of setting aside the treaty of 1856. If neither Great Britain nor Russia will alter the tone in which the question has been opened, avoidance of war appears simply impossible.

The superior strength of the national over the purely liberal sentiment in Germany may be inferred from the rejection of Dr. JACOBY by his constituents, on account of his late opposition to the Government project of annexing Alsace and Lorraine. This affords another proof in addition to those lately given, that the German people are almost unanimously bent upon the retention of the conquered provinces. All political distinctions in Germany are at this moment obliterated by a common feeling of enthusiastic patriotism, and the recovery of the ancient possessions of the Empire has been made one of the most emphatic demands of this universal ardor, which a well-fought struggle has raised to fever heat.

The returns from the doubtful Assembly districts in the interior having definitely settled the fact that there is to be a "tie" in the next Assembly, the Tammany Ring have at last decided that Mr. HORATIO N. TWOMBLY, the only Republican member elect from this City, shall be "counted out." The method proposed, as we learn, is this: Mr. TWOMBLY is elected by seventeen majority. The Ring profess to have discovered nineteen ballots cast for Mr. TWOMBLY which omit the number of the Assembly District in which he was a candidate; and on this paltry technical ground it is proposed to throw those ballots out of the count. The result would be to give CAREY, the Democratic candidate, two majority. Now, there are three rural districts in the State in which Democrats have been returned as elected by less majorities than that received by Mr. TWOMBLY, and in either district a better pretext could have been found for "counting out" than that which is to be used against the successful Republican. The result of this contemptible but characteristic proceeding of Tammany will probably be that Mr. S. S. COX's seat in the next Congress will be contested, the Republicans of the Sixth Congressional District alleging that far better reasons can be found for ousting COX than are assigned for this attempt to cheat TWOMBLY out of his seat.

Notes and Announcements.

MATINEES TODAY.

Following are notices of the matinée entertainments at local theatres, this day: At Wallack's, a special representation of "The Serious Family" will be given. At Booth's, Mr. JEFFERSON will appear in "Rip Van Winkle." At the Fifth-avenue, the last day performance of "Man and Wife" will take place. At the Fourteenth-street, Mrs. LANDER will figure in "Adrienne Lecouvreur." At the Grand Opera-house, "Les Brigands" is to be sung. At Woods, "Paris" will be rehearsed. At Lina Edwin's, the comedy of "Billiards" will be the main work. At Niblo's, "The Rapparee" is to be represented. "We Willie Winkie" will remain the attraction at the Olympic. A grand popular concert—the first of the season—is to take place at Association Hall. The usual day-show will be offered at the New-York Circus.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.

A change of distribution in the opera of "Les Brigands," will be effected to-night. Mlle. SILLY will personate Fiorella, instead of Mlle. MONTALAND.

MISS KREBS' CONCERT.

A concert will be given at Steinway Hall, Wednesday, by Miss MARIE KREBS, the young and accomplished pianist, whose first appearance was recently effected with such flattering success. We shall refer to the artistic aid Miss KREBS will have, and to the programme she will interpret—a severely classical one—hereafter.

ETHNOLOGICAL.

The Latin and Teutonic Races Compared—Discourse of Dr. Holland Before the Liberal Club.

A regular weekly meeting of the Liberal Club was held, last evening, at their rooms in Plimpton Hall. There was a large attendance. After the usual formal business, Secretary D. T. GARDNER read an interesting communication from Prof. A. R. ROESSLER, of the United States General Land Office at Washington, on the subject of diamonds. From this it appears that Dr. GOPPERT and other learned chemists have come to the conclusion that diamonds are crystalized from solutions in water highly charged with carbonic acid. It was also stated that the most recent information relative to diamonds in this country is, that small crystals have been found in Oregon in association with native platinum.

Dr. E. G. HOLLAND read a paper on "The Latin and Teutonic Races." The doctor said that while speaking of the two races named, he would incidentally refer to other races, namely the Jewish and the Greek, which in their day had their uses, but their time was past. No race can forever rule. A race non-progressive, and which for 2,000 years has lain in barbarism, must necessarily become exhausted. No race or nation can stay in power after it has fulfilled its uses. Three races of mankind have played their parts in the grand drama of the world, and their power is ended. He referred to the Jews, the Greeks, and the Romans. The Greeks in some respects excelled, as for instance HOMER in song, PLATO in thought. In his judgment ALEXANDER was a benefactor of the race. True, he carried the Greek character and customs wherever he went, but the progress of Christianity was greatly owing to his carrying on the war and conquering the territory throughout Asia Minor. All these by-gone races were useful in the grand scheme of Providence. Humanity is a unit of many parts. No part of the world for hundreds of years has had so much of intelligent thought as that of the Teutonic race. Liberty is the Germans birthright, not his Utopia, and this, though from the Latin race they learned the principles of monarchy. Liberty was discovered in the wild forests of Germany. LUTHER could no more have arisen and flourished in Rome or Madrid than oranges can be raised at the North Pole. Austria with its thirty-six millions cannot produce one great, noble-minded, high-souled man. The ancient Germans gave us the idea of liberty, which was theirs above all other nations. The genius of a race is sure to culminate in a few bright examples. It may be said that in song and as a writer of tragedy, SHAKESPEARE has the pre-eminence; in patriotism, WASHINGTON, and so on of other bright examples in other spheres. One thing was certain the best law schools of the world were Teutonic. He pointed to such jurists as GROTIUS, VATTEL and PUFFENDORF. There was more of legal mind suggested by such names than in all the Latin race. Again, as to a disposition to acquire colonies, the Teutons excelled the Latins. Poor Italy with the petrified chair of St. Peter, had long since ceased to think of colonies. The value of Protestantism had been unknown but for the older system from which it grew. The highest idea of Latin Christianity was that God had poured Himself out in the person of His Son, Jesus Christ. Paganism had its merits. Pagan worship was allowed until such time as mankind were prepared for a higher condition of worship. SENECA, as a real Protestant, became, in fact, a Catholic, with the blood of the Latin's coursing through his veins. The Latin Church, through an extraordinary prerogative, had become the destroyer of the Latin race. This was witnessed in the case of Spain, Italy, Ireland and Mexico.

COUNTING THE VOTES.

The New-York Board of County Canvassers.

The Board of County Canvassers resumed the official count of the votes cast at the last election, in the Supervisors' room, yesterday. The following members were present: E. R. Hart, H. Woltman, Schlechting, Mitchell, O'Neill, Welch and Coman, who presided. The Sixteenth and Eleventh Wards were completed—a few discrepancies and errors having been found in the Sixteenth. The table which we give below will strike the Republican reader, at least, as somewhat strange. That Ward is known to be largely Republican, nevertheless, according to the official count, HOFFMAN, for Governor, received many more votes than WOODFORD, but LEDWITH got a majority over HALL for Mayor.

The vote for Mayor in the Third District of the Sixteenth Ward presented a peculiar discrepancy, which smacks of a little "gouging" game therein. The Deputy County Clerk's returns give LEDWITH 320 and HALL 170, which figures were maintained by the Deputy against the assertion of Mr. E. B. HART, who kept the tally for the Ward. But after a few assertions and contradictions it was found that LEDWITH's figures should have been transposed, and made to read 302 instead of 320, in which result the Deputy Clerk acquiesced. In this district, also, were found 47 blank votes for Governor and 12 for Controller. In the Fourth District there were 11 blanks for Mayor and 16 for Controller. In the Fifth District 3 blanks for Mayor and 20 for Controller. In the Eighth, 5 blanks for Governor, 30 for Mayor and 7 for Controller. In the Ninth, 6 blanks for Governor, 21 for Mayor and 2 for Controller. In the Eleventh, for Governor, 11; for Mayor 20. In the Thirteenth, 3 for Governor, 16 for Mayor, and 7 for Controller. In the Fourteenth, 3 for Mayor and 5 for Controller. In the Fifteenth District, 15 blanks for Governor, 13 for Mayor and 17 for Controller. The returns were more bunglingly made in this entire Ward than in any other yet counted by the Board. In the Sixth District, for Controller, CONNOLLY received 168 votes, and TAPPAN none—an exceedingly small vote when 586 persons registered. In the Ninth District, errors on the Controller's vote demanded the summoning of the inspectors and canvassers of that district—the names of the State Controllers having been inserted, in place of the City candidates. Then again, different returns were mixed up on the same sheet, and these misplaced in covers—the Eleventh in the Twelfth and vice versa. There were no returns for Controller in the Eleventh Election District.

The canvass of the Eleventh Ward passed off without any material error or discrepancy in the returns. On the vote for Governor there were 20 scattering votes, 3 defective, and 2 blanks. On the vote for Mayor 20 scattered, 26 were defective, and 10 were blank. On Controller 36 scattered, 37 were defective, and 37 were blank. At 1 o'clock a recess of one hour was taken. The following is the vote in tabular form:

24	276	116	143	237	188	211

In the Fifth Ward on Governor there were 8 blanks; on Mayor, 6, and 7 scattering, and on Controller, 87. In the Twenty-second Ward, 40 blanks on Governor, 12 defective and 2 scattered; on Mayor, 233 blanks, and 15 scattered; on Controller, 207 blanks, and 4 scattered. There were no returns for Controller from the Sixteenth District of the Twenty-second Ward, and in the Seventeenth District the State Controllers' names were given instead of the City. In the Eighteenth District returns, MAT. BRENNAN was returned for Controller, with a vote of 297, according to the Supervisor's list, but 279 according to the Deputy County Clerk's, against 243 for TAPPAN. In the Nineteenth District LEDWITH had 346 against HALL's 216 votes. The inspectors were, of course, sent for to answer to the cause of such a discrepancy. The inspectors were summoned also to answer for making LEDWITH's return in the Twenty-second District 302 instead of 202, at which last-named figure the Board decided to fix it. In the Twentieth District of this Ward (Twenty-second) there were 142 blanks on the Coroner's vote. And on these blanks doubtless hang more than one tale. They probably were thrown in to fill up any Democratic majorities that might be needed. But the public are helpless in the matter, and we will submit gracefully as not. The Board, at 4 P. M., adjourned until 11 A. M. today.

MISCELLANEOUS LOCAL POLITICS

The Soldiers' and Sailors' General Committee.

A meeting of the General Committee of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Association of this City was held, last evening, at the corner of Broadway and Twenty-third-street, Gen. PLEASONTON presiding. The Executive Committee reported that there were twenty-three associations of soldiers and sailors, numbering 3,460 members, and that the whole expense of the late political campaign had been defrayed by the members of the Committee. The contributions amounted in the aggregate to $727 37, all of which had been expended. Gen. PLEASONTON and Col. KETCHAM made a few remarks, in which they suggested that the organization should be kept up, and they said that it was a fact that during the late campaign the most earnest work had been done by the members of that organization. It was suggested that a room be hired at an expense not exceeding $1,500, which should be used as a club and reading room. This suggestion was adopted, and Col. MORGAN, Col. BURNS, Gen. LAWRENCE, C. W. COUTAN and Capt. PAIGE, were appointed a committee to get a room. The meeting then adjourned.

The Richmond County Canvass.

The Republican member of the Board of Supervisors, of Richmond County, desires, in justice to his Democratic associates, to correct the intimation contained in the TIMES' report of the official vote of that County, that there was any desire or intention on their part to count out Mr. ALLSTON for Sheriff, or in any way alter the returns, as reported by the Inspectors.

The German Republican Central Committee.

The German Republican Central Committee, Mr. SIEGMUND KAUFMAN presiding, held a regular meeting at the Steuben House last night, when, on motion of Mr. BEYERLE, a committee was appointed to report a plan for the reorganization of the Central Committee for the ensuing year at the next regular meeting. The Committee was composed of Mr. BEYERLE, Dr. GERKE, and Messrs. GRASS, NAUMANN and KOERNER. Action was also taken in reference to amending the Constitution, and for that purpose an extra meeting is to be held two weeks hence.

New-Jersey State Canvassers.

The Governor of New-Jersey has appointed the following Senators to act with him as a Board of State Canvassers: Senator LITTLE, of Monmouth; Senator TAYLOR, of Essex; Senator ROBBINS, of Middlesex; Senator BELDEN, of Salem. The Board will meet at Trenton on the 29th of November, at 2 P. M., in the Executive Chamber, and will declare the result of the vote for members of Congress in the several districts.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The official returns show that Gen. WOODFORD received exactly 10,000 votes in St. Lawrence County.

A letter in the Wilmington Commercial reports that before the election in Delaware the Democratic Ring promised that, should they succeed, J. GLANCY JONES should be elected to the United States Senate.

The Syracuse Journal shows that the Democratic vote for Governor in the Twenty-third District is 10,849. The total vote for DENNIS MCCARTHY, for Congress, is 10,528, or 321 less than the Democratic vote.

Revised official returns of the vote in Orange County, published by the Middletown Press, show that Mr. ISAAC V. MONTANYE, Democrat, has been elected to the Assembly by ninety-one majority, the vote standing 3,895 to 3,804, and not 3,805 to 3,804, as first published.

New-Hampshire has nine Republicans who are "prominently mentioned" in connection with the Gubernatorial nomination. Then there are six Republicans in the First District who are desirous of being sent to Congress, six in the Second District and six in the Third. There will be a few more before March.

The Keene Sentinel is urging the nomination of Gen. SIMON G. GRIFFIN, of that city, for Congress in the Third District of New-Hampshire, and is trying to prove by last year's vote that the Republicans cannot elect any one else. To do this it reckons the temperance vote against the Republicans, which will hardly do in the Granite State.

Steuben County official vote, gives Gen. WOODFORD, Republican, 765 majority; J. G. BENNET, Democrat, has about 400 majority for Assembly in the First District, and A. C. BARNEY, Republican, has a majority of about 1,100 for Assembly in the Second District. The majority in the county last year, on the State ticket, was 755.

Seventy-three counties in Illinois from which official returns have been received, give LOGAN for Congressman at large, 109,709 votes, and ANDERSON 89,887. Two years ago the same counties threw 161,887 Republican votes and 126,803 Democratic votes. Thirty counties to hear from (which include Cook) gave a Republican majority in 1868 of 14,548. The indictions are that LOGAN's majority in the State will be from 28,000 to 30,000.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Death of a Pennsylvania State Senator—The Pennsylvania State Treasuryship.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—WM. W. WATT, State Senator from the First District, died this morning. His decease will leave the parties tied in the State Senate. A special election will have to be held to fill the vacancy, but it cannot take place until after the meeting of the Legislature, upon a warrant signed by the President of the Senate.

HARRISBURG, Penn., Nov. 18.—G. DAWSON COLEMAN has consented to become the Republican candidate for State Treasurer. Mr. MACKEY, the present Treasurer, is to decline the nomination.

Working-Men's Union—Repudiation of Some of the Views of Mr. Mundella On the Labor Question.

A regular meeting of the Working-Men's Union was held last evening at their Assembly Rooms, No. 327 Bowery, Mr. NELSON W. YOUNG in the Chair. The delegate from the Tailors' Association drew attention to the strike now existing amongst the workmen in the Broadway stores, and said that from the number of non-society men it brought into the organization, he was disposed to favor it.

Mr. YOUNG said that a recent action had placed him in a position where he would be enabled to forward the interests of working-men subjected to any injustice, and he would exercise it to the utmost of his power.

Mr. O'KEEFFE took exception to the principles enunciated by Mr. MUNDELLA recently on the subject of strikes, and proposed "That we, the working-men of the City of New-York, repudiate that portion of Mr. MUNDELLA's address which says that 'every man has a right to decide whether he will or not be a member of the union,' for that doctrine put forth by the honorable gentleman has already done the trades-unions of America the greatest possible injury."

The resolution was adopted.

It was also resolved to appoint a committee to act in conjunction with any other organization on strike which might demand co-operation.

The question of holding a public meeting in the Cooper Union, to reply to the arguments of Mr. MANDELLA, then came up for discussion, and a proposition to answer through the medium of the Press was adopted. After the transaction of some routine business the meeting adjourned.

The New-York Stock Exchange.

The building now occupied by the New-York Stock Exchange has been purchased by that Association for $575,000. They owned $30,000 stock in the company which they have now bought at about fifty per cent. premium. The purchase of this building by the Stock Exchange settles the question of the removal of the money centre, and Wall-street and vicinity will continue in the future as it has been in the past, the financial quarter of the Metropolis.

London Annuals and New Magazines.

The first of the London annuals have come and are on BRENTANO's counters, at No. 33 Union-square. These are Tom Hood's Comic Annual and Routledge's Christmas Annual. Both are superior to those of last year. The former has a bewildering variety of funny pictures, stories and poems, including one by CHAS. G. LELAND, called "An American Cocktail;" and the latter opens with a Christmas story by ANTHONY TROLLOPE, and has a dozen or less other good stories about ghosts, love, and so forth, by writers well known on this side as well as the other side of the Atlantic. BRENTANO has also just received St. Pauls, Belgravia, The Argosy, and the monthly part of Once A Week for November; and some time next week he will receive a quantity of the initial number of the new London magazine to be called English Society. The nearer Christmas approaches the more attractive and tempting BRENTANO's Union-square "Literary Emporium" becomes.

WEHLI IN CANADA.—A large and fashionable audience met in the Mechanics' Hall on Saturday evening to listen to some really classical musical by the Kellogg Troupe, by which Mr. JAMES WEHLI was most enthusiastically received. His fantasia on "Lurline" was an immense hit. His sympathetic touch literally made the piano sing with all the sustained power and passionate emphasis of a well-trained voice in some inspired moment. Mr. WEHLI has certainly no superior, and very few equals, in the country now. His "Home, Sweet Home," for the left hand, is really a wonder piece, as it does the same class of difficulties which are usually distributed between the two hands. Mr. WEHLI owes his extraordinary sway over his audience to the perfection of his technique and the expression which he throws into all he does. Mr. WEHLI played upon a "Weber" Concert Grand, the first time to our recollection in this city. It is unquestionably the finest piano we have ever heard. Every tone is pure, liquid and beautiful. It sings through its whole register, which is admirably graduated. There is not the slightest break in the entire scale. It is an instrument that throws the famous makers far into the shade, and is the only piano we have heard that fully meets the wants of a public performer in point of tone, sustained brilliancy, and varied shades of sentiment and color. We congratulate Mr. WEHLI for selecting such an instrument, and we think the "Weber" Grand the exponent of the greatest perfection that has yet been achieved in the manufacture of the piano-forte. —Hamilton Spectator.

A capital short STORY, followed by short extracts from the best articles in the newest magazines and books, domestic and foreign, attractively arranged under the head of "Current Literature;"—

Special articles on: The COMING BALL SEASON,—brilliant programmes in this City and Brooklyn; some of the features of the leading festivities of the Winter; political, charitable and social balls; what it costs to get up a great ball at the Academy; facts useful to ball-goers;—

A pleasant and seasonable article, containing valuable information on OUR SPARROWS—what they were engaged to do, and how they have performed their work; how they increase and multiply; do they starve our native song-birds, and must we convert them into pot-pie?—an important question answered;—

GRIEVANCES OF OUR CITY SCHOOL TEACHERS—the primary department teachers' complaints of poor pay; the matter before the Board of Education;—

The FIFTH-AVENUE CATHEDRAL—rapid progress of the work of construction; the walls already above the ground level; interesting details;—

CANNED FRUITS—how and where they are prepared; facts for consumers to note; some of the tricks of the trade;—

The usual quantity of NOTES AND COMMENTS, short paragraphs on queer subjects, discovered here and there in our domestic and foreign exchanges, specially prepared for the Sunday edition of the TIMES;—

EDITORIALS, ARTICLES, AND NOTES, on topics of the day, political, social and general;—

The MUSICAL and THEATRICAL NEWS and GOSSIP of the week, at home and abroad, with announcements of promised new attractions;—

Full LOCAL REPORTS; NEWS of BROOKLYN, and the neighboring cities and towns of JERSEY;—

MILITARY NOTES; summaries of FOREIGN and RELIGIOUS news, &c., &c.

The Sunday edition of the TIMES has a large and steadily increasing circulation. It goes among the best class of readers in the City and immediate neighborhood, including Brooklyn, and the near cities and towns of New-Jersey, and is doubtless more thoroughly read than any other Sunday paper. It is, consequently, an excellent advertising medium, and is so regarded by many of the largest advertisers. Advertisements intended for insertion in this edition must be received in the TIMES Publication Office by 8½ this evening to insure proper classification.

NEW-YORK TIMES FOR EUROPE.

The EUROPEAN EDITION of the NEW-YORK TIMES is published THIS MORNING, and may be had at the counter of the publication office, in wrappers, ready for mailing. Price FIVE CENTS.

It will contain a full digest of Political, General and Local News up to the latest moment; a review of the Money and Produce Markets; all the Telegraphic News contained in the DAILY TIMES of this date; and such selections from the editorials and correspondence of the TIMES as may have interest for Americans residing abroad and for European subscribers.

The EUROPEAN EDITION of the TIMES will be found on file in the offices of all the leading bankers in Europe.

B. F. STEVENS, No. 7 Henrietta-street, Covent Garden, London, is agent for THE TIMES in Great Britian. He will receive subscriptions and advertisements, and supply copies of the papers to Americans temporarily in London.

A Universal Remedy.—"BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES," for Coughs, Colds and Bronchial Affections, now stand the first in public favor and confidence; this result has been acquired by a test of many years. Its merits and extensive use have caused the Troches to be counterfeited, and we would caution purchasers to be on their guard against worthless imitations.

The Hair, Scalp and Face.—Dr. B. C. PERRY, the skillful and well-known Dermatologist, having closed his Boston office, can now be consulted at his New-York office, No. 49 Bond-st., where he treats, with special prescriptions, Falling, Loss and Prematurely Gray Hair, Dandruff, Itching, Eczema, Ringworm, Scald Heads, and all diseases of the scalp which destroy the hair. Also, Comedones, (black worms or grubs,) Moth Patches, Freckles, Unnatural Red Noses, Pimply Faces, and all cutaneous eruptions and scaly disquamations upon the face.

Sometimes a Cold will not yield to ordinary remedies, because of the severe inflammation of the delicate lining of the tubes through which the air we breathe is distributed to the lungs. This obstruction produces pain and soreness, hoarseness, cough, difficulty of breathing, hectic fever, and a spitting of blood, matter or phlegm, finally exhausting the strength of the patient, and developing very serious disease. Dr. JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT seldom fails to remove these symptoms by relieving the lungs of all obstructing matter, and healing all soreness. Pleurisy, Asthma and Bronchitis, are likewise cured by this standard remedy, and the reputation it has maintained for over thirty years, affords the best guarantee of its merit. Sold everywhere.

PUBLISH THIS WEEK:

1. NATURE'S ARISTOCRACY; OR, BATTLES AND WOUNDS IN TIMES OF PEACE. By Miss JENNIE COLLINS. Edited by Col. RUSSELL H. CONWELL, author of "Why and How." 2mo. Cloth, $1 50.

Miss Jennie Collins is well known as an earnest worker in the working-women's cause. In this book is presented a thrilling narrative of the trials and temptations to which young girls are subjected in their efforts to earn their daily bread, drawn from personal experience, and a thorough knowledge of the class she seeks to benefit.

2. MANUAL OF BIBLE SELECTIONS AND RESPONSIVE EXERCISES. For Public and Private Schools of all grades, Sabbath, Mission, Reform Schools, and Family Worship. By Mrs. S. B. PERRY. 16mo. Cloth, $1; Morocco backs, 60 cents.

BIBLE RESPONSIVE EXERCISES. Abridged from "Perry's Bible Manual." Cloth backs, 30 cents.

In making these selections, leading representatives of all denominations have been consulted, and the book has been carefully and candidly prepared that it may help to solve the great question now so widely discussed: "Shall the Bible be banished from our Public Schools?" by showing how the Bible may be retained in a true spirit and practice of Christian reciprocity.

THE BEST FAMILY MAGAZINE IN AMERICA!

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

Nearly 50,000 Copies of first number sold!

Four magazines in one for $3 a year.

HAVING PURCHASED PUTNAM'S MAGAZINE, HOURS AT HOME, AND THE RIVERSIDE MAGAZINE, and secured their combined circulation, as well as the best contributors to all these old favorites, in addition to the able corps of writers, in both this country and Europe, previously engaged for SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY, we are now enabled to offer to the people THE BEST FAMILY MAGAZINE IN AMERICA AT THE VERY LOW PRICE OF $3 A YEAR.—NO CLUB RATES.

The new magazine is conducted by Dr. J. G. HOLLAND, (Timothy Titcomb,) assisted by able men in all the departments, and every number is PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED!

The Editors and Publishers are daily adding to their means for rendering the magazine attractive; and their aim will be to make each number an improvement on its predecessors.

THE GRAND SERIAL STORY of the year is by GEORGE MACDONALD, the rising star among English novelists.

The November number contains an original poem of great beauty, by WILLIAM MORRIS, and the beginning of a brilliant story by REBECCA HARDING DAVIS; and a number of other striking contributions.

The December number is especially rich in pictorial and popular attractions. There is a charming Thanksgiving story.

An article of especial interest to engineers and railroad men, and all interested in great public improvements, on the Hoosac Tunnel; Choice Poems, Essays, Stories, Sketches of Street Scenes in New-York, Jail Birds and their Flights.

An Illustrated Humorous Department; Articles on timely topics, by Dr. HOLLAND, &c., &c.

THE GRAND HOLIDAY NUMBER,

of which we print

100,000 COPIES!

with extra pages, CHRISTMAS STORIES, CHRISTMAS POEMS, CHRISTMAS PICTURES, CHRISTMAS MUSIC and a CHRISTMAS CAROL by the Editor, &c., &c.—will be one of the most beautiful numbers of a magazine ever issued to the public.

It will contain, among other gems, the beginning of a story in his most brilliant vein, by

to be received by us in advance of its publication in Denmark.

Also, a splendidly illustrated CHRISTMAS STORY, unique in scenery and plot, by a celebrated writer. Also, an article containing one of the finest series of Landscape Illustrations ever prepared in this country, from original drawings by one of the first American artists. Other striking features will be duly announced.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE!

Make home happy by a holiday present of a year's subscription to

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

THE POPULAR EDITION OF

FROUDE'S HISTORY OF ENGLAND,
FROM THE FALL OF WOLSEY TO THE DEATH OF ELIZABETH.

In twelve vols., 12mo., $1 25 per volume, or the twelve volumes in a neat case for $15. The same in half-calf extra at $36.

CRITICAL NOTICES.

"Considering the surprising merits of this history, its great energy and grace of style, its dramatic power of description, its profound analysis of character and events, and the attractive form in which the publishers here offer it, and its exceeding cheapness, withal, we wonder that any intelligent man should refrain from its immediate purchase."—Boston Watchman & Reflector.

"We know of no living historian who writes more graphically, or possesses to a greater degree those qualities of style which make the annals of nations popular and interesting."—Boston Commonwealth.

MOMMSEN'S HISTORY OF ROME,
FROM THE EARLIEST TIME TO THE PERIOD OF ITS DECLINE.

CRITICAL NOTICE.

"A work of the very highest merit. Its learning is exact and profound; its narrative full of genius and skill; its descriptions of men are admirably vivid. We wish to place on record our opinion that Dr. Mommsen's is by far the best history of the decline and fall of the Roman Commonwealth."—London Times.

"FRANKLY SPEAKING, WE AVER THAT 'THE LIVING AGE' HAS NO EQUAL IN ANY COUNTRY."—Philadelphia Press.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE,

Of which more than one hundred volumes have been issued, has received the commendation of Judge Story, Chancellor Kent, President Adams, Historians Sparks, Prescott, Bancroft and Ticknor, Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, and many others; and it admittedly "continues to stand at the head of its class."

Issued every SATURDAY, it gives fifty-two numbers of sixty-four pages each, or more than THREE THOUSAND DOUBLE-COLUMN OCTAVO PAGES of reading matter yearly; and is the ONLY COMPILATION that presents, with a SATISFACTORY COMPLETENESS as well as freshness, the best Essays, Reviews, Criticisms, Tales, Poetry, Scientific, Biographical, Historical and Political information, from the entire body of foreign periodical literature, and from the pens of the ABLEST LIVING WRITERS.

It is therefore indispensable to every one who wishes to keep pace with the event or intellectual progress of the time, or to cultivate in himself or his family general intelligence and literary taste.

EXTRACTS FROM NOTICES.

From Rev. Henry Ward Beecher.

Were I, in view of all the competitors that are now in the field, to choose, I should certainly choose the LIVING AGE....Nor is there, in any library that I know of, so much instructive and entertaining reading in the same number of volumes.

From the Nation, New-York.

The best of all our eclectic publications.

From the Illinois State Journal.

It has more real, solid worth, more useful information, than any similar publication we know of. The ablest essays, the most entertaining stories, the finest poetry of the English language, are here gathered together.

From the Lutheran & Missionary, Philadelphia.

An extraordinary value marks many of the articles of this publication, because they are the productions of the ablest men of our times.

From the Pacific, San Francisco.

Its publication in weekly numbers gives to it a great advantage over its monthly contemporaries, in the spirit and freshness of its contents.

From the Advance, Chicago, September, 1870.

Every weekly number of LITTELL'S LIVING AGE nowadays is equal to a first-class monthly. For solid merit, it is the cheapest magazine in the land.

From the Christian Register, Boston, August, 1870.

It has never borne the marks of more careful research and wiser selection than it does now.

From the Chicago Evening Journal.

It stands at the head of nineteenth-century literature, however critically considered.

From the Christian Examiner, Richmond.

It is the great eclectic of this country.

From the Chicago Daily Republican.

It occupies a field filled by no other periodical. The subscriber to "LITTELL" finds himself in possession, at the end of the year, of four large volumes of such reading as can be obtained in no other form, and comprising selections from every department of Science, Art, Philosophy, and Belles-lettres. Those who desire a thorough compendium of all that is admirable and noteworthy in the literary world will be spared the trouble of wading through the sea of reviews and magazines published abroad; for they will find the essence of all compacted and concentrated here.

Published weekly at $8 a year, free of postage. An extra copy sent gratis to any one getting up a club of five new subscribers. Address

LITTLE & GAY, Boston.

The best Home and Foreign literature at club prices.

For $10, LITTELL'S LIVING AGE, weekly, containing the cream of Foreign periodical literature, and either one of the leading magazines of Home literature named below, will be sent to one address for one year, viz.:

HARPER'S MONTHLY, (or WEEKLY, or BAZAR,) THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY, LIPPINCOTT'S MONTHLY, THE GALAXY, OLD AND NEW, or APPLETONS' JOURNAL (weekly); or, for $8 50, THE LIVING AGE and THE RIVERSIDE MAGAZINE, or OUR YOUNG FOLKS. Address as above.

NATURE. A Weekly Illustrated Journal of Science. No. 53. Price 12 cents.

COWPER.—THE GLOBE EDITION. THE POETICAL WORKS OF WILLIAM COWPER. Edited, with notes and biographical introduction, by Rev. WILLIAM BENHAM. $1 75.

"So far as we have seen them, the 'Globe' editions (Macmillan's) of our English poets are admirable for their scholarly editing, their typographical excellence, their compendious form, and their cheapness. Mr. Benham's edition of 'Cowper' is one of permanent value."—Saturday Review.

JEVONS.—ELEMENTARY LESSONS IN LOGIC. Deductive and Inductive. With copious questions and examples, and a vocabulary of logical terms. By W. STANLEY JEVONS, M. A. (Macmillan's Series of Class-books.) $1 25.

"We cannot lay aside these 'Lessons in Logic' without expressing a hope that we shall soon see them very generally adopted both in our universities and in our colleges. Up to the present time it has been difficult for the teacher to know what text-book to put in the hands of his pupils; but we think Prof. Jevons has solved the difficulty, and furnished a manual alike simple, interesting and scientific."—Athenæum.

MARLITT.—THE COUNTESS GISELLA. Translated from the German of E. MARLITT. $1 75.

RAWLINSON.—A MANUAL OF ANCIENT HISTORY, FROM THE EARLIEST TIMES TO THE FALL OF THE WESTERN EMPIRE. By GEORGE RAWLINSON, M. A. (Clarendon Press Series.) 8vo. $3.

"Mr. Rawlinson's 'Manual of Ancient History' will be found a most useful book of reference. In respect to convenience of arrangement, clearness of statement, and general accuracy, it leaves nothing to be desired, and certainly has no rival in the field it covers."—The Nation.

EDITOR'S DRAWER.

The forty-second volume of HARPER'S MAGAZINE opens with the present number. From the matter which they have on hand, or which has been secured for this volume, the publishers confidently expect that it will even surpass its predecessors. Each number of HARPER'S MAGAZINE contains from fifty to one hundred per cent. more matter than a single number of any other monthly periodical in the world, its contents being equal to those of a volume of Macaulay's History of England. Each number contains Serials and Short Stories from the best writers in Europe and America, contributed expressly for HARPER'S MAGAZINE; richly illustrated articles of Travel; carefully prepared papers of a Historical and Scientific character, a large number of which are profusely illustrated; timely articles upon important Current Topics; lighter papers upon an infinite variety of subjects; Poems from our most brilliant and popular writers; and, in addition to all these, five Editorial departments covering every matter of current interest in Art, Society, History, Science, Literature and Anecdote. The Editor's Scientific Record contains every month from thirty to forty separate articles, giving the latest discoveries in Science, with special attention to their practical application. HARPER'S MAGAZINE, while it has so much for every class of readers, maintains throughout a high standard of literary excellence not surpassed by that of any other periodical.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

No sales were effected at the Exchange, yesterday, (Nov. 18,) and although a number of persons interested in real estate were in attendance, the rooms seemed almost deserted, after the excitement in the markets of the past three days. The Central Park lot sale, and the result attending it, occasioned considerable discussion, and the opinion was freely expressed that it was most unfortunate that the auction was not allowed to proceed; some considered that the prices realized were as much as the lots offered were worth, while others thought that although the property sold brought comparatively low figures, it would have been better to have continued the sale. The lots undisposed of, belonging to Mr. FERRIS, and advertised for the auction of Thursday, are now offered at private sale by MULLER, WILKINS & CO., No. 7 Pine-street. No transactions will be made at the Exchange today, and but few sales are as yet advertised for next week. Such as are to take place are mainly of a legal character. The business of the week has not resulted as favorable as the parties interested hoped for, and consequently but little activity in public sales is looked for at present.

COUNTRY REAL ESTATE.

A FIRST-CLASS RESIDENCE FOR SALE AT HUDSON PARK, between Spuyten Duyvil and Riverdale.—This beautiful property is now offered for sale, and presents superior advantages to a party desiring a homestead surpassing elegance, or to the capitalist as an investment. The dwelling has a frontage of 93 feet by about 40, contains every conceivable modern improvement, and is built upon an eminence commanding a splendid view of the Hudson, both up and down. The out-buildings are thoroughly complete and in perfect order. The grounds are handsomely and artistically arranged, well planted with trees, shrubs and flowers, and are most attractive. The natural advantages of this property, being only twenty-five minutes by railroad and about one hour's drive from Wall-st., and in view of the fact of the Hudson and Harlem Railroads converging at this point, makes this one of the most desirable and valuable estates in the vicinity of New-York.

For full particulars, maps, photographs, price, terms, &c., bona-fide purchasers only may apply to WM. SINCLAIR, JR., & CO., No. 3 Pine-st.

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE—THE White House Farm, 140 acres; fruit and truck very early; 4½ miles from Norfolk, Va. For further particulars, inquire of G. A. BRADBROOK, No. 175 West 45th-st.

REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION.

BENJ. P. FAIRCHILD, Auctioneer.

BY V. K. STEVENSON, SON & CO.
Office, No. 11 Pine-st.
(Unless previously disposed of by private sale, as an entirety,)
On THURSDAY, Dec. 8,
At 12 o'clock, at Exchange Sales-room,
No. 111 Broadway.
(No postponement on account of bad weather.)

POSITIVE SALE OF THE ENTIRE BLOCK BOUNDED BY 5TH-AV., (Central Park,) MADISON-AV., 78TH AND 79TH STS., comprising thirty-four building lots, and facing the GRAND 79th-st. entrance to Central Park.

This block has long been considered by many competent judges as THE CHOICEST on the line of the Park. It is the only WHOLE block that can be purchased. It is adapted to IMMEDIATE improvement; 5TH-AV., 78th and 79th sts. are sewered, and the streets on the four sides of the block are PAVED with Nicolson or Belgian pavement. The Madison-av. CARS are running up as far as 86th-st.

The location is HIGH, DRY and HEALTHY, OVERLOOKING the HANDSOMEST portions of the CENTRAL PARK. The sale will be "POSITIVE." The block will be offered AS A WHOLE, at a set-up price, when, if not taken, it will be sold IN SINGLE LOTS. The TITLE is indisputable. Seventy per cent. may remain, if desired, on bond and mortgage for FIVE YEARS. Each and every lot, with each and every rear, IS RESTRICTED, as is also every lot in the block on the north side of 79th-st., thus securing beyond any contingency an UNEXCEPTIONABLE neighborhood and MAGNIFICENT improvements. Parties wishing to buy the ENTIRE property before the day fixed for selling at auction may apply to DUN, BARLOW & CO., No. 335 Broadway; or to the auctioneers,

The mortgage is for $3,500,000 on a road 270 miles long, which has been in successful operation for many years. The lien is about $13,000 per mile, which makes it, with few exceptions, the smallest issued on any road in the United States. It was created for the sole purpose of paying off the debt due the State of Tennessee, amounting to $4,117,761 10. An examination into this security will prove it to be one of the best ever offered in this market.

Taking the average earnings of the railroad, per mile, even at the present time, when the work of the road is being performed on disconnected portions, and computing for the whole distance of 170 miles at the same rate, we obtain an aggregate of $850,000 for gross annual returns. Allowing fifty per cent. for operating expenses, which will be a liberal estimate, until the lapse of time shall have rendered new iron and rails necessary, the result—net earnings—is $425,000, to pay interest on a bonded debt of $20,000 per mile, or more than twelve per cent. on the amount of the mortgage bonds.

From this exhibit it appears that, even at the present moment, holders of the seven per cent. mortgage bonds are amply secured. But it must be borne in mind that at this time an interval of forty miles separates the two portions of the road which are in operation, and therefore that freight moving eastward pays tribute now only to half of the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Minnesota Railroad line, being diverted for through transportation over connecting lines. When the existing gap is finished—which, it is assured, will be by the 1st of December—goods which now pass over one-half will then traverse the whole of the line, thereby doubling the present receipts of the road, even assuming that no increase of the gross amount transported takes place. A glance at the map will show the position.

We may assume, therefore, from the above exhibit of the existing traffic, that the following estimate will represent the income accruing on the completion of the enterprise after the 1st of December.

Receipts on 170 miles from Burlington to Cedar Falls, $8,000 per mile	$1,356,000
Operating expenses at 50 per cent., (annual rate for first five years)	678,000
Net income	$678,000
Interest on bonds at 7 per cent. gold, equivalent to 8 per cent. currency	273,000
Earnings in excess of interest applicable to dividend on stock, being 12 per cent. on amount of stock, say $20,000 per mile	$405,000

This remarkable exhibit is accounted for by the character of the enterprise and the country through which it runs, and may be explained on the following ground:

First—The Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Minnesota Railroad is a continuation of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, (the best enterprise in the West,) and it traverses, without competition, the richest portion of Iowa—the most fertile State in the Union—and receives as tributaries the Chicago and Northwest, Rock Island and Pacific, Union Pacific, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Minnesota Central, and Rockford and Rock Island Railroads.

Second—It is the first and only completed Iowa road running in the interest of St. Louis, Chicago, St. Paul, Mankato, and the Great Northwest.

Third—It brings Chicago forty-five miles nearer to St. Paul than ever before.

Fourth—It gives the only practicable route from St. Paul to St. Louis, ninety miles nearer than any other route. Its road-bed is in the finest cereal-bearing valley in the world.

Fifth—It has four (4) great initial and terminal points, viz.: St. Paul, St. Louis, Burlington and Chicago, and runs through the finest region in the world for Stock and Grain. Its sources of traffic are immense, both from local and through transportation. The products of the country comprise Timber, Coal, Cereals and Cattle—all in unlimited quantities. The population of the surrounding districts, as shown by the census returns of the past three years, is immense, and increasing at the rate of almost twenty per cent. per annum. This rate of increase must be greatly accelerated by the influx of wealth and population which railway construction always brings with it.

The above statement comprises some of the reasons why the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Minnesota Railroad is worthy of a place among the first Railways of the land. The stock of the road has been all subscribed to by wealthy parties along the line, and paid in full. The bonds are held at 90, and interest in currency, and are for sale by banks and bankers generally. The greater portion of the whole issue has been disposed of in sums varying from $1,000 to $50,000, and the class of subscribers is largely represented by Trustees of Funds, Cashiers of Banks and Saving Institutions, Insurance Companies and judicious and permanent investors.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the Company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to the Bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market-price considerably above par. United States Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we may regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New-York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

WE OFFER FOR SALE

Evansville, Henderson and Nashville Railroad

FIRST MORTGAGE 7 PER CENT. BONDS, due in 1897, interest payable on the first days of January and July, at the BANK OF AMERICA, New-York.

The line of this road extends from HENDERSON, on the OHIO RIVER, to the State line of TENNESSEE, passing through the rich cornfields of Western Kentucky, and forming important connections with CHICAGO, NASHVILLE, the SOUTH and EAST.

Seventy-nine miles are completed, at a cost of $2,800,000, raised almost entirely from stock subscriptions, leaving only twenty miles to be built, which section is nearly ready for the iron, and will be completed and opened by January next.

The net earnings are now quite large, and there is no reasonable doubt that the extensive local traffic and important connections of the road will make it abundantly remunerative to the stockholders.

The first and only mortgage of all the property and franchises of the Company is for ONE MILLION DOLLARS, (or $10,000 per mile,) payable as above.

More than $500,000 of the bonds have been already negotiated, and the remainder will be sold for the present at 82 and accrued interest; at which rate they constitute a very desirable investment.

Further information will be furnished on application to us.

THANKSGIVING.

THANKSGIVING

AT THE FIVE POINTS HOUSE OF INDUSTRY,
No. 155 Worth-st., New-York.

This institution depends upon voluntary contributions for its support, and this year presents the following statement of work for the past twelve months:

Some three hundred and fifty thousand meals have been given. Ninety-one thousand lodgings given. Over one hundred thousand pounds of bread, besides potatoes, meal, fuel, &c., have been furnished to the poor. More than seven hundred dollars in money given to worthy poor. Eleven hundred and seventy-one children taught in our school. Average daily attendance three hundred and seventy.

Our treasury is now largely overdrawn, and it is hoped that the contributions will be liberal, as our wants are urgent.

Children will dine at 1 o'clock. After they have eaten we open our doors to all who desire to come to the feast. The sight is usually an affecting one—men, women and children, pinched by hunger and want, flock to our tables. We desire to make preparations for fifteen hundred.

Services will commence in the new and beautiful chapel, which was finished this year, at 12 o'clock, and continue until about 4 o'clock. All are invited to attend these interesting exercises, which will consist of addresses, singing of glees, anthems, &c., by the children.

Clothing and materials, new or second-hand, and all articles of food, will be gratefully received and sent for, on notice being sent to the House.

TRUSTEES,
(Who are also incorporators.)
Archibald Russell, President; Hugh N. Camp, Treasurer; George F. Betts, Secretary; Charles Ely, Marshall Lefferts, Frederick G. Foster, Morris K. Jesup, D. Lydig Suydam, C. H. Dabney.
W. F. BARNARD, Superintendent.

WASHINGTON.

The Negro Population—An Increase Shown by the Census—The Public Printing-Office—Huckster Stands in Public Buildings—Fifty-one Years' Immigration to the United States.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—It has been very commonly believed, since the war, especially in many parts of the South, that the negro population of the United States was decreasing considerably. The belief was based upon a consideration of the destitute circumstances in which they were placed by emancipation, on account of which contagious diseases made great ravages among them, as well as the various diseases induced by poverty, uncleanliness, and vice. Declarations have been frequently made that a condition of freedom was fatal to their increase, and that the race would speedily become extinct on this continent. The census returns furnish a substantial contradiction to such views. While the exact figures cannot be given, it can be stated that no considerable decrease will be shown; and it now appears that 1870 will show a slight increase over 1860 in the negro population, notwithstanding all the extraordinary causes operating to produce an opposite result.

POSTAL FACILITIES ON STATEN ISLAND.

A new Post-office, for the benefit of Staten Islanders, has been established, between Stapleton and New-Dorp, under the name of Fort Wadsworth, and M. M. KEHOE appointed Postmaster.

THE PUBLIC PRINTING-OFFICE.

[illegible] CLAPP, public printer, will, in his annual report, recommend an enlargement of the Government printing-office, which is now greatly overcrowded, and the public printing much behind hand as a consequence.

PAVING WASHINGTON STREETS.

Washington continues to be the experimental garden of the nation for all purposes. Seven different kinds of wood pavement and one of concrete are now going down in different parts of the city.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

VENDERS' STANDS IN PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

A. B. MULLETT, the Supervising Architect, toward the end of his report to the Secretary of the Treasury, recommends that the practice of converting public buildings into establishments for the accommodation of retail venders of peanuts, apples and other similar commodities, be prohibited by law. The vestibules and approaches of many of our buildings are at present disfigured, and the public incommoded by the stalls that benefit no one but the owners. He is at a loss to understand why one citizen has not as good a right to carry on his private business as another, or why certain favored persons should enjoy a monopoly of these stands.

IMMIGRATION FOR FIFTY-ONE YEARS.

The monthly report of the Bureau of Statistics (No. 2) contains elaborate tables showing the immigration into the United States for the last fifty-one years, and the number from each country. The following is the aggregate for each year:

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

NEW-YORK.

The examination in the case of AUGUSTIN W. MARSH, formerly of the firm of LOCKWOOD & MARSH, manufacturers of hoop-skirts, charged with fraudulent bankruptcy, was commenced before Commissioner SHIELDS yesterday. Mr. EDWARD BENJAMIN, of the firm of BENJAMIN & DOREMUS, testified that he sold a large quantity of crinoline wire to LOCKWOOD & MARSH, on four months' credit, and that the accused admitted to him that he had appropriated twenty-five barrels containing wire to his use when insolvent in order to recompense himself for losses he had incurred on account of the firm. The examination will be resumed next week.

WARREN E. BROWN, book-keeper and salesman for PETER W. NEEFUS, at No. 231 West-street, was arrested, yesterday, on a warrant issued by Justice HOGAN, of the Tombs, on a charge of embezzlement. BROWN, it is charged, was in the frequent habit of selling goods and keeping back a portion of the proceeds, in this manner defrauding his employer of nearly $500, as is supposed. The Magistrate received one item where the accused had sold $79 worth of goods and retained $39, as the basis of a complaint, and held BROWN for examination in the sum of $2,000 bail. There is also a civil suit pending against the prisoner, who is under bail in the sum of $11,000 to await result.

Coroner ROLLINS made some investigation yesterday in the case of FRITZ WAISHAUSEN, the little boy who died on Wednesday at No. 89 East Eighth-street, from tetanus. It appears that he lifted a grating on the 13th of September, and by its fall had his thumb severely crushed. The injury was properly dressed, and the boy went to school, where he was whipped for some offense, and compelled to stand on a stool. Illness afterward ensued, and tetanus was the ultimate result. The physician who attended the boy considers that the excitement produced by the punishment at school hastened death. The case is not concluded.

An exhibition was given yesterday at the Rink, of a friction brake dynamometer, which was applied to a pulley on the shafting of the machinery which was used at the Fair, for the purpose of ascertaining the proportion of the indicated power which it is capable of exerting in useful effort. The dynamometer shows the available horse-power given by the engine, the indicated horse-power as shown by the steam in the cylinder, and the developed horse-power, the difference being the power lost in working the engine. The experiments were witnessed by a number of scientific men, and will be repeated today.

HENRY ROSS, a steward, a native of Scotland, was arraigned before Justice HOGAN, at the Tombs, yesterday, on a charge of having stolen a quantity of wearing apparel, valued at $50, from RICHARD REDDY, at No. 282 Front-street. The prisoner confessed his guilt, having been found in possession of the stolen property, and urged as an excuse that he was destitute. The Magistrate remanded ROSS for trial at the General Sessions.

A large number of persons visited the office of the Pneumatic Tunnel Railway, at the corner of Warren-street and Broadway, yesterday, for the purpose of witnessing a practical exhibition of the working of the new transit system. The tunnel has been completed as far as Murray-street. The road was in running order, yesterday, and a great many visitors took advantage of the opportunity of being propelled through the tunnel by atmospheric pressure. The car became out of order at one time, and caused considerable delay.

FRANK DUFFY was sent to Ludlow-street Jail in default of $5,000 bail, yesterday, to await an examination at the United States Commissioner's office, on a charge of having registered his name as a voter in the Twelfth District of the Sixteenth Ward in a fraudulent manner.

Rev. HENRY WARD BEECHER has declined an invitation from the Young Men's Christian Association of Ottawa, Canada, to visit that place, his engagements at home making it impossible for him to get away.

Mr. E. P. WESTON, the pedestrian, goes into training today, for his great walk next week. The Medical Committee will weigh his food and prescribe the quality, which will be furnished to him at such times as the doctors shall indicate.

The second floor rear of No. 38 Rose-street, was damaged by fire, last evening, and the furniture of HENRY SCHROEDER, the occupant, to the amount of $150, and the building, which is owned by P. RYLANDER, to the amount of $300.

JOHN HURLEY, a laborer, yesterday, fell down an embankment at One Hundred and Thirty-ninth-street and Seventh-avenue, receiving a severe injury to his spine. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital.

A slight fire occurred about 2 P. M. yesterday, in the dwelling-house of Mr. FLETCHER, No. 214 Graham-avenue, caused by children playing with matches. The loss was about $50.

The second annual masquerade surprise party of the "Merry Four," of the Tenth Ward, takes place the 24th of this month. The floor manager is Mr. CHAS. A. WALKER.

The following sudden deaths were reported yesterday: CATHARINE HARRIS, aged sixty, at No. 15 Ter[illegible]th-street; ELIZABETH JOHNSON, colored, aged twenty-five, at No. 50 Third-street; and LOUISA PAYNE, aged thirty, at No. 52 Wooster-street. Coroner ROLLINS held inquests, death being found to have resulted from natural causes in each case.

BROOKLYN.

ELLEN TUCKER and MARY SCOTTY, women of disreputable character, were detected yesterday afternoon in the act of passing a saw, a chisel and a hammer into the cell of ROBERT MURRAY, now confined in the County Jail for grand larceny. They were promptly seized and locked up. They had gained permission to see MURRAY on the pretense that they were relatives of his and wanted to inquire after some family matters.

A partial examination was had before Justice WALSH, yesterday morning, in the case of United States Deputy SHAURMAN, who is charged with assaulting JAMES DUNN at the polls on election day. Several witnesses testified to having seen the assault committed. The hearing will be resumed today.

ANTHONY HILDEBRAND, the associate of C. A. B. BERGEMAN, was tried and found guilty, in the City Court, yesterday, of forging a will in the name of JOHN PHILIP BAUN. The circumstances of this fraud were fully reported when BERGEMAN was tried. A motion for suspension of judgment has been made and granted in both cases.

MARY CUNNINGHAM, a minor, brought action, through her father, yesterday, against MARCUS BASS, in the City Court, to recover $10,000 damages for injuries received by being bitten by a dog belonging to the defendant. The case is still on.

The Assessment Committee of the Board of Aldermen met yesterday, and decided to report, at the next meeting of the Board, in favor of the confirmation of the drainage assessment laid on District No. 2, amounting to $500,000.

JOSEPH BALDWIN, a waiter, while employed in washing some windows on the second story of the Washington House, yesterday, fell to the ground and broke three of his ribs and his right ankle bone. He was carried to the Long Island College Hospital.

Judge WOODRUFF will sit at the United States District Court next month for the purpose of hearing appeal cases.

STATEN ISLAND.

A woman named BETSEY JOHNSON, a hotel keeper, was yesterday arrested by the Police for disorderly conduct in throwing her furniture out of the window and otherwise insulting her guests. She was sent to prison for ten days by Justice GARRETT.

A house on Pond-row, Castleton, was yesterday set on fire by children while playing with matches. The premises, which were the property of Mr. FRIAR, were entirely consumed, at a loss of about $2,000; insured.

An attempt was made by burglars last night to force the residence of Mr. NICHOLS, at Clove Road, Middletown. An alarm having been given, the thieves made their escape, leaving behind some of their tools, which are now in the possession of Sergt. HOLBROOK.

JOSEPH YOUNG and JOHN O'BRIEN were, yesterday, arrested by Officer SILVEY for stealing a "gate" table from the rooms of PHILIP MYER. They were held to answer the charge of grand larceny.

NEW-JERSEY.

As the 2 o'clock train from New-York, on the Newark and New-York Railroad, yesterday afternoon, neared Bergen-avenue, two ruffians on the train refused to pay their fare. When the train arrived at the avenue the conductor attempted to put the fellows off the train, when they turned on him and beat him unmercifully. One of the brakemen came to his assistance, and he, too, got the worst of the conflict. The train was detained till reinforcements could be summoned, and the offenders were finally overpowered and put off.

The report of the President of the Jersey City Children's Home shows receipts for the year of $6,179 and an expenditure of $6,038. The average expense for each scholar has been $113. A fair for the benefit of this institution will be held on the 1st of December. A gentleman of the city has offered to be one of ten to give $500 each to the Home, and two of the Fire Companies have given between them $150 in aid of the fair.

The Fish Commissioners of New-Jersey and Pennsylvania have been examining the waters of the Delaware, having spent the entire week on that river. On Thursday night they held a meeting at Trenton, and, it is supposed, considered the matter of presenting bills for the protection of the fish of that river to the Legislatures of the two States, though their proceedings were not made public.

At a meeting held at Gen. RUNYON's office, at Newark, yesterday, the Major-General's prize won at the recent national target-shooting match, was awarded to A. MCNAIR, of the Second Regiment. There being some misunderstanding in regard to the winners of the other principal prizes, their presentation was postponed till the 6th of next month.

THOMAS WILKINSON, driver on the Broad-street line of horse-cars, Newark, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon. The car was off the track, and WILKINSON, while stooping for the purpose of raising the car, was kicked in the temple and injured so sadly as to render his recovery impossible.

EDWARD MARTIN, THOMAS J. MOFFAT and JOSEPH BYERS, each implicated in the crimes perpetrated by the Camden election voters, have been arrested and held to bail, in $2,000 each, for trial in the United States District Court, at Trenton.

The Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument at Paterson has been completed. Its cost was $30,000. $10,000 was given by the City Council, $10,000 by the county, and the same amount was raised among the citizens by subscription.

Hon. A. G. CATTELL, it is stated by the West Jersey Press, will certainly be a candidate for re-election to the United States Senate. Ex-Secretary ROBESON desires it to be announced that he is not a candidate.

A new and singular disease has broken out among the cattle of Somerset County, New-Jersey. The animals, when attacked, show no extraordinary symptoms, but die in about three hours.

The official census returns give Ocean County a population of 13,676, an increase of about sixteen per cent. in the last decade.

ARMY AND NAVY RECORD.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—A general Court-martial, consisting of Cols. Sackett Buchanan, and Drum Majors Pratt, Pelansee, Hardin and Dana, and Capts. Hawkins and Jackson, with Lieut. Kellogg as Judge-Advocate, has been appointed, to meet at Detroit on the 21st inst., for the trial of Capt. Fergus Walker.

Surgeon Bates has been ordered to the Pawnee, at Norfolk. Assistant-Surgeon Fort has been detached from the New-York Navy-yard and ordered to the receiving-ship at Philadelphia.

A letter received here from Capt. George H. Cooper, commanding the United States steamer Colorado, the flag-ship of Commodore Rogers, commanding the Asiatic Station, states, with regard to that vessel: "She handles beautifully from a light royal breeze to a good stiff single, reef-topsail wind. She will stay like a yacht, and her sailing qualities are excellent, and no mistake. She rolls deep but easy. We had some noble green seas to try her in doubling the Cape, and, with but one exception, we made every sail ahead, and this was an English clipper bound to Sydney. We were under moderate sail in the vicinity of the Cape, owing to the thick weather, and clipper was carrying signals. Coming up under our lee quarter she cheered. This was a banter. I got the band up and gave them 'God Save the Queen' and then 'Shoo-Fly.' We then made sail to staysails, and gradually stole away from our friend, much to her surprise."

The United States steamer Delaware, now on her way home from the Asiatic Squadron, with Vice-Admiral Rowan on board, is shortly expected to reach this country, the time in which a voyage of that length is usually made having nearly expired. She will probably arrive about the 10th of December.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 18.—The United States ship Monongahela was passed through the dock and up on land for repairs today. When the Wyoming shall be in dock again there will not be a single vessel, except tug-boats, laying at the yard wharves, and there are only two on the stocks in the ship-houses—a state of things unknown before for many years.

For Hats that are "nobby,"
And Furs that are rich,
KNOX, the Hatter, is everywhere noted.
He's king of all hatters,
Rules fashion alone,
And is everywhere hourly quoted.
At No. 212 Broadway you'll find this hatter;
You need a chapeau—that's what's the matter.

GETTING IN FOOD AND FUEL.—Prudent people lay in stocks of coal, wood and food, for Winter's use; and it is cheaper to buy by the cord and the cargo than in driblets. So in getting in a year's supply of food for the mind. It is cheaper to get up clubs, or to get magazines and newspapers at club rates, through one office. The undersigned will fill all orders by post or express for any periodical—be it daily, weekly, monthly, or quarterly, no matter where or by whom published—at reduced rates, providing the PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL be included in the list. For example: The PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL, ($3 a year,) and Harper's Weekly, Monthly, or Bazar, (each $4,) will be sent one year for $6; and so of any other of the $4 magazines. The PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL and any other $3 magazine or paper—say Demorest's Magazine—at $5; and so on for those of smaller prices. Thus Clubs may be composed of single copies of different journals, and the subscriber get his reading matter at wholesale rates. Make out your list and get an estimate. Address

Opinions from High Authority.

FROM NEW-YORK COMMERCIAL ADVERTISER, Nov. 12, 1870.

WHAT FIVE DOLLARS WILL DO.—That the Great Premium Land Sale will prove a success, there is no doubt. The plan of distribution is original, and its reliability is vouched for in the fact of its general management being under the direction of Mr. J. C. Derby, a gentleman well known to the newspaper and book publishers in the United States. The manner in which he performed his duties as United States Agent for Exhibitors at the International Exhibition at Paris, in 1867, is a guarantee that he will give satisfaction in this case as well. The salubrity of the climate of this region is vouched for by parties of high authority, among them Mr. Thurlow Weed, who says:

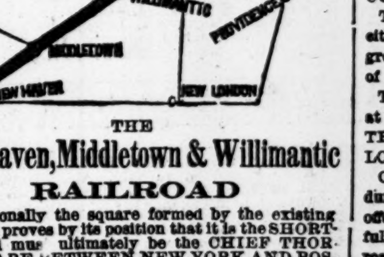
"If Northern people knew how cheap and fertile these lands at Aiken are, and how desirable and pleasant a residence is in this climate, there would be a stampede, not of 'carpet-baggers' merely, but of permanent residents from the North."

WHAT THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE SAYS.

At Aiken, S. C., is an acre of land so productive and so beautiful that if any single county of the State was equally so it would be a marvel. Pear, peach, apple and fig trees, as well as grapes and strawberry vines, furnish more fruit than the family need.—N. C. Meeker, Agricultural Editor New-York Tribune.

NEW-YORK AND BOSTON
AIR LINE ROAD.

The following diagram will explain the positions of the different roads, forming the New-York and Boston THROUGH LINES:



THE
NewHaven, Middletown & Willimantic
RAILROAD

cuts diagonally the square formed by the existing lines, and proves by its position that it is the SHORTEST, and must ultimately be the CHIEF THOROUGHFARE BETWEEN NEW-YORK AND BOSTON.

The road opens up a prosperous and thriving section of the State of Connecticut, heretofore destitute of adequate railroad facilities, which will furnish a very important local traffic, both in freight and passengers.

It is more than three-quarters built, and will be completed in the Spring. The First Mortgage Seven Per Cent. Bonds, based on this line, fifty miles in length, are secured by the real estate, equipment, and valuable franchise of the road. They are issued for only one-half of the actual cost of the property, and are FREE FROM ALL TAXATION in CONNECTICUT.

WINSLOW, LANIER & CO.
BANKERS,
27 Pine-st., New-York,
OFFER FOR SALE THE FOLLOWING SECURITIES:
THE
FIRST MORTGAGE 7 PER CENT.
GOLD BONDS
OF THE
Poughkeepsie and Eastern R. R. Co.

This road, 47 miles in length, is now building from Poughkeepsie, northeasterly, to the State line, forming a connection with the Connecticut Western Road to Hartford, Springfield and the New-England network of roads. The iron is now being laid down, and twenty-one miles will be in operation during the month of November.

The paid in Cash Capital of the Co. is over	$600,000
The First Mortgage Bonds	800,000

The large population, and the heavy local and manufacturing business of Dutchess County, through which the road runs, together with its capital stock, which is paid in cash at par, are ample guarantees for the security of the bonds.

Price 90 cents and accrued interest.

ALSO,

The First Mortgage Seven Per Cent. Gold Bonds of the Evansville, Terre Haute & Chicago Railroad Company.

This road, 55 miles long, extends from Terre Haute northerly to Danville, Ill., forming part of the great through route from Chicago to Terre Haute, Evansville, Nashville and the South. The iron is now being put down, and about 25 miles will be in operation before the close of the year.

The Capital Stock of the Co. is	$450,000
First Mortgage Bonds	750,000

This road is being built by Chauncey Rose, Esq., of Terre Haute, and his associates, who are the owners of the capital stock, which is paid and payable in cash at par. The extraordinary success of the enterprises heretofore managed by these gentlemen, and the high price of the securities based upon them, are evidences of what may be expected from the project.

Price 90 cents and accrued interest.

ALSO,

Dayton and Western Railroad 6 Per Cent. Currency Bonds.

Guaranteed by the Little Miami and the Columbus and Xenia Railroad Companies. Price, 75c. and interest.

ALSO,

City of Fort Wayne 6 Per Cent. Currency Bonds,
AT 75c. AND INTEREST.

ALSO,

City of La Porte, Ind., 7 Per Cent. Currency Bonds,

Issued for the construction of Water-works.

La Porte is one of the most flourishing and thrifty of the smaller Western cities; population, 7,000; taxable value, over $2,000,000; whole issue of bonds, $100,000. The city has no other debt.

Price, 82 1-2 and interest.

Also, 8 and 10 Per Cent. Bonds of various towns in Illinois, for sale at prices to pay investors about 12 per cent.

Full particulars of all these securities furnished on application.

7 PER CENT. GOLD LOAN
ON A COMPLETED TRUNK LINE.
THE INDIANAPOLIS BLOOMINGTON AND WESTERN RAILWAY,

From Indianapolis, Ind., to Pekin, Ill., 205 miles in length, is completed and fully equipped with new and first-class Rolling Stock, and already EARNING NEARLY DOUBLE THE INTEREST ON THE WHOLE ISSUE OF BONDS, with rapidly-increasing receipts.

The Company have leased the Peoria and Pekin Railroad on favorable terms, making the Western Terminus at Peoria, the second city in Illinois, where through connections are made to Omaha and the Pacific, saving over 65 miles travel from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The bonds are secured by a First Mortgage on the Road, Equipments and entire Property of the Company, and, BEING ON A COMPLETED ROAD WHICH PASSES THROUGH ONE OF THE MOST THICKLY POPULATED AND RICHEST PORTIONS OF THE WEST, with so many valuable connecting trunk lines East and West, NO SECURITY CAN BE MORE ABSOLUTELY SAFE.

The road passes through six flourishing and growing cities, and numerous towns, which contain in the aggregate nearly 200,000 people, and within twenty miles of the track there is a population of over 600,000.

THE BONDS ARE CONVERTIBLE into Stock at par, which is a valuable option, as MANY OF THE WESTERN ROADS, LESS FAVORABLY LOCATED, ARE AT A HIGH PREMIUM.

Over seven-eighths of the loan has been marketed during the construction of the line. The balance we offer at 92½ AND INTEREST, giving investors the full benefit of the advantages of the completion of the road.

All marketable securities received in exchange at market rates. Bonds forwarded to all points FREE OF EXPRESS CHARGES.

TOO LATE FOR CLASSIFICATION.

FAIR OF THE LADIES' UNION AID Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church in aid of the Home for Aged and Infirm Male and Female members, will close THIS EVENING at Apollo Hall, corner of 28th-st. and Broadway. A large and elegant variety of useful and fancy articles will be sold THIS EVENING at very reasonable prices, as there will be no auction at the close of the Fair. The celebrated Wesley Bible used in Epworth pulpit for 100 years, first by Samuel Wesley, and subsequently 40 years by John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, will be on exhibition, previous to its being sold for missionary purposes. Among the other valued relics are the cloak, hat, spectacles, &c., worn by Mrs. Fletcher. Christian sympathy is earnestly solicited.
